FOUR MEN HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH SEEK FREEDOM

DEMAND GRAND JURY ACTION IMMEDIATELY

Attack Two-Week Delay in Submitting Case; Police Seek Another Man.

Habeas corpus proceedings may be filed today by Harry T. Whelan and James A. O'Shea, counsel for the four men who are held for the grand jury in connection with the death of Beulah Limerick on December 31.

Mr. O'Shea, attorney for William E. Paddy, Vernon Limerick and Richard Reed, said last night that unless Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins agrees to bring the case before the grand jury immediately he will seek the habeas corpus writ.

Mr. Collins announced yesterday that it will be two weeks before the case comes before the grand jury. "Two weeks is too long a time for my clients to stay in jail," Mr. O'Shea said last night.

Two Weeks Too Long.

"If we can get speedy action from the grand jury I will not make a move. But two weeks is too long and I won't stand for it. Unless I obtain consent of the district attorney's office to bring the case immediately before the jurors, I will make application for a habeas corpus writ tomorrow.

Mr. Whelan, counsel for Patrolman Robert F. Langdon, gave a similar opinion. The application for the writ will be dependent upon what develops from their conference today.

O'Shea said it was an injustice to hold his clients in jail. Paddy, he said, should not be in jail because he had no connection whatsoever with the murder. He attacked the verdict of the coroner's jury and said it was "the most absurd thing he ever read. It accuses the four men of having knowledge of the murder and then admits that the jurors have no knowledge of who committed the crime."

Bond Request Is Denied.

Mr. Whelan and Mr. O'Shea went before District Attorney Leo A. Rover and asked that their clients be released on bond. Their request was denied.

All four of the prisoners were yesterday charged with being "accessories to murder." The charges were placed at the precinct stations where they were held prior to their imprisonment in the District Jail.

Police were last night trying to locate an Edwin McIntyre, a friend of the girl, who, police say, left the city about the time of the murder. He was a member of the Sky High Whoopee Club, of which the slain girl was secretary.

Dismissal of Lahovary Sets Diplomats Talking

Bucharest, Roumania, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—There is considerable speculation in diplomatic circles here as a result of King Carol's action in dismissing personally Count Lahovary as director of the foreign office. The count was dismissed after he gave the Roumanian press the text of a Polish note which appeared to indicate Russia was prepared to enter a military pact with Poland and protect her western frontiers.

Owner of Taxi Company Slain by Gang Bullets

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—William Brady, taxicab and trucking company owner, was shot to death by three men with a machine gun as he was about to enter his home tonight. The killers pumped fourteen bullets into his body and fled.

Police said they had learned that Brady was warned recently that he was going to be "put on the spot."

Los Angeles, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Daisy De Roe, eager in her own words to unburden the story of her life with Clara Bow, took the witness stand late today as the State rested its case in the trial of charges that she stole $16,000 from the actress.

Before a packed courtroom, with more than 1,000 persons outside in the hall vainly seeking entrance, the discharged former secretary of the "it" girl, testified one of her duties had been to pay Miss Bow's liquor bills.

BRIDE IS REBUKED BY UTILITY BOARD

ATTORNEY MAY RETORT

The Public Utilities Commission and the corporation's counsel's office locked horns late yesterday afternoon when the former slapped the latter by issuing instructions as to what steps should be taken to modify the electric consent decree without waiting for the advice of its counsel, to be delivered this morning.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride informed Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, yesterday morning that he would deliver an opinion today as to what steps should be taken to modify the 1924 agreement between the utilities body and the Potomac Electric Power Co., by which electric rates for the District are now determined. The commission issued its instructions to Mr. Bride about a half hour before closing time.

The gist of the modification proposed by the commission is the reduction of the rate of return of the power company from 7½ to 6¾ per cent, thus effecting a reduction in electric rates for the District.

Today the corporation counsel will deliver its opinion as planned, together with a letter that will likely answer in kind the rebuke administered by the utilities body.

The tone of the commission's letter, in which its proposed modifications of the consent decree were stated, was clearly one of impatience. But the corporation counsel, although he had little to say pending the delivery of his reply, indicated that he was not going to be rushed into making immature judgments until the matter is given thorough study.

The corporation counsel's office, which is the counsel of the commission as well as the District Commissioners, was first instructed to give an opinion on the most effective means for modifying the decree following the public hearing on electric rates for 1931, held December 30, and a week or so later the commission wrote an-

FEDERATION MOVE IN EUROPE HALTED

Italy and Germany Want to Ask Turkey and Russia to Participate.

BRIAND GIVES WARNING

Geneva, Jan. 16. (A.P.).—Twenty-six European foreign ministers met here today to discuss Aristide Briand's project for a federation of European states, but a hitch developed at the very outset, when the German and Italian representatives proposed that Turkey and Soviet Russia be invited to participate.

Neither of these two countries is a member of the League of Nations, but Dino Grandi, Italy's bearded young foreign minister, asserted that any federation excluding them would merely divide Europe into two camps. The original proposal that the non-leaguers be asked to sit in was made by Dr. Julius Curtius, the German foreign minister.

The issue was referred to a committee which recommended that the full commission sit tomorrow to discuss it, in private session.

Briand himself, presiding at this opening session, told the delegates they had a long road ahead of them, and warned that they must not be swerved from their purpose and that they must not reject any cooperation which was offered.

It was expected that these meetings would be devoted principally to economic cooperation among the nations, but Grandi introduced the matter of disarmament with the assertion that any such a federation as Briand proposes, and the security of Europe, depend upon reduction of armaments.

"They are worse than they were in 1927," he said, "and that is all we can say after four years of hard work." He emphasized the importance of economic cooperation among all the nations, and pictured the European tariff system as "a labyrinth of trenches in the economic battlefield."

SENATE READY TO PROVIDE AID OF $25,000,000

Passage and Deadlock With House on Fund Held Assured.

HOOVER IS TOLD PLAN HINDERING RED CROSS

Amendment May Result in Extra Session; Drought Relief to Begin.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate was ready at 4 o'clock yesterday to vote Senator Robinson's $25,000,000 relief fund into the Interior appropriation bill, apparently without so much as a roll call or even a murmur of opposition, but some of the Democrats wanted to talk more about it, and it went over until today.

There is no question, however, about it going in, and indications are that as late as noon on March 4, administration leaders will still be trying to break the deadlock with the House conferees, so an extra session can be avoided. There are, incidentally, any number of private admissions that avoidance of an extra session now is out of the question.

President Hoover is known to be as much opposed to the Robinson proposal as he was to the $15,000,000 proposal to loan money to farmers in the drought stricken areas for personal food. The Robinson proposal would turn over $25,000,000 to the Red Cross, to relieve distress anywhere in the country.

President Held Opposed.

He is understood to have expressed the conviction to friends that, if the proposition is put over, it will be difficult for the Red Cross ever again to raise funds, and that the cry will always be, "Get the money from Congress."

In fact, a delegation representing the organization's central committee, consisting of Judge John Barton Payne, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Under Secretary Mills and Assistant Secretary Hope of the Treasury, called on the President about noon yesterday to tell him that the Robinson proposal was embarrassing them in their appeal for $10,000,000. Reports had come from Boston and Philadelphia and other cities, they reported, of an adverse reaction.

The only comment on this in the Senate was by Senator Black, who is recorded as co-author of the Robinson proposal, because it was originally his idea. He said the organization was being embarrassed "because the people have no money to give."

Unable to Respond.

And on the same point, Senator Jones of Washington, assistant administration leader, had printed in the record telegrams from responsible officials of two cities in his state, saying that it was utterly impossible for them to raise the quotas assigned by the Red Cross.

Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite of Minnesota, asked Senator Robinson if he thought, in view of the fact that Chairman Payne told the Senate appropriations committee that it had adequate funds for the present emergency and then a few days later issued an appeal for $10,000,000, that the Red Cross was able to administer the Robinson fund.

Robinson replied, however, that he knew of no better agency, and he urged that the Red Cross' appeal be met. Even if it raises its $10,000,000 and makes full use of the $25,000,000 he seeks to have appropriated by Congress, its funds will be inadequate to meet the present situation, he declared.

Plans for Relief.

In the meantime, the Department of Agriculture set up the machinery to distribute the $45,000,000 drought

HUNGER MARCH IN ST. LOUIS IS ENDED BY RIOT

FOOD BANNERS WAVED BY SEVERAL HUNDRED

Eight Men and Two Women Are Put Under Arrest; Mayor Is Visited.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A "hunger march" of several hundred persons on City Hall as a demonstration against unemployment, resulted late today in arrest of eight men and two women and disp rsal of the crowd by police with use of tear gas bombs.

While paraders carrying banners displaying demands for food remained in front of the City Hall, a delegation of 40 went to the mayor's office. A police guard refused to admit them. Jules Field, the mayor's secretary, admitted three. While he was talking to them most of the delegation moved to the board of aldermen's chamber, on the same floor.

Vetta Becker, leading the women in the group, interrupted Alderman Charles Neumann, acting president of the board, and demanded that the spokesman of the unemployed be heard at once.

Disturbers Are Ejected.

When Neumann replied that the business would have to proceed in the regular course, shouts of protest came from the demonstrators and Neumann ordered the police to eject them.

The delegation then stopped in front of the mayor's office and was harangued by Verna Mason, who said that if the unemployed could not get food otherwise, they would take it. At this juncture several hundred demonstrators who had remained outside entered the hall and police began throwing tear bombs. A rush for the exits followed. Both demgnstrators and policemen were shoved and struck.

Those arrested were charged with disturbance of the peace.

Salary Cuts Demanded.

The demands which would have been presented to the aldermen, if a hearing had been obtained, were summarized by leaders as follows:

Creation of a $10,000,000 fund by reducing salaries of all city officials making more than $2,000 a year; reducing the mayor's office expenses and discharging unclassified Police Department employes, who were declared to be "stool pigeons."

Among demands on the banners were:

"Free milk for babies of the unemployed."

Democrats Seek New Finance Plan

Raskob Says Study Is Being Made, but Is Silent on Details.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Chairman John J. Raskob, of the Democratic national committee, said today exhaustive research is being conducted by committee members seeking a refinancing plan for the party's political campaigns. He declined to comment on possible channels of the investigation and research, explaining it probably will be two months before a concrete plan for procedure is formed.

"So far as I know, there has been no action taken toward a solution of the problem other than the beginning of an intensive study of the situation," he said.

SON OF ARMY OFFICER NEAR DEATH AS SHOT HALTS WILD CAB RIDE

Macon Wesson, 23-year-old son of Lieut. Col. C. M. Wesson, U. S. A., was lying at the point of death in Garfield Hospital last night, his left breast pierced by a policeman's bullet, which ended a wild taxicab chase through the northwest section.

The shot, which was fired by Policeman M. J. Mahaney, of the Eighth Precinct, climaxed the pursuit which was brought to a close when the taxicab driver in whose car Wesson was a passenger, crashed intentionally into a tree at Connecticut avenue and Kalorama road that his armed commander might be captured by the policemen following close behind in an emergency car.

A police guard is being maintained over Wesson, who is held for investigation. With the victim's condition too precarious to permit his making a statement explaining the "thrill ride," police were baffled to find a motive for the episode.

On his person were found the gun, a new cartridge belt and a new holster.

Revolver Is Drawn.

According to J. R. Jensen, the hackman, Wesson hailed him last night and asked to be driven to Washington Airport. Arriving there, Wesson went into the office, remained a few minutes and then returned with the order to be driven back to Twentieth and Florida avenue northwest, where he had entered the cab.

As they were crossing Highway Bridge, Wesson, according to the driver, drew forth a revolver with the boast, "Watch me plug it," and fired two shots through the windshield. He warned Jensen not to stop but to "step on it."

Gave Strange Orders.

At this juncture, Wesson ordered his obeisant victim to go to the Masonic grounds at Connecticut and Florida avenues. Arrived there, the passenger got out and ordered Jensen to do likewise.

Wesson, still brandishing the gun, forced the hackman to light him a cigarette and submit to other incongruous orders. The commotion attracted Capt. Henry Schneider, custodian of the grounds, but when he walked over to make inquiry he was forced back into the building. Then he summoned Eight Precinct police.

Probably suspecting the early arrival of police, Wesson asked the driver what description of his assailant he (Jensen) would furnish authorities. The driver, wary of the pistol, replied that he would say nothing to give away Wesson's identity.

Missed Three Lights.

This pleased the unusual passenger. In celebration, possibly, he aimed his gun at the three lights on the porch of the Masonic building and remarked: "Watch me get 'em."

Three reports rang out. None found their mark. But they hastened their perpetrator's capture.

The three policemen—A. B. Cole, I. L. Murphy and N. J. Mahaney—who had responded to Snyder's summons heard the shots while they were cruising about the vicinity attempting to find the commandeered cab.

Hearing the patrol car's siren as it sped to the scene, Wesson rushed back into the taxicab and ordered Jensen to drive away immediately. The cab turned north on Connecti-

DISTRICT FOOD PRICE QUIZ IS AUTHORIZED

Capper Committee to Begin Its Inquiry Next Week; Scope to Be Broad.

$15,000 IS APPROPRIATED

Investigation of discrepancies between prices paid producers for agricultural products and wholesale prices of agricultural products and the retail prices which the ultimate consumer must pay will be begun early next week by a Senate committee headed by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas.

District food prices will be gone into rather thoroughly in the course of the committee's inqury, Senator Capper said.

Retail food prices, according to information gathered by members of the Senate, have not reflected the enormous decrease in the price of raw commodities in the last year. They want to know why.

Authorization of the inquiry was voted by the Senate yesterday. The committee was given $15,000 to defray the expense of its inquiry.

The broad scope of the inquiry resolution probably will mean that no action will be sought by Senator Capper on his resolution providing for an investigation of bread and other food prices in the District by the Senate District committee. The resolution adopted by the Senate was a combination of measures proposed by Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), of New York, and Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa.

Phraseology of the resolution would seem to limit the scope of the Capper committee to wheat and various of its marketed derivatives and to sugar but Senator Capper said that the authority contained in the resolution was adequate.

His committee, Senator Capper said, intended to go into the question of meat prices and the prices of all staple foods. If there were interposed legal technical objections he was certain that the Senate would extend the scope of the resolution on request of the committee.

Big bakers, as Senator Capper described them, would be asked to appear before the committee and explain why the price of the bread they sold did not reflect, to some extent at least, the enormous drop in the

DAVIS FIGHTS NYE'S AIM TO UNSEAT HIM

MOVE ON CANNON HINTED

(Associated Press.)

Senator Davis (Republican), Pennsylvania, told the revived Senate campaign funds committee yesterday he had "always stood for clean and wholesome elections," and resented vigorously the "unfair and unjust attempt" to charge him with the expenditures for the entire Republican ticket in the 1930 Pennsylvania primary and election.

Chairman Nye proposes to offer a resolution to unseat Davis. He says $1,200,000 was spent, and that this amount would have been used to get out the vote if Davis had been the only one on the ticket.

The former Labor Secretary read a prepared statement to the committee in which he repeated that he had personally spent only $10,646 to get the nomination and had turned over $9,100 in contributions from other sources to the Allegheny County committee.

"That is all I had to do with financial matters with my campaign," he said.

"I wish to restate emphatically that I have nothing to conceal, that I have not spent a dollar corruptly or contraty to law, nor collected any money other than that which was lawful and which I have reported above."

Nearly 20 Davis witnesses, including Joseph E. Davies, counsel for the senator, appeared voluntarily earlier in the day, expecting a previously scheduled hearing to go forward.

Mr. Nye had called this off, however, because of lack of committee funds.

Nye's request for another $50,000 was quickly approved by the Senate, however, and he immediately arranged the later hearing, out of courtesy to Davis. Those under subpena will be heard next Thursday. The life of the committee also was extended another year.

Meanwhile, Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, offered a resolution to extend the committee's authority to inquire into the 1928 election. This was interpreted by some senators as opening the way for an investigation of complaints against the political ac-

Methodist Bishop Assails Hoover's Prohibition Stand

Mouzon Asserts Public Does Not Know Whether He Is Wet or Dry; McBride Praises President's Efforts and Volstead Is Optimistic.

Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, of the Southern Methodist Church, one of the Democrats who opposed Alfred E. Smith in 1928 on the wet-dry issue, today sharply criticised the prohibition record of the President.

"Herbert Hoover has been in office for two years, and not yet does the public know whether he is wet or dry," the bishop declared in an address at exercises, under the auspices of the Charlotte W. C. T. U., celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the eighteenth amendment.

Saying it was time "to take prohibition out of the hands of politicians, and put it back in the hands of its friends," the churchman, a resident of Charlotte, took a shot at the Wickersham law enforcement commission.

He recalled the commission had been charged with being a "kite-flyer" for the President and asserted that in the charge there is apparently "much truth."

"Not since the passing of the eighteenth amendment," Bishop Mouzon said, "has there been a President who has done anything to see that it was enforced.

"The great war President (Wilson) was not in favor of enforcement, not because he favored liquor but because he did not approve of the form of the law.

"Harding, of course, did nothing for he was interested in no moral

Calvin Coolidge Says:

It is perfectly apparent that the country does not believe in any kind of dole nor any provision for outdoor relief by the National Government. If any member of Congress wishes to propose such a measure that is his right and it should be considered on its merits. But any attempt to revert to the old rider system or force an extra session unless such a bill is passed can not be justified and will not meet with public approval.

Years ago the favorite minority device for securing a consideration of national legislation which few wanted but many hesitated to oppose, was to move to attach it to an appropriation bill which had to be passed and would carry the rider with it. This led to great abuses. Later the House rules assigned certain days for presenting almost any legislation. A very wholesome rule of Congress was adopted prohibiting legislation being attached to appropriation bills.

This general principle of passing one piece of legislation at a time is most salutary. It prevents crowding through measures that the majority do not favor and forces all bills to stand on their merits.

Revolution Goal of Reds In U. S., Declares Leader

Amter, New York Chieftain, Rules Organization From Dingy Hall Room; Seeks to Enlist Jobless and Farmers in Movement to Upset Government.

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A small, bare hall room, up four flights of dark and musty stairs, is the nerve center of the Communist party in America. There, at a desk stacked with press clippings, sits Israel Amter, who described himself as his party's New York organizer, and who declared the aim of the Communists here is revolution.

On a pine shelf above his head is a darkly gleaming bust of Nicolai Lenin, father of Russian revolution, a massive chunk of black onyx; the cubicle's only adornment. From the window two American flags can be seen standing to the breeze on nearby buildings.

"We'll replace them with another flag some day," Amter said, as a two-hour interview drew to a close today. "A red flag that will mean more to the masses."

That's what it is all about in the East Thirteenth street building which houses Communist activities—a bookshop, cafeteria, barber shop and what not. The "Capital of Communism" has been moved from Union Square, but only a single block. The "battleground" is still just around the corner, where orators denounce and police, mounted and afoot, occasionally charge the surging crowd.

"Revolution," Amter said, "is the aim of the Communist party. We make no attempt to deny that. Our single purpose is to end the capitalist system and emancipate the working masses."

Amter is tall, with a protruding out avenue, the police close in the rear.

At the intersection of Kalorama road, Jensen deliberately sideswiped a tree. He was thrown from the machine and, unhurt, took to his heels. Wesson was left, dazed and with the gun still in his hand, according to police, in the tonneau.

As the police car swept past the damaged taxicab, Mahaney fired one shot which struck Wesson below the heart. He was removed to Garfield Hospital in the police car.

Surgeons attending the young man said late last night that he had an even chance to recover. Col. Wesson, notified of the incident by The Post, went to the hospital but did not disturb his son, who was asleep when the officer arrived.

Does Not Live at Home.

Col. Wesson returned recently from London, where he served as military attache at the American Embassy. His son, he said, formerly attended Eastern High School and later entered an Eastern university, whose name he declined to divulge.

Macon does not live at the spacious Wesson home on Thirty-fourth street, near O northwest, his father said, but at an address on Twenty-second street northwest. He did not give the exact location.

This is the first serious trouble in which his son ever has become involved, Col. Wesson declared.

The younger Wesson is an employe of the Eastern Air Transport Co., whose terminal is at Washington Airport. According to police, he is married but separated from his wife.

Jensen, the taxi driver, is 27 years old and gave his address as Ninth street, near E southwest.

Navy May Not Enter Prize Seaplane Race

(Associated Press.)

United States naval participation in the Schneider trophy seaplane race in Europe this year was considered highly improbable yesterday by David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Air. Lack of time and money were given as reasons.

The announcement came close behind a similar statement by the British government Thursday in which the MacDonald administration announced financial stringency as the reason for their withdrawal. The Schneider trophy now is held by Great Britain. The United States has not competed officially since 1926, when Italian fliers were victorious.

Tilson Recalls Drought Aid Veto by Cleveland

(Associated Press.)

The message of Grover Cleveland vetoing a drought relief bill was recalled yesterday by Majority Leader Tilson in charging the Democratic leadership had departed from a long standing principle in supporting a move for purchase of food during the present crisis.

The Democratic President in a message to the House, Tilson said, "vetoed a bill to make a special distribution of seed in the drought-stricken counties of Texas, stating he could find no warrant for such an appropriation in the Constitution and added that he did not believe the power and duty of general government ought to be extended to the relief of individual suffering which is in no manner properly related to the public service or benefit."

12-Story Addition Plans Completed

Start Expected Next Week on Triangle Structure at Dupont Circle.

Completion of financing by the H. L. Rust Co., providing for erection by Joseph J. Moebs, architect and builder, of a twelve-story concrete, stone and steel addition to his existing story and basement structure, at Nineteenth street, Dupont Circle and Connecticut avenue, was announced yesterday and construction probably will begin the first of next week, R. P. Whitty Co., Inc., of this city, will be the builder.

The completed building, which will serve as an apartment hotel, will be of triangular shape, with a width of 130 feet at the base, tapering down to a width of 20 feet on the Dupont Circle frontage. Its Connecticut avenue frontage will be 270 feet and that on Nineteenth street 297 feet. The existing building has an area of more than 20,000 square feet and was built by Mr. Moebs about five years ago with the intention of constructing additional stories.

The eleventh and twelfth stories of the projected structure will be setbacks.

Licenses Opposed For Small Firms

Representative Bowman Says Such Special Taxes Are Harmful.

Special taxes in the form of license fees on small businesses, such as groceries, should not be approved by Congress, Representative Frank L. Bowman (Republican), West Virginia, declared yesterday at a hearing on the pending measure to amend the existing District license law, before a part of the House District committee.

Levying license fees on small businesses to raise revenues, Representative Bowman insisted, did more harm to the pocketbook of the average citizen than it did good.

Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Republican), Michigan, who continued as acting chairman of the House District committee, presided at the hearing. No decision was made by the committee on the bill.

Reed Seen as New Armour Co. Head

Treasurer Likely to Take Place of White, Who Died in Fall.

Chicago, Jan. 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The successor to F. Edson White as president of Armour & Co., probably will be Philip Reed, now treasurer.

Mr. Reed has been with the company many years, is thoroughly familiar with the big business and is understood to be the choice of the bankers interested in the packing company.

A coroner's jury, composed of neighbors and intimate friends of Mr. White, of which A. Watson Armour was foreman, returned a verdict today that, from the evidence, Mr. White met his death when he suffered an attack of vertigo and toppled out of the window of his Scott street apartment.

POWER COMMISSION GIVES KING OLD JOB

WALSH WILL FIGHT ON

(Associated Press.)

The Power Commission reinstated yesterday one of the two men whose dismissal precipitated the recent conflict between the Senate and the White House over recall of the nominations of three commissioners. William V. King was given back his job as chief accountant, but the commission refused to reappoint Charles A. Russell as solicitor.

The two were discharged at a meeting attended by Chairman Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper. Their dismissal brought on an attack from the Senate's independent Republicans and Democrats which resulted in the adoption of a resolution requesting President Hoover to return the three nominations for reconsideration. This the Chief Executive refused to do.

Internal Friction Blamed.

The commissioners gave "internal friction" as the reason for dismissal and opposing senators asserted the action indicated Smith, Garsaud and Draper were dominated by "power interests."

King's reinstatement was called to the attention of the Senate by Senator Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico. Recalling it was said in debate on the reconsideration proposal that King and Russell could make application for reinstatement, Bratton said "some of us felt these applications would receive scant, if any, consideration."

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, who led the fight for reconsideration, said King's reinstatement led to the belief the two dismissals were caused by reasons other than that of "internal friction."

Between King and Russell there was no friction at all, he said, adding the reinstatement would not alter his plans for seeking a Senate investigation of the commission.

Done by Unanimous Vote.

King's reinstatement was ordered by a unanimous vote of the commission. Commissioner McNinch was not present, it was announced, but approved the action.

King appeared before the commission pr ito rovohteteMinxetaionshr sion prior to the vote and explained his accounting methods. The motion to reinstate him was made by Commissioner Draper.

Fate of Ewalds Is in Jury's Hands

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—The office-bartering trial of former Magistrate George P. Ewald and his wife, Bertha, was placed late today into the hands of the jury, which still was deliberating at midnight. Following the closing arguments of the prosecution and defense, Supreme Court Justice McCook, in a charge of almost an hour, told the jurors they could convict or acquit both of the defendants or convict one and acquit the other.

He said Mrs. Ewald had a legal right to lend $10,000 to Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader, but the jury must decide whether the loan was made to influence her husband's appointment to the bench.

The prosecution contended the $10,000 was a bribe to influence the appointment and the defense declared it a loan made by Mrs. Ewald without knowledge that her husband was seeking a magistracy.

Strawn Sees Trust Law as Too Rigid

Chicagoan Favors Revision, but Retention of Its Safeguards.

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Revision of the antitrust laws to meet modern conditions, but leaving them safeguards against monopoly or unreasonable restraint of trade was urged tonight by Silas H. Strawn, of Chicago, in an address before the New York State Bar Association.

The Sherman antitrust act has been a powerful deterrent to busines piracy and has helped to raise business standards and morals, but its rigidity makes it unadaptable to modern conditions, Mr. Strawn said.

Specifically, he criticized the situation under which business men and attorneys are unable to learn in advance of forming a combination whether the Government will consider it a violation of the antitrust law.

"It is futile to expect repeal of the Sherman law," he said. "Such action I believe to be not only politically impossible, but unwise from the standpoint of business and industry. If it were repealed we might get a law or laws much more onerous."

Senate Is Praised In La Follette Talk

House's "Gag Rule" Places It Under Hoover Thumb, Legislator Asserts.

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—The United States Senate is the people's bulwark against corruption, Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, said tonight before the civic forum in town hall. "In defense of the Senate" was the subject of his address.

Pointing out that the Senate had been severely criticized for interfering with the progress of legislation, senator La Follette said: "The freedom of debate and the freedom of inquiry are the two most important rights of a senator. If it had not been for these two rights, the naval oil scandal would never have been exposed."

Upholding the attitude of the insurgent senators toward the President, the Wisconsin senator said the House of Representatives was under the domination of the executive branch of the Government.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS WOULD ALTER RULES

Republicans Regarded as Leaning in Direction of Procedure Change.

CRISP PREDICTS ACTION

(Associated Press.)

Beneath an open Democratic demand for liberalization of House rules, another move for changing the legislative procedure of that branch seemed last night to be taking form.

Although taking issue with proposals of Representative Crisp, of Georgia, to modify the rules, Republican leaders off the floor admitted that the closely divided House in the next Congress would necessitate changes.

The Georgia Democrat charged on the floor that the present procedure prevented the House from expressing itself on much of the legislation enacted. However, the Republican party has contended that, with party control of that branch, also rested party responsibility for all legislation considered.

Predicts Action.

"I believe the majority in the next House will be for liberalization of rules," Mr. Crisp said. He said he had sponsored modification for six or seven years.

Chairman Snell, of the House rules committee, retorted that the Georgian had never made any effort to liberalize the rules when the Democratic party was in power.

Crisp is sponsoring three changes. One would permit a majority of a committee to consider legislation over the objections of the chairman. Another would authorize the discharge of a committee from consideration of legislation through a petition of 100 members, and the third would authorize a calendar of motions to discharge instead of instruct conferees.

Says "Triumvirate" Controls.

"At present," he said, "you can't discharge conferees unless the triumvirate—the Speaker, the majority leader and the chairman of the rules committee—bring in a ruling dealing with it."

Some Republican leaders said that, with their party holding only 218 seats, the Democrats 214 and the Farmer-Labor 1, the House could change the rules from day to day if necessary. There are two vacancies in Democratic districts.

They pointed out that both parties would be held responsible for the legislation enacted instead of only the Republican party, which for the last eight years has controlled the House.

Californian Sentenced To Hang for Slaying

Los Angeles, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Benjamin F. Brown was sentenced today to be hanged for the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Merle Ells. His codefendant in the hired slaying, Merle Ells, divorced husband of Mrs. Ells, had been sentenced only to life imprisonment as the result of the jury's recommendation in his trial and conviction.

The two men had confessed Ells paid Brown $2.20 in dimes for the shooting, which occurred last November while Mrs. Ells was asleep.

STIMSON EXPLAINS NEW CLAIMS BOARD

LIMIT TO AMOUNTS SET

The next time that a foreign service officer of the State Department loses his luggage on a sinking ship, has his household effects destroyed in a Japanese earthquake, or is held up and robbed by bandits, that foreign service officer won't have to wait for several years to be reimbursed by the Federal Treasury.

Secretary of State Stimson announced yesterday that in order to speed up the payment of such claims, a special claims board had been set up in the State Department—one composed of the Assistant Secretary of State, the solicitor, and the chief of the bureau of accounts.

This board will study all claims, sift out the just ones, and then ask the Bureau of the Budget to recommend to Congress that the claimants be reimbursed.

Up until now, there has been no regular machinery to perform this service for American foreign service officers. Consequently, these officers, many of whom would be on the other side of the world, could only hope that some friend in the State Department would press their claims for them. In many cases, they were the victims of long delay that caused them considerable financial embarrassment.

In a set of regulations which will guide the claims board in its work, Secretary Stimson stated that only "reasonable" claims will be honored.

"No allowance in excess of $500 will be made for pianos or other musical instruments," Secretary Stimson said, "and no amount in excess of $100 will be made for victrolas."

Stimson's Slap at Liberia Wins Former Slave's Praise

Baltimorean Writes That He Considers Secretary's Move Merits Place Among Humane Deeds of Lincoln—Reply Hopeful in Tone.

In the chorus of praise that is being sounded for Secretary of State Stimson as a result of his attack on slavery conditions in the black Republic of Liberia, there was heard yesterday the voice of an aged American Negro who himself was once a slave.

In all the flood of commendatory letters that has poured in on Secretary Stimson none has pleased him more than the one he received from that individual, Daniel W. Hays, of 1819 McCulloh street, Baltimore.

Hays' letter to Secretary Stimson follows:

"An ex-slave, now past four score years, wishes to thank you most heartily for your bold and timely action looking towards banishing slavery from the Republic of Liberia.

"I consider it among the outstanding events of the present century. In its significance and outreach it merits a place among the never forgettable humane deeds of our much beloved Abraham Lincoln.

"I consider the time not far distant when millions of our African brothers will rejoice at being set at liberty through your influence in removing the yoke from their necks. May God bless you abundantly and crown your efforts with glorious success."

Replying to the one-time Baltimore slave, Secretary Stimson said:

"I deeply appreciated your letter, and I am in hope that the American Government, in view of the traditional friendly interests of the American people in the welfare of the people of Liberia, will be able to be of assistance to them in improving the conditions under which they live."

The State Department now is waiting for Liberia to announce just what it is going to do in the direction of abolishing slavery.

In reply to Secretary Stimson's original demand that the Liberian slaves be freed, the Liberian government sent a note which was entirely unsatisfactory to this Government. And in another note, Secretary Stimson said as much, and again called for some promise of corrective action. A reply to this is being awaited.

Meanwhile, suggestions are being made that the United States join with the League of Nations in an attempt to compel Liberia to abolish slavery.

HOUSE GROUP SEEKS TO FORCE BANK DATA

Orders Inquiry to Ascertain Its Authority in Case of New Yorkers.

MITCHELL IS CRITICIZED

(Associated Press.)

An investigation was ordered recently by the House banking committee to determine its authority to force two New York financiers to furnish information.

By unanimous vote Chairman McFadden was directed to name a subcommittee of five to look into the legal rights of the committee to compel witnesses to produce papers and to ascertain its authority in case of refusal.

McFadden said Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, declined to supply a separate financial statement of the National City Co., while George W. Davison, chairman of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., has not furnished a list of stockholders owning more than 1,000 shares.

Meanwhile, statements were issued in New York in behalf of Mitchell and Davison, saying they had not refused information. William S. Gray, jr., a vice president of the Hanover bank, said it "had supplied the committee with all the financial information it had requested." A National City official said "all the information requested had either been offered or furnished the committee."

Action was taken on a motion by Representative Beedy (Republican), Maine, after McFadden had asserted the committee's investigation of chain and group banking would be incomplete without the material he said had been requested from the New Yorkers.

Representative Steagall, Alabama, ranking Democrat on the committee, said the two bankers were not treating the committee with proper respect and that the committee should not report to the House its inability to secure information pertinent to the inquiry.

Beedy declared the "only way to retain our self-respect is to insist."

The committee's special power of subpena lapsed with the end of the last session. Some members said the subcommittee to be named by McFadden today can do nothing more than report the committee's inability to force a reply without additional authority from the House.

Representatives Fort, New Jersey, and Luce, Massachusetts, both Republicans, questioned whether the committee's authority extended to affiliated companies. The National City Bank and the National City Co. are affiliated.

Commenting on Gray's statement, McFadden said Davison had been the only banker not to comply with the request for a list of holders of more than 1,000 shares of stock to indicate the concentration of control.

Davison wrote him June 26, McFadden said, that such lists are made unavailable by the laws of New York under which the bank is incorporated and would subject stockholders to "annoyance" through merchandise use.

McFadden said he replied that it was not intended to print the list, but that the committee wanted it in the files.

McFadden said Mitchell had advised the committee it was against "settled policy" to make a statement separate from that of the bank and he opposed changing this "institutional policy."

Steel Treating Men Hear Technical Talk

Following a dinner last night at the Madrillon Restaurant, the Washington-Baltimore Chapter, American Society for Steel Treating, met in the auditorium of the Interior Building.

The principal address, "History, Manufacture and Properties of Hadfield's Manganese Steel," was delivered by Dr. John Howe Hall, of the Taylor-Warton Iron & Steel Co.

Elopement Seen For Kay Francis

Kenneth McKenna and Film Actress on Yacht Bound for Mexico.

Los Angeles, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Kay Francis and Kenneth MacKenna, featured film players, were believed either on their honeymoon or eloping tonight aboard his yacht Pamet Head, bound for Ensenada, Mexico. In departing shortly after noon aboard the yacht, they made good their promise to keep their affairs to themselves.

The public learned of their secret romance Monday, when they appeared at the marriage license bureau and filed intentions to wed under their legal names, Katherine Gibbs and Leo Meilziner, jr. MacKenna said they met five years ago while both were appearing on Broadway.

Although a marriage license was obtained today, close friends and their servants denied they knew anything about a marriage. Miss Francis has been married twice. MacKenna said he never had been married.

'REPUDIATE' LUCAS, CUTTING DEMANDS

Senator Points to Recent Letter as Aim at Control Through Taxation.

CALLS ACTIONS OUTRAGE

(Associated Press.)

Republican leaders were called on in the Senate yesterday by Senator Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, to "repudiate" Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, for activities he described as "disgraceful and outrageous."

The New Mexico senator assailed Lucas for sending a letter to his former subordinates in the Internal Revenue Bureau, asking them to keep him informed of political conditions.

Senators Johnson, of California, and Couzens, of Michigan, joined Cutting in describing this action as an attempt to control politics "by virtue of taxation and control of the income tax returns."

Kean Interposes.

Senator Kean (Republican), New Jersey, interposed that the Internal Revenue collectors in the administration of President Harding were mostly Democrats.

Cutting asserted Lucas was "obviously" promoting the candidacy of President Hoover for renomination by his letter to precinct committee workers in December, urging them to defend the President. He again assailed Lucas for his activities against Senator Norris, of Nebraska.

The New Mexico senator denounced Senator Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee, for issuing a statement through the committee in criticism of Senator Couzens on the railroad merger dispute.

He said Senator Fess had no right to use the National Committee for a personal attack on another Republican senator, regardless of the merits of the dispute. He also demanded Fess take a stand on "this clear issue of right and wrong" involving Lucas.

Demands Repudiation.

"I don't care whether Lucas stays down there forever," said Cutting, apparently referring to his retention of the executive directorship, "but I do call upon Senator Fess as the titular head of the party, and upon the men who actually control the party to repudiate the disgraceful and outrageous actions of this man."

Cutting read a letter which he said Lucas wrote on National Committee stationery to former employes of the Internal Revenue Bureau shortly after he had resigned as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, asking them to keep him informed "of political conditions in your section."

"It is obvious," interjected Johnson, "the internal revenue collectors, acting for the department in Washington through internal revenue taxation, attempt to or do control the politics of the nation."

Asks Square Deal for Smith.

Cutting demanded a "square deal" for Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee in 1928, who has demanded an apology from Lucas and the Republican National Committee for distributing a barroom cartoon attributing a "false" quotation to Smith.

As for the Lucas letter to the precinct workers, Cutting said:

"He is using the money of the Republican National Committee to promote the candidacy of President Hoover for renomination. It is a pity the President can not be separated from a man who has been so completely discredited and disowned by the decent members of the party."

Farm Bank Relief Urged at Hearing

(Associated Press.)

Legislation to extend credit to farmers through the Federal land and joint stock land banks, and prevent foreclosures of farm mortgages because of the current distress, was advocated yesterday before the Senate banking and currency committee.

Senator Pat Harrison urged the committee to report his bill to authorize Federal land banks to extend for over two years the time for payment of installments on farm mortgages and to provide for advances to the banks from the Treasury to carry them over the period.

Harrison said that unless this bill was allowed to pass, thousands of farms would have to be abandoned, foreclosed and the former owners destroyed financially. Members of the Farm Loan Board opposed the Harrison bill. Chester Morrill, general counsel, testified that if it passed the collection system of the entire farm loan structure would "break down" because of the number of borrowers who would seek to delay payments.

Alfalfa Bill Fears Plot to Kill Him

Oklahoma Governor Tells Press Men of Scheme to Thwart His Aims.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, charged in an address late today a plot is forming to defeat his policies which will end in attempted impeachment and physical violence, if other methods fail.

The governor told members of the Oklahoma Press Association his opponents have employed spies and "will try to defeat my policies. If that fails they will try to impeach me."

"When impeachment is mentioned I'll have 100,000 citizens at my side in 24 hours. When that fails they will not hesitate to try to assassinate me."

Man Asks Special Bus; Rides in Patrol Wagon

Murrell Evans, 28 years old, of Havre de Grace, Md., asked the Greyhound Lines, at New York avenue and Fourteenth street northwest, for a special bus last night to take him to Georgia. He proffered $10 as evidence of good faith and as fare.

Policeman Daniel M. Van Diver called a special bus, and Evans may pay more than $10 for the ride—and he didn't get nearly as far as Georgia. He was driven to the First Precinct Station, where Van Diver charged him with drunkenness.

BURTNESS TO OFFER EMBARGO APPROVAL

House Today to Get Letter by Legge Backing Bill on Farmers' Aid.

GRAINS, BUTTER LISTED

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Legge's approval of a temporary embargo on wheat, feed grains and butter to "protect the farmer against the present world-wide depression" will be laid before the House today by Representative Burtness.

The North Dakota Republican, who introduced such a proposal on the suggestion of Mr. Legge, made public yesterday a letter in which the Farm Board chairman approved his bill "as affording perhaps the quickest method of dealing with the situation."

"However, it is immaterial to us just how this result is arrived at, but present conditions certainly justify action on the part of Congress to meet the present emergency," Mr. Legge wrote. "I, therefore, hope that before the present Congress adjourns it will find it possible to pass such legislation as will protect the American producer during this period of distress."

Feed Grains Included.

Mr. Burtness' bill includes wheat, corn, barley, oats, bran, mixed feeds, screenings and all products therefrom, butter and butter substitutes. Mr. Legge said just as strong an argument can be made for an embargo on feed grains, including beans, as on wheat.

"So far there has been no improvement in world prices," Mr. Legge said, adding that "many students of the situation seem to think that there is a probability that they will go still lower."

Burtness argued that relief can not be expected from the flexible tariff provisions because "it takes from two to four years," and there "is no assurance that the facts disclosed would warrant increases rather than decreases."

Wants Early Hearings.

The commission can not take abnormal competitive conditions into consideration, he added.

"Most of these duties are probably ample in normal times," he said. "If early enactment of my bill will aid agriculture, we should press for immediate hearings before the ways and means committee."

Under the Burtness bill, the embargo would last until March of 1932. The North Dakotan said it had the approval of the Farm Bureau Federation and National Dairy Union, both of which suggested the inclusion of foreign vegetable oils.

Farm Board Head Hits Short Selling

Asserts Practice Can Not Be Controlled and Will Be Eliminated.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, said in an address today that short selling if uncontrolled, "is deadly and damaging and eventually will be eliminated."

Speaking at the close of the University of Illinois thirty-third annual farm and home week, Legge expressed belief that short selling, controlled, would be a good thing. "But," he added, "it can not be controlled."

The Farm Board chairman said the Chicago Board of Trade had been operating for 80 years and that, at present, grain could not be financed unless it was protected in the futures markets.

"However," he continued, "live stock is worth five times as much as the grain grown by American farmers and yet we have been getting along without a futures market in live stock." He advised farmers to follow the markets carefully and to manage their acreage accordingly if they would rid themselves of bothersome surpluses.

M'CARL, AID FREED OF CIVIL CONTEMPT

DELAY BRINGS CENSURE

Comptroller General J. Raymond McCarl and his assistant, Frank L. Yates, were freed of civil contempt charges yesterday by Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat.

In dismissing a petition in which alleged contempt charges were recited and a rule to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt, Chief Justice Wheat stated that his action was based on the fact that the court order, which was the basis of the proceedings, had been complied with. The chief justice, however, censured the two officials for their delay in complying with the edict.

Mr. McCarl and Mr. Yates were alleged to have defied an order of the court to pay forthwith, to five persons, awards totaling $90,063 made to them by a condemnation jury. Just before the dismissal, Mr. McCarl and Mr. Yates answered the rule to show cause denying any obstruction and declaring that the payment of the awards had been approved.

Both men told of Government regulations and red tape, and asserted that the delay in approving the payment was occasioned by these, and Mr. Yates said that this had been explained to Attorney George E. Sullivan, counsel for the five petitioners.

BATCHELOR BOOKED FOR HEARING TODAY

Policeman in Shooting Case Will Be Arraigned on Traffic Charges.

HELD ALSO FOR VIRGINIA

Leroy Batchelor, District policeman, who is alleged to have shot five times through the window of Police Lieut. Edward T. Harney's home Thursday night in Alcova Heights, Va., when he was refused admittance to see his estranged wife, Harney's daughter, will be given a hearing in police court today.

One of the shots fired by Batchelor wounded Harney's 10-year-old daughter, Ruth, in the side. She was not hurt seriously. Harney procured a warrant charging Batchelor with mayhem.

Batchelor is held at the First Precinct Police Station for the Virginia authorities on a fugitive warrant issued by Judge Gus Schuldt of Police Court. Batchelor was arrested after an accident on his return to Washington from the attempted visit.

According to the wife, Mrs. Margaret Batchelor, the policeman telephoned he was coming to see the couples' son, Leroy, jr., 4 years old. She told him he could come sometime in the day, but that she would not admit him at night.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday night Batchelor arrived at the Harney home. Lieut. Harney would not permit him to come in. Harney said Batchelor had been drinking. Batchelor then drove off in his car. The family gathered in the dining room, believing he had left.

Instead Batchelor drove around the corner of the house and fired five shots from his police revolver through a large bay window. Harney said two of the shots barely missed him. He took his gun and ran to the porch, but Batchelor had gone.

Lieut. Harney then notified Washington police, who sent a lookout. A few minutes later Batchelor's car was in collision with another automobile at Fourteenth and B streets northwest. Batchelor jumped out and ran, but was captured by Policeman Spottswood Gravely in an alley in the rear of the First Precinct.

At the precinct he was suspended by Lieut. W. H. Carlin nd charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. After Lieut. Harney had given headquarters an account of the shooting, Batchelor was ordered held for the Virginia authorities.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IF you've ever seen that cartoon of the Honest Working Man that appears in Labor, the organ of the railroad brotherhoods—a big, strong-muscled man, with his shirt opened at the neck, his sleeves rolled up, and an honest smile on his face, an honest smile even when the moneyed interests and capitalistic senators are doing him wrong—an expression that seems to say, honesty and hard work will win in the end—if you've ever seen it you have a perfect picture of Senator Jimmy Davis, the people's friend, before the Nye committee yesterday.

So naive; so plain, just an honest, hard-working man, not schooled in political or senatorial guile, here at the mercy of his tormentors, plaintively asserting that he'd never done anything wrong in his life; that his life is an open book.

* * * *

HE went into the Pennsylvania senatorial fight in answer to an overwhelming call from the people, the people among whom he was reared, the miners, the Moose, the workingmen. And could he help it if that smelly Vare machine in Philadelphia wanted to support him, too? Could he tell them "No?" Was he a man to say nay?

Why, it was absurd—and it is impossible to put as much feeling into the words as he did—it was absurd to say that any appreciable amount of that more than $1,000,000 spent for the Davis-Brown ticket was spent in behalf of him. Everybody knew his race was as good as won.

Forgetting all about the trip he made to Florida to see if Mr. Vare, whom the Senate had just kicked out, would support him, of his great worry on this point before deciding to answer the people's call, he couldn't understand why the committee attempted to associate him with the Philadelphia Vare machine at all.

* * * *

YET it is quite apparent that that is just what the committee intends to do. They tied Jimmy up pretty close with it yesterday and through his own witnesses, too. In fact, they established that had Jimmy not been the Vare machine's candidate he would not have gotten away from taw.

And the committee seems to have a lot of other things up its sleeve. In answer to Davis' contention that little of that more than $1,000,000 was spent on him, they seem to be bent upon totaling up the expenditures in the State outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh where Joe Grundy beat him and to retort that his race was not any walkaway in that area, that he was fighting just as hard as Mr. Francis Shunk Brown.

It would be right funny if Jimmy did get hooked on the question of campaign expenditures; so ironical, because he has never been considered a spendthrift. Indeed, when he sends around statements to the newspaper boys he sends them collect.

SENATOR'S BANKING MEASURE DEFENDED

PLAN OTHER HEARINGS

Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, chairman of the Senate District subcommittee considering real estate and banking legislation, insisted on the merits of his bill to govern sale of securities at a hearing yesterday in the Senate District committee room in the Capitol.

Senator Blaine questioned Paul V. Keyser rather closely and made no effort to conceal his belief that the measure be proposed was, in his opinion, better than that which had been introduced by Senator Arthur C. Capper (Republican), of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee.

Mr. Keyser is the chairman of a joint committee of business and professional men of the District. He appeared before the Blaine committee with a speech all prepared to justify selection by his committee of the Capper bill as the basis for the law desired for the District. The Capper bill itself did not meet with the approval of Mr. Keyser's committee and several amendments were proposed.

Senator Blaine took Mr. Keyser to task about his proposals and the exchange became so sharp that Mr. Keyser said that of course if the committee did not want him to complete his statement he would sit down. Whereupon Senator Blaine jerked up in his chair and said that Mr. Keyser could complete his statement if he wished, but that was a matter for Mr. Keyser to decide.

In the course of the debate, which was conducted in the form of questions and answers, Senator Blaine expressed his disapproval of the Capper bill on the ground that it gave too much discretion to the United States district attorney.

The hearing was brought to an end by Senator Blaine, who said that it would be resumed next week when other witnesses would be called to demonstrate the need for a law in the District regulating the sale of securities.

EMBARGO OR TARIFF DESIRED BY OIL MEN

Independent Producers Will Ask Congress to Act as Protector.

PETITION IS PREPARED

(Associated Press.)

Congress will be asked by independent oil producers of America to place a partial embargo upon crude petroleum and bar refined products.

As a secondary campaign, to be pursued following the drive for the exclusion and limitation of foreign oil, the governors' oil relief conference urged a tariff.

Another resolution adopted urged the congressional delegations of twenty States to make every effort to obtain "relief from foreign competition" at this session.

It also asked for "an organization" of the next House "and in particular a Speaker and a ways and means committee which will give the American oil industry an immediate and fair hearing on tariff protection or some other regulation and restriction on the importation of foreign crude oil and its refined products.

Will Distribute Resolution.

Copies of the latter resolution were directed to be sent the congressional delegations of Indiana, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, West Virginia, Wyoming, New York, Michigan, Tennessee and Mississippi.

A petition for an embargo or a tariff, adopted shortly before the conference adjourned late yesterday, will be presented to Congress by the executive committee within a short time.

It asks that imports of crude petroleum be limited to 20 per cent of the 1928 imports, and that all refined products from foreign countries be excluded.

Would Afford Relief.

By this method, the oil men said, the independent oil world would find relief from what the delegations from the thirteen States represented pictured as attempts of the big companies to drive out of existence the smaller operators.

They argued that immediate relief would be provided, dire distress in the oil States overcome and a pressing unemployment problem be done away with.

Imports of four large companies weree blamed by the independents for their own plight. They named the Standard of Indiana, Standard of New Jersey, the Gulf Oil Co. and the Royal Dutch Shell as the importers.

Speakers said these companies were forcing out the smaller operators and had told the independent producers there was no place in the oil world for them. They declared these companies and other larger corporations controlled the oil from the time it left the ground until it went to the consumer.

Executive Committee Named.

An executive committee, appointed by Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association and chairman of the conference, will carry on its work. Representatives from the States' delegations were named to remain in Washington to work with the executive committee.

The committee will lay the petition before Congress and is expected to call upon President Hoover to state the position of the independent operators.

A proposal that oil producing States agree upon a compact limiting production to demand was put before the conference by Secretary Wilbur, chairman of the oil conservation board, following an address in which he appealed for conservation. The producers throughout their meeting have attacked the conservation program.

Secretary Wilbur said he saw no lasting remedy for the distress in the oil industry except a compact, "approved by Congress, so that there will be fair play, reasonable and sensible planning, unit operation wherever possible and proper protection of established fields in contact with flush fields."

The conference saw vigorous attacks upon Secretaries Mellon and Wilbur. Several State chairmen assailed Mr. Mellon as the leading director of the Gulf Oil Co.

They said the Gulf Company and other importing companies largely were responsible for the crisis in the independent oil industry.

Senator-elect Gore, of Oklahoma, and Representative-elect McGugin, of Kansas, said a tariff had been placed upon aluminum but none had been enacted for oil.

Favors Extra Session Threat.

Mr. Gore advised the State delegations to urge their members of Congress to threaten an extra session unless a tariff be passed.

Mr. McGugan, a Republican, asserted that unless the independent producers obtained favorable action at this session he would refuse to help the Republicans organize the next House.

The conference adjourned yesterday afternoon after voting to invite the States of Michigan, Illinois, Tennessee, Mississippi, New York and Indiana to take part in the campaign for the embargo and a tariff.

GIRL SAYS SHE PAID FOR ACTRESS' RUM

DESCRIBES HER DUTIES

Deputy District Attorney David Clark, prosecuting the case, followed with a motion to dismiss 2 of the 37 counts of grand theft and the court allowed this request.

Clark's motion was on technical grounds involving Miss Bow's connection with the issuance of certain checks on her account by her former secretary.

The red-headed actress was not in the courtroom but her "boy friend," Rex Bell, occupied a front seat.

Bell told reporters he had not "seen or heard from Clara today. She did tell me yesterday that she wanted to listen to Daisy's testimony."

Miss De Boe told about the actress hiring her as secretary and then was asked what her duties as secretary were. She answered:

"I was to take care of all bills and not bother her with them. I was to write all checks, make payments on the mortgage on her house and lot, pay all salaries, including my own and that of her father (Robert Bow), and to pay all of Clara's liquor bills, and buy all her clothes."

Miss De Boe said her duties also included "bleaching and henaing" Clara's hair and taking the lines out of her face "so she would look good before a camera."

Miss De Boe said when she took the position she told Miss Bow she had never had any experience as a secretary and thought if she didn't make good she might have trouble getting back her job of hairdresser at a studio. "Clara told me I would never have to try to get my job back because she would take care of me," Miss De Boe said. She said she was to get $75 a week and at the end of a year $125 a week.

Also Acted as Companion.

"Did you act as her companion as well as her secretary?" Freedman asked.

"Yes," Miss De Boe replied, "and when I first went with her she said that after she had dismissed the chauffeur I could make myself available to drive the car around."

"What were your duties as Miss Bow's companion."

"I went with Clara everywhere, and I would go to the door when various men arrived and tell them she was at home or was not at home, according to her wishes."

Miss DeBoe was questioned about her finances and said sometimes she would get behind in her salary and sometimes she would make out checks to herself in excess of her salary. When asked why, she said because she would take her own money to pay Clara Bow's bills.

"What did you pay for Miss Bow at the door?"

"Liquor, much liquor."

"What was the most you ever paid for liquor at one time for Miss Bow?"

Bought Liquor at Door.

"I don't know exactly, I think it was about $275."

"Did you go to live in Miss Bow's house as soon as you were employed?"

"No, it was about three months later. Clara went to New York the first week I was there."

"Were the servants living there?"

"Yes."

"Who else was living there when you first were employed?"

"William Doe and Jimmy Dundee. I moved in when they moved out of the front bedroom."

"Did you have access to her account before you moved into Miss Bow's home?"

"Yes, to the special Clara Bow account."

"Did you ever have occasion to pay poker debts?" Freedman pursued.

"Oh, yes, lots of times. We played poker nearly every night. She liked to play poker and we'd stay home as many as six nights a week just to play it when she wasn't working in pictures."

Asked whether Miss Bow ever had her buy jewelry, she said, "I made so many trips to the jewelers, I do not remember them all."

"Name some of them."

Paid for Watches, Rings.

"I bought a watch and chain for Dr. Earl Pierson. I paid around $4,000 for it. I bought a star sapphire ring for Lothar Mendez for $900. I bought an engagement ring for Miss Bow for $10,000. I bought a watch for Harry Richman for $2,000."

Clara Bow was removed from the leading role of the film "City Streets" today as Daisy De Boe told newspapermen she was going to "tell the truth for self-protection, no matter how it hurts."

An announcement of B. P. Schulberg, general manager of Paramount, said:

"It has been found necessary to withdraw Miss Bow from the picture 'City Streets,' which goes into production early next week. Her physician, Dr. Wesley Hommel, advised us that she must have a rest of fully a month because of the nervous strain she has been under.

"We will start work immediately on a story for her new picture, which goes into production just as soon as Miss Bow is able to return to work. Sylvia Sidney, who was originally brought to Hollywood from the New York stage, and whom we regard as a sensational screen discovery, will take Miss Bow's place opposite Gary Cooper in 'City Streets.'"

French Line Plans Fastest Sea Ship

To Be Biggest and Speediest Electric Vessel, Claim; 1,000 Feet Long.

Paris, January 16 (A.P.).—The French Line today announced that it is constructing what it calls the fastest and largest electrically propelled passenger ship in the world. Its length will be 1,000 feet and its speed more than 30 knots. Its displacement tonnage was not announced.

Construction has been begun at St. Nazaire, the announcement said, and it is expected the liner will enter the Havre-New York service in the spring of 1934.

The Leviathan, largest American vessel, is 906 feet long. The Majestic, largest British ship, is 915 feet long, although not so broad as the Leviathan. The Bremen, new German ocean greyhound, is 898 feet long and its sister ship, the Europa, about the same length.

POVERTY DRIVES OUT DROUGHT REFUGEES

SEEK WARMER CLIMES

(Associated Press.)

An exodus of drought refugees from impoverished farms was described in yesterday's Red Cross messages from the 21-State drought relief front.

Some were driven out by mortgage foreclosures. Some were tenant farmers unable to pay rent. Some were deserting their own acres to move South, where winter weather was likely to be better.

Hattiesburg, Miss., reported the highways filled with men on the move.

A Logan County, Ky., Red Cross worker reported:

"I saw a man, wife and three little children with a little express wagon, drawn by a dog, crossing Kentucky."

Warren County, Miss., reported many tenant farmers moving out. One, with artificial legs, "could not continue his journey," the report said, 'until the chapter got a shoemaker to put on new straps."

From rural sections came word of schools closing because children have no clothes. In some Arkansas towns the clothing situation was said to be "so acute that women have organized on a war-time basis, knitting sweaters and sewing garments."

Because of a fuel shortage in Helena, Ark., the Red Cross opened a wood lot back of the levee, where 125 volunteers chopped wood daily to heat 800 houses.

A Louisiana Red Cross worker compared the situation to "the dreadful fog of Belgium, settling and obscuring sunshine and happiness."

SENATE IS PREPARED TO PROVIDE AID FUND

relief fund for crop rehabilitation No loan will exceed $600. Applications from West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland will be handled by the Washington office.

There are indications that the extra session idea is not so repugnant to the Republican House leaders as one might think, at first blush. If an extra session were called immediately after March 4 they would have a margin of four votes over the Democrats, as two Democrats have died since last November. The margin might be wiped out later.

The futility of opposing the Robinson proposal, however, is seen in the fact that the administration will have no safe margin of control over either House or Senate in the next session.

Baltimore Red Cross Calls Off Its Meeting

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A meeting of the Baltimore Red Cross, scheduled for today to discuss plans for the raising of $230,000 as its part of the national campaign to raise $10,000,000 for drought relief, was called off at the last minute to "wait until the Washington attitude is clarified."

Walter B. Brooks, chairman of the Baltimore Chapter, said the "Washington attitude" referred to was the proposal in Congress to appropriate $25,000,000 for the relief work.

Woman Stabbing Witness Guarded

Police Watch Knife Victim, Attacked to Silence Her Testimony.

Portland, Oreg., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A police guard was ordered at the hospital today where Mrs. H. W. Howard, important State witness in the unsolved slaying of Mrs. Leone Bowles, Portland society matron, lay half conscious from wounds suffered in an attack late yesterday at her home.

W. Lair Thompson, attorney for Nelson C. Bowles, millionaire widower of the slain woman, who with Miss Irma G. Loucks, his former secretary, is charged with her murder, announced he and his associates had posted a reward of $1,000 for arrest and conviction of the assailant of Mrs. Howard. Thompson said "the idea that we should know anything about the assault is ridiculous. We are probably even more anxious than the State that she be in condition to testify at the trial."

Mrs. Howard is suffering from a severe skull injury and a knife wound in her breast. Like Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. Howard was stabbed near the heart.

19 HURT IN WRECK; 800 ARE FRIGHTENED

FAULTY SWITCH BLAMED

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—More than 800 commuters from New Jersey were thrown into panic today when a seven-car train in the Hudson Tubes was wrecked near the New York terminus of the line at Sixth avenue and Thirty-third street.

The first car left the rails and crashed into the concrete-and-steel side of the tunnel, virtually cutting the car into two. The second car, plowing into it, was telescoped.

Nineteen passengers were injured, but none critically. Only the fact that the train was running slowly at the time prevented a more serious accident, observers said.

When the sudden jar was felt through the train the passengers started a mad scramble for safety. Windows not shattered by the impact were crashed in and men and women climbed through them to the roadbed. The entire tube was in darkness, adding to their terror, but power had been turned off immediately and danger from contact with the third rail was averted.

Police reserves were rushed to the scene and aided in guiding the frantic passengers to the street. Ambulances carried the more seriously injured to hospitals, but it was found most of them were suffering mainly from cuts, contusions and shock. All were residents of nearby New Jersey communities.

The cause of the accident had not been determined tonight. The second truck of the first car either ran into an open switch, investigators of the Transit Commission said, or split the switch. The switch was said by the investigators to have given trouble all morning.

The accident was similar in respect to the subway wreck in 1928 in which nineteen persons were killed. At that time also a switch was responsible.

Producer's Home Looted by Thieves

Loss of $1,600 Reported by Theatrical Man at Palm Beach.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Robbers entered the winter residence of Sam Harris, New York theatrical producer, last night and took jewels and clothing valued at $1,600. The robbery followed that at the home of Mrs. Vincent Scullen Wednesday night, when articles valued at $15,000 were taken.

Most of the articles stolen from the Harris home were property of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis F. O'Brien, of New York, house guests. Harris said he discovered the robbery on returning home after dining out.

SPEAKERS INFORMED OF PLANS FOR CHEST

ADDITIONAL NEEDS TOLD

Final instructions and suggestions to speakers, for use in the Community Chest campaign, January 26 to February 4 were made in a series of talks at the luncheon meeting of the speakers' unit of the Chest, at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday. About 300 members of the unit and guests attended.

Joseph D. Kaufman, chairman, announced that this would be the only meeting of the unit prior to the campaign and urged every person present to become enthusiastically "sold" on the Chest, and be prepared to speak whenever and wherever called.

Bishop W. F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the first speaker, outlined the purposes for which the Chest was founded. He pointed out that the Chest is no experiment, having been in successful operation for two years in Washington, while 400 cities throughout the United States are providing proof that the chest method is the best way to handle social work funds.

Economics Explained.

Mrs. John Jay O'Connor called attention to economies effected by the Chest method, citing that 93 cents of every dollar collected goes for organization work as contrasted with the 85 cents or less obtained from each dollar collected under the individual campaign method. She cited other savings effected by the Chest and said that perhaps the greatest saving had been in the time of the workers.

Dr. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, emphasized the community spirit engendered by the Chest. He declared that it had welded together Protestant, Jew, and Catholic in a work of community helpfulness, and had torn away the veil of secrecy surrounding the old methods of denominational charities. This one fact, he claimed, if the Chest did no other service, would entitle it to the support of Washingtonians.

Edward F. Colladay, campaign chairman, outlined the organization of the Chest this year. He told of the duties of the special gifts, group solicitation, metropolitan, governmental, publicity, information and speakers' units. Mr. Colladay called attention to the fact that an "army" of 7,500 people has been assembled for this campaign, and that these men and women are not only working without pay, but are also contributing their own funds to the Chest.

Added Needs Told.

C. L. McCrae, sales manager of the National Electric Supply Co., said that he saw the whole job as a selling proposition. The worker, he said, must first be sold on the Chest and then selling the enterprise to others would become comparatively easy. He urged a thorough knowledge of the Chest as the first aid toward making a successful speech.

Elwood Street, director of the Chest, explained why the budget figure had been set at $1,950,154.40, since inclusion of the Red Cross Washington $100,000 budget for drought relief. Mr. Street said every penny would be necessary if Washington is to meet the problems brought by unemployment and other causes. He said that the average gain in Community Chests over the country has been 9 per cent this year, and that many Chests have far exceeded this amount, going as high as 45 per cent above the goal sought.

Press Club to Hold Inaugural Tonight

New Officers to Be Inducted at Ceremonies Tinged With Burlesque.

The National Press Club will inaugurate its twenty-third president tonight at the National Press Building when Eugene S. Leggett is installed. Before the installation of officers in the club's auditorium, the annual business meeting of the organization will be held at 7 o'clock.

A note of levity will enter the inaugural ceremonies, following precedent. A motion picture, a burlesque of inaugurals which have taken Chief Executives to the White House, will be shown, and a number of other amusing features have been arranged for the entertainment of the club's guests.

Following this program the traditional inaugural ball will be staged, with music from a section of the United States Marine Band and Strickland's Press Orchestra.

Opposition to Dry Law Is Announced

The Sentinels of the Republic, organized in 1922, in an annual meeting held in Washington adopted a resolution stating belief in the theory that regulation "by Federal authority of such purely domestic and social matters as the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor is essentially unsound and violative of the basic principle of local self-government which our Constitution was framed to preserve."

Alexander Lincoln, of Boston, president of the organization, said that prior to the meeting yesterday the Sentinels had taken no official stand on the wet-or-dry question.

Wales Traveling Incognito On Jaunt to South America

The Prince of Wales and Prince George. The map shows the route they will follow in South America, in the interest of British commerce. They arrived in Paris yesterday after a flight from London.

Prince and Brother Fly to Paris on First Leg of Long Trip.

Paris, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Two traveling salesmen from London spent this evening in comparative quiet at their hotel here, but they were the object of considerably more attention than is usually accorded a commercial representative.

They were the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, but they were strictly incognito and there was none of the pomp with which visiting royalty is usually pestered.

They did not go to the theater, as the prince is accustomed to do on his visits to Paris, because both are in mourning for their aunt, the Princess Royal, who died last week.

The two young men, on their way to South America, where the Prince of Wales is to open the British trade exposition March 14 at Buenos Aires, crossed the channel in the prince's airplane, reaching Le Bourget Field after two hours flying over threatening clouds and through fog. The Prince of Wales was a little deaf from the roar of the motors after they landed, but he recovered quickly.

Tomorrow the brothers will get up early to catch a train for Santander, Spain, where they will board the liner Oropesa for the voyage across the Atlantic.

It was not until late this morning that the brothers finally decided to make the first stage of their journey by air. Prince George originally had planned to cross the channel by steamer, but his brother dissuaded him and they made the flight together after they had called up the king and queen to say good-by.

A couple of British army planes escorted them to France and the British air attache greeted them at Le Bourget.

As he stepped out of the plane the heir noticed a group of photographers fuming behind a line of soldiers. He grinned at them and posed for five minutes while they aimed their cameras at him.

"Oh, let them alone," he said to the commander at Le Bourget, "but you will have to be quick about it," he told the camera men.

Then when that was over he and his brother started for Paris in the air attache's automobile.

Prince Offers to Help Show Girl in Africa

London, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Once upon a time—this is a true story appearing in a book called, "South of Suez," by the South African, William J. Makin—there was a prince who danced with a golden haired show girl in a desolate town on the coast of Africa.

"Rotten," the little girl answered.

"Well," said he, "if you're playing in any town where I happen to be, let me know and I'll come to your theater. That ought to help business."

The prince, of course, was the Prince of Wales, and this is only one of the stories about him in Mr. Makin's book which was published today.

In another anecdote he discloses that the heir to the British throne would like to be a newspaper man if he didn't have to be a prince.

"If I were not the Prince of Wales," Mr. Makin says he heard him say one time, "there is one job I would be delighted to tackle—special correspondent to a newspaper. Going out after a story must be one of the finest jobs in the world."

BARE HALL ROOM CAPITAL OF AMERICAN COMMUNISM

jaw. His attire is that of the average business man; his manner positive, his voice strong.

To date his efforts, in cooperation with William Z. Foster, national organizer, and others, have yielded a police record embodying one conviction which netted him a prison term and a recent parole.

"There is no compromise in the Communist program," he emphasized.

"The American Federation of Labor has sold out the workers. Communism is going forward to revolution.

"We are organizing the unemployed, wherever we can get to them, to fight.

"And the present economic crisis, with its 10,000,000 unemployed in America (the estimate is Amter's), has given us our greatest opportunity to promote the cause of communism."

"The average American workingman," Amter declares, "will turn against capitalism just as the Russians did in setting up the Soviet government.

For Unemployment Insurance.

"The American workman will not stand idly by and see his family starve for political or any other reasons. We purpose trying to put an end to wage cuts, such as the head of the world's largest bank has just suggested; to demand unemployment relief, and to protect the masses with unemployment insurance."

The means to be employed, he said, depend upon the resistance to be overcome.

Amter said the party's plans for 1931 were like those of 1930—"always the same until the end is gained; always revolution until the horizon is reached and class distinctions are leveled; until labor has been relieved of the yoke of capitalism and men enjoy the full fruits of their toil.

"It is inevitably a fight to the finish."

The room was cold, but not more so than the speaker's tone.

Aim Is to Stir People.

"We expect the press to blame us for much. In many cases we are willing to take the onus. It is our aim to stir people—to make them think and see their folly, until they adopt communism.

"Only the Soviet plan," he insisted, "could cure conditions as it is curing them in Russia where, when overproduction approaches, workers will simply work fewer hours for the same return, their rightful share of the production."

There is no difference between American and Russian communism, he asserted. The Communist party of the Soviet Union leads, however, and the 62 sections throughout the world send delegates to the Moscow congress where the affairs of the party are discussed. The American Communists, Amter said, act according to general policies laid down, but applied to the particular conditions encountered. All, however, are members of the Communist international, the world-wide organization.

Communism, he avowed, is getting to American farmers.

"One of them wrote in from England, Ark., after the recent trouble down there, and we haven't a member or an organizer in the whole State.

"A cowboy has started a workers' local in Montana, and an Oklahoma rancher has set up a 'workers' army,' he concluded.

Fish Will Present Red Report Today

Representative Hopes to Arouse Public to 'Threat' to United States.

(Associated Press.)

A report on an eight-month investigation of Communists' activities in the United States will be presented to the House today by Representative Fish.

The New York Republican, who is chairman of the Communist investigating committee, said last night he hoped the report would "arouse public interest in the threat of communism." Commenting on an interview in New York yesterday with Israel Amter, a New York Communist organizer, who said the aim of his party was revolution, Mr. Fish asserted:

"The statement is typical and exactly what the Communists stand for. It is just what he told our committee. The Communists do not try to hide their motives."

300 Liquor Cases Found On Captured Schooner

New York, Jan. 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The two-masted schooner Mary A., her hull and rigging sheathed with ice, was towed to the Barge office today, her holds loaded with 300 cases of liquors.

The patrol boat C. G. 166 saw her entering the Narrows today and boarded her for an investigation. Few fish were found—that being the profession of the Mary A.—but in an oil tank under her auxiliary engines the 300 cases of contraband were discovered.

Kelley Fights Oil Laws Proposed by Wilbur

(Associated Press.)

The recommendations of Secretary Wilbur for legislation on oil shale land leases were opposed yesterday before the House lands committee by Ralph S. Kelley.

Kelley, who was dismissed from the Interior Department after charging Wilbur with favoring big corporations in shale leases, said no additional legislation is necessary. Former Senator Thomas, of Colorado, urged the committee to enact new legislation, asserting that the leasing act of 1920 "has not helped the development."

DRY ACT PERPETUAL, SHEPPARD CONTENDS

SPEAKS ON DRY BIRTHDAY

(Associated Press.)

Comparative quiet marked prohibition's eleventh birthday yesterday, calm being broken only by a defense of the eighteenth amendment by one of its authors.

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, asserted in the Senate that the dry clause would be in the Constitution forever.

It was the first time the liquor question had been brought before the Senate this session. Senators opposed to prohibition continued their silence.

Quiet likewise pervaded the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission, which gave assurance that the prohibition report had not yet gone to President Hoover. Almost no official activity could be seen at commission headquarters.

Wickersham Group Reticent.

No secret was made of the fact that the members have completed their prohibition deliberations, begun nineteen months and twenty days ago; but only silence met all questions as to when that document—now described outside the commission as a "compromise" among the eleven members—would finally make its way to the White House.

Sources close to the commission, however, considered it probable that the White House might not officially receive the commission's report until Monday or later.

Strong doubt was expressed that the document would leave the commission's hands tomorrow, or that the President would receive it Sunday.

Although information on how the document first will be made public was closely guarded, word came from one source that the time probably would be short between its arrival at the White House and its release for publication.

Indication was given that some of the delay in submitting the report might be due to the necessity for printing the lengthy statements by the individual commissioner. But there was no official confirmation.

Says Wets Are Divided.

In his Senate speech, Sheppard assailed the antiprohibition forces as "hopelessly divided" upon any substitute to replace prohibition, should the eighteenth amendment be repealed. He particularly attacked Government control as a solution, asserting it would bring "unspeakable political corruption."

"The principal foundation upon which prohibition rests today," the Texan said, "is the voluntary obedience of the great mass of the American people.

"The comparative handful of prohibition enforcement officials, about 1,700, scattered among 123,000,000 people, would be overwhelmed but for the fact that they must cope with but a comparatively small and lawless minority."

Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, praised the address as "the greatest prohibition speech I have ever listened to."

Meanwhile, another dry leader, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, speaking in Boston, said the "solution of the problem of the liquor traffic is not in repeal but in observance and enforcement."

She said prohibition, given a chance, would be the best answer to those seeking its repeal.

BISHOP MOUZON HITS HOOVER OVER LIQUOR

question. Coolidge said nothing and did nothing.

"And Hoover's Wickersham commission only sits behind closed doors, occasionally cracking them open to whisper a little and watch how the public will take that."

The bishop also took issue with President Hoover's preelection assertion that prohibition was a "noble experiment."

"Prohibition was not a noble experiment when it was taken over by the Nation," he declared. "In every State which had outlawed liquor prohibition was a tried success.

"We had tried everything possible to regulate the liquor traffic before we tried national prohibition. High license had failed. Under State control, conditions were worse than in the wide-open conditions. But State prohibition had succeeded.

"No generation seems able to profit from the lessons of the past. Then the present generation must be educated against the evils of drink."

McBride Holds Opposite Views.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Belief that prohibition enforcement "is now in the hands of its friends" was expressed by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League, here today to attend a meeting of the trustees of the North Carolina State League.

President Hoover is backing up enforcement, McBride declared, "by putting it in charge of efficient men who are interested in prohibition itself. Conditions are now better than ever before; prohibition is being given a chance in the hands of its friends."

The prohibition leader said transfer of the prohibition enforcement to the Department of Justice under the direction of Amos W. W. Woodcock and the supervision of alcohol permits by Dr. J. M. Doran, comprise "the most hopeful line-up ever had."

He estimated that 85 to 90 per cent of the people of the United States favor prohibition, and predicted "it will be a billion years at the rate they are going" before the antiprohibition forces can muster sufficient strength in Congress to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

Remarking that today was the eleventh birthday of national prohibition, McBride enumerated "eleven good reasons why we should, why we must, and why we will uphold the eighteenth amendment."

Volstead Sees Success.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Prohibition, in the opinion of Andrew J. Volstead, author of the national enforcement act, has shown great forward strides in the eleven years of its operation and has resulted in greatly improved conditions.

Discussing prohibition on the eleventh anniversary of its adoption, the former member of Congress, who drew the enforcement bill while a member of the House judiciary committee, declared he was "still for prohibition."

"Any one who can't see a vast difference in conditions in the last eleven years," he said, "has a very short memory. Before prohibition all sorts of drunks could be seen on the streets, on the street cars and even on trains. Now you seldom see a drunk."

Dr. Richmond to Preach.

The Rev. Dr. Charles A. Richmond, who for many years was the distinguished president of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., will preach at Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning. The service will be conducted by Dr. George E. MacLean.

NEW PASTOR

THE REV. RUSSELL J. CLINCHY, Who Preaches His First Sermon at Mount Pleasant Congregational Church Tomorrow Morning.

DR. HARNED'S CHOIR TO SING FOR SCHOOL

Program for Benefit of Old Force to Be Given on Friday Evening.

TO BE SOCIAL AFFAIR

Historic Force School, on Massachusetts avenue, has taught the children of Presidents and of others who were distinguished in public life here. It has numbered among its patrons many children from foreign lands whose fathers were in the various legations along Massachusetts avenue. In its list of graduates is a host of prominent women and men of this and other cities. Among them are the Roosevelt children and Col. Lindbergh.

Some years ago some of the foreign ministers who patronize the school became interested in establishing a library there and have given liberally to its fund and to its collection of books. The work of gathering the library is under the direction of the Parent-Teacher Association, which numbers people of all social distinctions.

Choir to Be Heard.

To forward its work, the Parent-Teacher Association has asked Dr. Albert W. Harned, founder and director of the National Capital Choir, to give a musical program at Constitution Hall, and this will be done Friday evening. This choir sang at the Beethoven concert here last autumn with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, led by Dr. Serge Koussevitsky, a world famous conductor, who bestowed on it the encomium of being one of the finest organizations of its kind he had heard.

Dr. Harned's choir is composed of 34 voices, with whom are associated 9 soloists, 4 of whom will give solos as a part of the program. They are Alicegene Graves, Jessie Masters, Irene Koehl, and Eugene Dahl. Phyllis Gray Kim is the piano accompanist. Malton Boyce, who will be at the great organ, will give an organ prelude to the concert.

To Be Social Affair Also.

The program is one of the most ambitious ever presented to a Washington audience, not so heavy that one will fall asleep and not so light that one can't keep the feet on the floor. It is made up of some of the great choral music of three periods of musical history.

The concert will be a social as well as a musical affair, for some of the embassies have engaged reservations for their entire entourage. Musical Washington, of course, will be present with eyes and ears and hearts and minds open, for Dr. Harned's choir is a favorite with this cultured group.

Marriage Is Topic Of Simon Sermon

Four Principles Required in Happy Wedlock, Rabbi Says.

The four principles on which every marriage should be based were described last night by Dr. Abram Simon at the Washington Hebrew Congregation.

The primary requisite, he said, is love—not in the physical sense, but in the spiritual. Marriage, he added, should be based on responsibility, not only to the wife, but to the community and society. Marriage must be permanent, a lifetime proposition and not a trial, Dr. Simon stressed. His fourth point was the ultimate goal of marriage—happiness.

He compared marriage to a cathedral, observing that the basis of the structure is love; the lower floor, responsibility; the body of the cathedral, permanency, and the spire, happiness. Joseph D. Kaufman spoke on the Community Chest. He pointed out that for every dollar givne the Chest 93 cents is used for charitable causes.

Philadelphia Pastor To Talk on Liturgics

The Rev. Dr. Calvin P. Swank, of Philadelphia, will deliver a lecture on "Liturgics" at the Lutheran Training School, at the Church of the Reformation, Second and B streets southeast, on Monday night.

Dr. Henry W. Snyder will continue his classes on the "History of the Church" in the same school.

REV. J. T. BOETTCHER DIES

Former Takoma Park Clergyman Expires in California.

The Rev. Julius T. Boettcher, 66, who has been an ordained clergyman in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination for more than 50 years, died in Glendale, Calif., Thursday night, according to a telegram received at the general conference of the denomination in Takoma Park yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Boettcher removed to California about ten months ago on account of his health after having lived in Takoma Park several years, where he was associate secretary of the Bureau of Home Missions of the General Conference.

One daughter, Mrs. Lyndon Lockwood, and his wife, who was Miss Clara Yaeger, survive. Both were at his bedside when he died.

Dr. Schippel to Speak.

Dr. T. M. Schippel, president of the Naturopathic Association, will address members of the League for the Larger Life at 8:15 o'clock tonight at league headquarters, 1336 I street northwest. A reception in his honor will follow the lecture.

NEW PASTOR FILLS PULPIT TOMORROW

A new pastor is an event in religious circles of this city, and the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, 1410 Columbia road, will present one in its pulpit tomorrow, when the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy preaches his salutatory sermon. He succeeds Dr. Moses R. Lovell, who made the Mount Pleasant Church the center of an interesting health clinic, as well as a spiritual force.

Mr. Clinchy is young, a city man, having been born at New York in 1893. Educated at the East Orange, N. J., High School, Columbia University and Drew Theological Seminary, he was ordained by the presbytery of Morris and Orange, and became associate minister of the Church of the Sea and Land, a Presbyterian social settlement church on the New York East Side.

Takes Postgraduate Course.

A postgraduate year was taken at Yale Divinity School, after which he became pastor of the First Congregational Church at Cornwall, Conn., where he spent pleasant and profitable years. A call then came to him from Detroit, where he became assistant minister of the First Congregational Church, being associated with Dr. Gaius Glenn Atkins in the ministry of a downtown church.

In November, 1927, Mr. Clinchy went to Broadway Tabernacle Church, at New York, where he was associate minister to the celebrated Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, a liberal education in itself to any young minister.

Has Been Y. M. C. A. Leader.

Mr. Clinchy has been a leader at the Y. M. C. A. college conference at Northfield and Lake Geneva; registrar of the Connecticut Congregational Young People's Conference and dean of the Michigan Congregational Young People's Conference.

Last summer he was one of ten interchange preachers between America and Great Britain under the Federal Council and Church Peace Union, and preached in Scotland and England. He was also a delegate to the International Congregational Council at Bournemouth, England.

Hoover Sees Governors Of Homes for Veterans

The governors of the national disabled soldiers' homes throughout the country paid their respects to President Hoover yesterday. They were accompanied to the White House by Paul C. Wolman, the commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of veterans' affairs.

National Commander Wolman assured the President that the Veterans of Foreign Wars were highly pleased with the administration of Gen. Hines, and especially the sympathetic treatment given to disabled veterans in the Soldiers Homes.

Marriage Commission Calls Encyclical Swing Back to Firm Foundations.

COLLEGE VIEWS HEARD

Chicago, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Praise for the recent expression of Pope Pius XI was voiced today by members of the commission on marriage, divorce and remarriage of the Presbyterian Church.

The members also heard the liberal views of present-day college women as related by Mrs. Charles K. Roys, dean of Wells College at Aurora, N. Y.

Dr. Ralph M. Davis, chairman of the commission and pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Erie, Pa., was first to laud the Pope's encyclical. He termed it a step in "the conservative swing back to stable foundations."

Prof. George L. Robinson, of Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago, said:

"Pope Pius XI," he said, "in his recent encyclical, has in a measure paved the way for a clearer understanding of the whole question of marriage and divorce."

Mrs. Roys said a seminar at Wells College had shown her that all the consulted group would marry expecting to have children, but that all approved of limiting and spacing children according to health, income and other conditions. The girls deemed physical examinations necessary before marriage; were willing to supplement family income by holding a job; favored uniform divorce laws, and considered that children would act as a deterrent to a couple contemplating separation.

"Divorce," Mrs. Roys quoted the girls as holding, "should be obtainable by mutual agreement without pressing vicious charges."

Dr. Davis had declared earlier in today's session that those who do not recognize what he called "the sacramental essentials" of marriage, should not ask the church to unite their lives.

The commission is to report its findings to the Presbyterian General Assembly at Pittsburgh in May.

Dr. Hiram Woods Dies; Was Friend of Wilson

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Dr. Hiram Woods, one of the pioneers in the field of ophthalmology and a nationally known eye surgeon, is dead, a victim of pneumonia, by which he was stricken last week.

The death of Dr. Woods cut to three the surviving members of the Princeton University graduating class of 1879, which numbered President Wilson as one of its eight members. The Baltimore physician was a pallbearer at the funeral of Mr. Wilson.

J. J. Moran Dies; Was War Veteran

As Member of National Guard, Became Identified With Troops Abroad.

John Joseph Moran, World War veteran, died Thursday at his home, 229 E street northeast, following an illness of three months. He was 37 years old.

A lifelong resident of this city, Mr. Moran was educated in the St. Joseph and St. Aloysius Schools. Following his enlistment in the United States Army, he saw active service during the Pancho Villa uprising on the Mexican border in 1916. At the outbreak of the World War he went to France as a member of the District of Columbia National Guard. His company later became a part of the Forty-first Division.

Surviving Mr. Moran are his mother, Mrs. Mary Moran, a sister, Miss Agnes Moran, and four brothers, Edward, Joseph, Francis and James Moran.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock at his late residence. Following mass at St. Joseph's Church, he will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

VICTOR H. STONESIFER DEAD

Secretary of Postmasters' League to Be Buried Monday.

The funeral of Victor H. Stonesifer, 60 years old, who died suddenly in Hyattsville yesterday, will be held at the parlors of J. William Lee Sons, 332 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Stonesifer was secretary of the National League of Postmasters and had been editor of the league's publication, the Postmasters Advocate. He was also the league's legislative representative on Capitol Hill. Before becoming interested in the Postmasters' League, he was an employe of the Government Printing Office.

Mr. Stonesifer is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillian Stonesifer, who lives at 1425 Rhode Island avenue northwest. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

HOWARD IS LEGATEE IN BOSTON ESTATE

University Also May Share in $25,000 Trust Fund of A. E. Pillsbury.

WILKINSON IS TRUSTEE

Howard University has been named as legatee in the will of the late Albert E. Pillsbury, lawyer of Boston, Mass., according to notice received yesterday by the executive committee of the board of trustees of the university.

The will sets aside a trust fund of $25,000, the income or the whole or parts of the principal thereof to be applied at the discretion of Garnet C. Wilkinson, of Washington, and Butler R. Wilson, of Boston, Mass., trustees, for the use of Howard University and such other colleges or schools at such time and in such manner and proportions as the said trustees see fit.

Wilson was named in the codicil as trustee of the fund in lieu of Archibald H. Grimke, named in the original will, who died February 25, 1930.

Patrick McEneany Dies at 95 Years

Union Army Veteran to Be Buried Monday Morning in Mount Olivet.

Funeral services for Patrick McEneany, 95 years old, retired Government employe and Union Army veteran, who died yesterday at the United States Soldiers' Home Hospital, following a brief illness, will be conducted Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. McEneany was a native of Ireland. In 1854 he came to this country and enlisted in the United States Army. After serving for a number of years he was honorably discharged and became a "pony express" rider. He carried mail in Nebraska for several years, and at the outbreak of the Civil War reenlisted in the Army and took an active part in many of the major engagements. He was chief orderly to Gen. Meade at the Battle of Gettysburg, and later served as orderly to several other of the Union Army generals. He entered the Government service following the war, and for many years served in the War Department and the Pension Office. He retired about ten years ago.

Mr. McEneany had been at the Soldiers' Home for two years. He formerly resided at 1360 Otis place northwest. Surviving him are a son, Thomas Leo McEneany, and two grandchildren.

Doctor Who Attended Grover Cleveland Dies

Lakewood, N. J., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Dr. George Washington Lawrence, chief of staff at Paul Kimball Hospital and prominent physician, died today at the age of 65.

Dr. Lawrence attended President Grover Cleveland in his last illness. During the war he was a major in the Medical Corps.

PATRICK FITZGERALD DIES.

Funeral for Native of Washington Will Be Held Monday.

Funeral rites for Patrick A. Fitzgerald, who died yesterday, will be held at his residence, 915 Twenty-second street northwest, Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. Fitzgerald, a native of Washington, was 62 years old. He was an employe of the U. S. Veterans Bureau. He was a member of Carroll Council of the Knights of Columbus and of Saint Stephens Catholic Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Virginia Fitzgerald; his mother, Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald; three sons, Thomas, Edward and Joseph; and two daughters, Molly and Ellen, all of whom live at the Twenty-second street address.

HENRY WASSMANN FUNERAL

Services for Victim of Heart Attack to Be Held Monday.

Funeral services for Henry Wassmann, 65 years old, who fell dead Thursday night while playing pocket billiards in his establishment at 639 G street northwest, will be held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock from his home, 1330 Oak street northwest. Interment will be in Prospect Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Wassmann was stricken suddenly with a heart attack, and was pronounced dead by Dr. S. Schwartzback, of Emergency Hospital. He was the brother-in-law of Lieut. G. W. Lauten, of the Ninth Police Precinct.

FRANCISCAN FRIARS' FOUNDER TO PREACH

Former Episcopalian Will Be Heard in Immaculate Conception Church.

WEEK'S MISSION TO OPEN

The Very Rev. Paul James Francis, founder and father general of the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, formerly a noted Episcopal minister, will preach every day next week in the Immaculate Conception Church, known as the Church Unity Octave. Father Paul's introductory sermon tomorrow and that on January 25 will be heard on the Washington Catholic radio hour, which is broadcast every Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the church. Father Paul's noonday discourses will begin at 12:15 noon.

Father Paul created a sensation in 1909 when he, together with his monastery of Anglican friars and a convent of Anglican sisters, made submission to Rome and entered the Catholic Church. He said the unity of all Christians (an object to which Father Paul and his friars devote a lifetime of labor to further) could be found only in the Catholic Church.

The Atonement Friars have their central location in a group of buildings at Graymoor, in Garrison County, N. Y., and a seminary at Catholic University here in Washington. The Atonement Sisters, of whom Father Paul is chaplain, are also located at Graymoor. They have sixteen branch houses throughout the country.

Father Paul's subjects follow:

Tomorrow, "The Chair of Unity."

"St. Paul and the Conquest of the World for Christ," at 5 p. m.

Monday, 12:15 noon, "The Orient and the Holy See."

Tuesday, 12:15 noon, "England and Rome."

Wednesday, 12:15 noon, "Return of Lutherans and Other Protestants of Continental Europe to Peter's Fold."

Thursday, noon, "America and the Pope."

Friday, 12:15 noon, "Conversion of Lapsed Catholics."

Saturday, 12:15 noon, "The Hebrew People and the Messiah."

Mission at St. Dominic's.

A mission will open at 7:20 o'clock tomorrow evening in St. Dominic's Church, Sixth and E streets southwest, and continue for two weeks. The first week will be for women, the second week for men. It will be conducted by the Rev. Vincent R. Burnell and the Rev. William C. Kelly, Missionary Fathers of the Dominican Order.

The Missionary Fathers will preach at all the masses tomorrow morning. The hours of the masses are 6, 7:30, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock. The last mass is sung by the students of the Dominican House of Studies, in Gregorian plain chant. All are invited to the services each evening, non-Catholics as well as Catholics.

Two Weeks Retreat.

A two weeks' retreat will begin tomorrow at St. Aloysius Church, North Capitol and I streets northwest, and end Sunday, February 1. The first week will be for women and the second for men. There will be a special retreat mass each morning of the retreat and services every evening at 7:30, consisting of rosary, sermon and benediction. Father Hargadon will conduct services for the women's retreat, and Father Hammill for the men's retreat.

Prior Installed.

The Very Rev. Justin McManus was installed as prior of the Dominican House of Studies on the feast of the Epiphany. He succeeds the Very Rev. T. S. McDermott, recently chosen provincial of St. Joseph's province.

The ceremony of installing a Dominican prior consists chiefly in the reading of the document of election and confirmation before the assembled community.

In this instance the document was read by the Rev. F. D. McShane, professor of moral theology at the Dominican House of Studies.

Crusaders at St. Gabriel's.

At the invitation of Auxiliary Bishop John M. McNamara, pastor of St. Gabriel's Church, the Catholic students' mission crusade will hold a religious demonstration in that church at 4 o'clock, February 1.

All crusaders of the Catholic high schools, academies and colleges will participate, as well as the clerics and others at the Catholic University conference of the Catholic students' mission crusade.

The program will consist of: Processional; hymn, "To Jesus' Heart All Burning;" rosary hymn, "Mary, Dearest Mother;" sermon by Bishop McNamara, followed by the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers;" pontifical benediction by Bishop Shahan, rector emeritus of the Catholic University, and recitation of the crusade pledge.

The hymn, "Sweet Savior, Bless Us Ere We Go," will close the service.

Fifth Baptist to Hear Talk on Youth of Today

Student night will be observed at the Fifth Baptist Church tomorrow night, when youth and their modern problems will be discussed. Dr. John E. Briggs, the minister, has turned over this talk to a member of Congress, David Hogg, of Indiana, and if he cannot be on hand David Hopkins, of Missouri, will speak.

Young people of the church will have full charge of the service, giving a program of music, vocal and instrumental, scripture reading and prayers. Those who will participate are the Misses Clara Belle and Donna Mae Sparks, Beverly Newton and Anna King, Edward Stokes, Bruce Fowler, John Baas and Leonard Baber.

A report will be made on the recent Baptist students' conference at Atlanta.

Baptist Young People Will Present Comedy

"The Tinker," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the Columbia Federation of Baptist Young People's Unions on Friday evening, January 30, in Woodward Hall of Calvary Baptist Church, Eighth and H streets northwest.

The play is being staged by members of the District unions for the purpose of raising funds to assist in entertaining delegates to the "Magnetic Fortieth Convention," which will assemble in this city July next.

Dr. Cooke to Conduct Petworth Campaign

Dr. George W. Cooke, one of the most prominent young ministers in the Methodist Episcopal Church, who was at one time pastor of Hamline Methodist Church, on Sixteenth street, is coming to Petworth Methodist Church next Sunday for a three weeks' evangelistic campaign.

He will be accompanied by his director of music, Mr. Harold Virneulle, a barytone singer.

Leaders to Discuss Idleness Problems

Jews, Gentiles, Catholics, Protestants Will Confer Here, January 26 and 27, to Find "Permanent Preventives for Unemployment."

One of the most important conferences ever sponsored by religious bodies is to meet in this city January 26 and 27. It is called a conference to focus the conscience of the nation. Its purpose is to find "permanent preventives for unemployment." All the meetings will be held at the Hamilton Hotel, two on January 26, at 2 p. m. and at 8 p. m., and three the following day, at 9:30 a. m., 2, and a dinner meeting at 6 p. m.

It has been a long time since Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant sat down around a conference table to settle a great social question; but that is what is to be done at this conference, for it is being sponsored by the following agencies: the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference; social justice commission of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, and the social service commission of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

The sponsoring committee is organized as follows: James Myers, industrial secretary, social service commission, Federal Council of Churches in America; Rabbi Edward L. Israel, chairman, social justice commission, Central Conference of American Rabbis; and the Rev. R. A. McGowan, assistant director, social action department, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The list of committee members suggests the importance of the group behind the conference. They are: Mary Anderson, Paul H. Douglas, Sam A. Lewisohn, S. W. Rutherford, the Rev. W. S. Abernethy, Linna E. Bressette, Dr. William Knowles Cooper, Maurice Bisgyer, Jerome Davis, Rabbi Julian Feibelman, James E. Hagerty, Harold A. Hatch, Jacob H. Hollander, the Rev. Joseph Husslein, Edmund I. Kaufmann, Frank P. Walsh, Edward Keating, Frederick P. Kenkel, Frank Morrison, Elizabeth Morissy, David A. McCabe, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Reinhold Niebuhr, the Rev. John O'Grady, Bishop William Scarlett, Rabbi Abram Simon, Alva W. Taylor and Worth M. Tippy.

Some of the foremost men and women of the country are on the program for addresses and to lead discussion of the great questions to come under consideration. They are:

Monday, 2 p. m.—Chairman, David A. McCabe, Princeton University. "What Employers Can Do," Edwin S. Smith, personal assistant to A. Lincoln Filene, Boston; "What a Municipal Government Can Do," Fred Hoehler, director of public welfare, Cincinnati; "International Aspects of the Problem," Leifur Magnusson, director, Washington branch, International Labor Office; "The Road to Plenty," William T. Foster, Pollak Foundation, Newton, Mass. Discussion.

8 p. m.—Chairman, Jacob H. Hollander, the Johns Hopkins University. "Wages and Hours," John P. Frey, secretary-treasurer, Metal Trades Department, American Federation of Labor, Washington; "Are Business Cycles Avoidable?" George Soule, editor, New Republic, New York. Discussion.

Tuesday, 9:30 a. m.—Chairman, Broadus Mitchell, Johns Hopkins University. "Favoring Public Unemployment Insurance," Dr. John R. Commons, University of Wisconsin; "Opposing Public Unemployment Insurance," John E. Edgerton, president National Association of Manufacturers, New York; "Unemployment Insurance: A Research Report," Dr. A. E. Suffern, Federal Council of Churches. Discussion.

2 p. m.—Chairman, Edward Keating, Editor of Labor, Washington. Robert F. Wagner, Senator from New York; Darwin J. Meserole, president, National Unemployment League; Edward E. Hunt, U. S. Department of Commerce. Discussion.

6 p. m.—Dinner meeting, chairman, Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president, George Washington University. "The Profit Motive," the Rev. Harry F. Ward, professor of social ethics, Union Theological Seminary; "The Demand of Justice," the Rev. John A. Ryan, director, Department of Social Action, National Catholic Welfare Conference; "Unemployment and the Social Conscience," Rabbi Edward L. Israel, Har Sinai Congregation, Baltimore.

Movable Revival Begins New Week

Services Are Scheduled in Various Churches for Second Period.

After a successful first week, the movable revival of a group of Georgetown churches swings into its second week Monday evening with services at 8 o'clock at the West Washington Baptist Church.

In rotation services will be held at the other churches as follows: Tuesday night, at Georgetown Presbyterian Church; Wednesday night, at Peck Memorial Church; Thursday night, at Georgetown Lutheran Church; with the closing services on Friday night at Congress Street Methodist Protestant Church.

The following ministers are cooperating in these evangelistic services and are doing the preaching: The Rev. Frank S. Niles, the Rev. Charles B. Austin, the Rev. Robert S. Barnes, the Rev. H. A. Kester, the Rev. Harold E. Beatty, the Rev. D. A. Berry and the Rev. Irving W. Ketchum.

These services are open to the public and are not restricted to church members. Sinners are especially welcomed, and backsliders also, for from their ranks the sheaves will be gathered.

Place of Church in Life Of Nation Will Be Topic

On the ground that many people who have not been in touch with the activities of the church have been attempting to discuss what is wrong with the church, Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, pastor of Lutheran Place Memorial Church, at Thomas Circle, decided to take an inventory of the relationships of the church to the life of the Nation and its citizens. This inventory has led to conclusions which he has crystallized into a sermon which he will deliver at the 11 a. m. service tomorrow. His discourse at the 8 p. m. service will be a discussion of "Our Other Citizenship," the reference being our relationship to that kingdom which Christ declared is not of this world.

Fellowship Dinner Set For Bishop Freedman

The fifth annual fellowship dinner in honor of Bishop James Edward Freeman, will be held at the Mayflower Hotel on Wednesday evening, February 11, at 6:30 o'clock. Preliminary plans for this gathering, which attracts several hundred of the leading laymen in the Diocese of Washington, were announced yesterday by Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen, of St. Alban's Parish, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Maj. F. Granville Munson, of St. Matthews Parish, Hyattsville, is vice chairman, and Hugh T. Nelson, of All Souls' Parish, is chairman of the dinner committee.

Falling in Love Topic of Sermon

Dr. Stockdale to Preach on Modern Marriage in Series.

Dr. Earle Wilfley, minister of the National City Christian Church, has a rival reader and impersonator in the person of Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, of Chicago, who is filling the pulpit of the First Congregational Church January and February.

Dr. Stockdale chose the pulpit instead of the stage. He earned much of his own way through college as a reader and impersonator and is remembered in and about Boston by many who heard him in his programs. For eight years he was connected with the Emerson College of Oratory of Boston. Dr. Stockdale has always been interested in the mission of the human voice as the organ of the art of the spoken word, believing that more attention should be paid to the training of the voice of ministers.

Tomorrow night Dr. Stockdale will begin a series of sermons on "Marriage in the Modern Manner," opening with the thesis: "Falling in Love."

Washingtonians Hear Sermons in Polyglot

Washington people are permitted to hear sermons in various tongues. Dr. Florian Vurpilliot preaches in St. John's every Sunday afternoon in French. In the Greek church modern Greek is spoken. In Concordia Lutheran Church there is always one service in German. In the Roman Catholic churches the service is in Latin. There is a church where Italians can hear their native language. In the orthodox synagogues the ancient tongue of Moses is heard. In the Temple of Joss one hears Chinese. In a Buddhist temple or two one can find a group listening to some tongues of the Orient. In many of the Protestant churches are innumerable dialects of the language Shakespeare wrote and Francis Bacon spoke. What a polyglot religious people we Washingtonians are!

Council Is Reorganized By Luther Place Church

At the meeting of the church council to organize the work at Luther Place Memorial Church for 1931, L. M. Leisenring, president of the Arts Club, who served as president of the council during 1930, under unanimous election, announced that he wished to retire from the presidency, although continuing his membership on the council, in order that that honor might be conferred on Dr. W. K. Butler, the son of the founder of Luther Place.

Upon Mr. Leisenring's motion, Dr. Butler was unanimously elected. Robert G. Blocher, secretary, and Frank A. Burger, treasurer, who have served in their respective capacities for many years, were unanimously reelected.

DR. C. S. MEDBURY WILL PREACH HERE

IS KNOWN FOR ORATORY

Tomorrow and for several succeeding Sundays, Dr. Charles S. Medbury, of Des Moines, one of the best known preachers of the Disciples of Christ, will occupy the pulpit of the National City Christian Church, while Dr. Earle Wilfley continues to recuperate from his illness.

Before the morning service the Everyman Bible Class, a men's organization, will meet in the new church at 9:40 for a short welcoming ceremony at which there will be special music and an address by Dr. Medbury.

Dr. Medbury has been identified with all the important movements of the Disciples since 1897, when he became pastor in Indiana, going seven years later to the University Christian Church at Des Moines. He has been pastor of that church for 28 years and chaplain of the University of Des Moines for 12 years, the church meanwhile having grown to be one of the largest in the brotherhood, having a membership of nearly 3,000 and an educational plant which fills a five-story building to capacity.

Dr. Medbury was president of the American Christian Missionary Society, the oldest society of the Christian Church at the time of the centennial convention at Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Christian Unity Commission and of the board of directors of the Christian Board of Publications. He was chaplain of the 157th Indiana Volunteer Regiment during the Spanish-American War, is author of books on religious subjects, and has been prominent in the chautauqua lecture field. He is one of the twenty-eight ministers who represented "The New Living Pulpit of the Christian Church," which characterizes him as "one of the greatest pastors and preachers" of the Disciples of Christ.

On the calendar of the National City Christian Church for this week is an annual world call dinner, to be given at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, under the auspices of the woman's Council. There will be music and a dramatization of missionary work.

Calvary M. E. Services Gaining in Popularity

The evening services at Calvary Methodist Church are proving so popular that early arrival is necessary to obtain good seats, it is reported. Everyone enters heartily into old, familiar songs, under the leadership of Dr. H. M. Dudley. Special music is also arranged. Tomorrow there will be a piano and organ ensemble, with Mrs. Clara Wolfe at the piano and Louis A. Potter at the organ.

Laymen who will assist the Rev. Mark Depp in the pulpit are George S. Colison, who will offer prayer, and A. Rea Williams, who will read the Scripture lesson.

Notes of Capital Churches

Pastor Lenski, of Grace Lutheran Church, one of the finest old congregations in the city, is going to point his people to the way of the cross tomorrow night. Repentance is a very present thing in his ministry, and he is going to show all who hear him "How to Repent." Following the sermon he will answer from the pulpit a number of questions related to the problem of religion and the work of the church.

• • • •

A number of the churches in Hyattsville will close their doors tomorrow night to join in the temperance mass meeting which will be held in the Methodist Church.

• • • •

At the morning service tomorrow at Georgetown Lutheran Church the Rev. Harold E. Beatty will install the officers elected at the recent congregational meeting, as follows: J. Frank Butts, G. D. Baker, J. H. Bowman, Otto Fischer, Andrew Lindberg and William H. Stombock.

Mrs. Helen Albert was reelected organist at this meeting.

• • • •

Tomorrow evening the young people of Georgetown Presbyterian Church will have charge of the program and Mr. Arthur Campbell will lead in the discussion of the topic, "My Idea of What a Young Woman Ought to Be." This same topic will be discussed generally in the young people's societies of a number of churches, and it will afford the young ladies an opportunity to learn more things than are written in books.

• • • •

Stanbury Lodge, of the Masonic Order, will be the special guests tomorrow night of Brightwood Park Methodist Church. A special music program will be given in their honor by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Walter F. Studdiford.

• • • •

Old songs of the South will form a part of the special music program which will be given tomorrow night at Ninth Street Christian Church. Prof. Harrison, the choir director, will have charge of the service, and the pastor, Dr. Benjamin H. Melton, is going to take a peep at wedding rings to see which are pure gold and which are pewter.

• • • •

One church was not enough for the Rev. W. M. La Roche, pastor of the Suitland Christian Church, was has accepted a call to shepherd the flock of Magruder Memorial Christian Church, at Landover, Md. He preaches in the morning at Suitland and in the evening at Landover.

• • • •

The Rev. Harry L. Collier, pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, resumes his pulpit tomorrow, when he will take in new members, the product of the recent revival at his church. His Sunday school has set a goal of 1,000 members, and will begin a crusade to get them.

• • • •

The Rev. George Schnabel, pastor of Albright Memorial Evangelical Church, is giving his people a series of interesting sermons on the Apostles' Creed, the fifth of which will be given tomorrow morning.

• • • •

Representative Grant M. Hudson will speak at the Chevy Chase Baptist Church at the morning service at 11 o'clock in observation of the eleventh anniversary of the outlawing of the saloon in America.

W. H. Loving, prominent layman of Epworth M. E. Church South, will have charge of the morning service at Northminster Presbyterian Chapel tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

• • • •

The annual corporate Communion for members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the diocese of Washington and in northern Virginia will be held in the Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral on Monday, February 23, at 8 a. m. Bishop James E. Freeman will be the celebrant and will make an informal address at the breakfast to follow the religious service.

• • • •

The Rev. G. Freeland Peter, canon and chancellor of Washington Cathedral, will be the preacher at the people's evensong service in the Bethlehem Chapel at 4 p. m. tomorrow. This service will be broadcast over Station WMAL.

• • • •

A campaign for registrations to the B. Y. P. U. Convention in Washington next July is now being conducted in all unions of the Columbia Federation. It will continue through February. After all B. Y. P. U. members have been registered the campaign will then be shifted to the church memberships in an effort to register each church's entire roster and congregation.

• • • •

At a recent meeting of the Men's Club of St. Paul's Lutheran Church the following officers were elected: President, Lindley G. Schmidt; vice president, H. F. Heffley, and secretary-treasurer, George E. Monk.

• • • •

"Tiberius and the Sea of Galilee" will be the subject of the illustrated lecture at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, by Dr. Homer J. Councilor. Moving pictures, obtained by the Pathe Co., will be used. The lecture will be open to the public.

• • • •

Sentence Sermons

By the REV. GERHARD E. LENSKI, Pastor of Grace Lutheran Church.

"Put Yourself in His Place"

"But a certain Samaritan • • • had compassion on him." Luke 10:33.

PEOPLE who do not have a heart to help generally have an eloquent excuse. If ten excuses do not suffice they will find twenty. When the Samaritan came to the place where the wounded man lay he could not think of excuses. Another thought possessed him. What would he want done to himself if he lay in such a predicament?

The Samaritan had experienced the unkindness of the world. He knew well enough that this stranger belonged to a group that wasted no affection on his people. But in that moment the thought of racial antipathies was supplanted by another. "What would I want done to me if I were wounded and helpless?" That question gripped his heart. It brought tears to his eyes. It set him to work without delay.

We people often help little because we do not use our imaginations enough. "Softness of head is often as harmful as hardness of heart." Yes, a soft head may make a hard heart. If we only thought a bit about the other man's problem we would not turn away so quickly.

We are not told the name of the Good Samaritan, but we feel sure Jesus fashioned this story out of His own loving heart and that He Himself is none other than its hero. As the Good Samaritan helped this stranger, so God, in Christ, walks the dusty highway of the day, giving needed help to broken men. In telling us this story Jesus wanted to draw our hearts to His. He wanted to teach us His love—that love which puts itself in the other man's place—that love which, when it begins a work of mercy, no matter what the cost, carries it through to the very end.

HELPS WILFLEY

DR. CHARLES S. MEDBURY, One of Foremost Ministers of the Disciples of Christ Church, Who Will Preach at the National City Christian Church Several Weeks.

Dr. P. F. Hall to Preach At Church of Epiphany

The guest preacher at the Church of the Epiphany tomorrow morning, at the 11 o'clock service, in the absence of the rector, the Rev. Z. B. Phillips, will be the Rev. P. F. Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in Alexandria.

Dr. Hall was associate minister at Epiphany during the last few years of Dr. McKim's administration. At the request of Bishop Freeman, who succeeded Dr. McKim as rector, Dr. Hall continued on the staff for several months, and later accepted the call to the Virginia parish.

Indian Affairs Officer To Speak at Dinner

On Thursday evening at 6 o'clock a turkey dinner will be served at New York Avenue Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Sunday School, its officers and teachers. Mrs. Douglas E. Winstead will be general chairman of the dinner committee.

Following the dinner hour J. Henry Scattergood, Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs, will speak. Mr. Scattergood will deliver a stereopticon lecture on the American Indian. He will also have several motion-picture reels of Indian life.

Presbyterians to Hold Oratorical Contest

At 8 o'clock at the midweek prayer service at New York Avenue Presbyterian Church there is to be an interesting program, consisting of an oratorical contest on the theme of "Stewardship," in which several young people will take part.

The winner will compete with other young people of the presbyteries, until at last the winner is chosen to appear before the General Assembly.

Dr. Millian to Preach At Petworth Methodist

Dr. J. C. Millian, director of religious education of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will be the guest preacher at Petworth Methodist Church tomorrow morning.

He came to Washington to attend a banquet of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school of Petworth Church, which was given Thursday evening, with an attendance of 80 persons. Tonight he will hold a round table conference with the same group and the assistants who are engaged in teaching the young people of the church.

Methodists to Hold School of Missions

A school of missions will be held at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church South beginning Monday night at 7 o'clock and continuing each evening through next Friday. Three courses will be given, taught by the following instructors:

Rehearsal to Be Held For Minstrel Show

Preparations for a minstrel show under the auspices of Washington Chapter, Unitarian Laymen's League, the latter part of February, are being made and the first rehearsal will take place next Wednesday evening.

Carl Lauter is chairman of the committee and Herndon Morsell will direct the singing.

SINGING ATTRACTS TO NIGHT SERVICE

YOUNG PEOPLE FIGURE

Dr. R. L. Wood, pastor of Petworth Methodist Church, found 104 visitors in his congregation last Sunday night. They came to see and to hear, attracted by the unusual thing they understood was going on at that suburban church, where the night congregations were larger than those of the morning and where the crowd was too large to be seated in the main auditorium.

What they saw was what can be seen in most any Methodist church, a plain frocked minister in the pulpit, and behind him a large group of singers, with vestments, who have been taken from the body of the congregation. What they heard was a simple old time gospel sermon, pointing sinners to the way of the Cross, and the simple old time gospel hymns which originated with the Wesleys in the eighteenth century.

Singing Attracts.

As an added attraction, Dr. Wood, on Sunday night, January 4, had 100 of the men of the church lead the singing. It was a success. At the conclusion of the sermon the men formed a great circle around the church, and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," the congregation singing the chorus.

On the following Sunday night, a chorus of 100 of the women of the church led the singing, occupying a section of seats set apart for them. They seemed to improve on the men, which was to be expected, and that is why, perhaps, Dr. Wood looking down over his pince-nez, was able to count 104 strangers in his large congregation.

Young Folk to Lead.

Now come the young people to have their day in the sun, for tomorrow night a chorus of 100 young women and young men will lead the singing. Pastor Wood will give a short and pointed sermon on "The Thrill of Religion."

Before coming to Petworth, Dr. Wood was pastor of the Methodist Church at Martinsville, W. Va., and there he first gave some thought to reviving the night service. Perfecting a plan in that laboratory, he brought it to Washington and has found it works even better than it did in the mountains. It is interesting to know that Washington pastors are studying Dr. Wood's plan and methods to see if they will fit in with their programs.

THE FILIBUSTER.

It is surprising that the Republicans in Congress do not expose the motive that lies behind the demand for a $25,000,000 appropriation to be expended by the Red Cross for the relief of the hungry unemployed and drought victims. This demand is merely another phase of the filibuster that has been organized by Democrats and insurgents, having for its immediate object the forcing of an extra session of Congress. The ultimate object is, of course, to discredit and break down the Hoover administration and the Republican party.

This filibuster has been going on since Congress assembled. The Senate coalition stubbornly fought for a "dole" authorization as an amendment to the bill authorizing a loan to drought farmers. This was beaten. Then the House committee brought in the bill making the appropriation that had been authorized. Again the Senate coalition attempted to attach a $15,000,000 "dole" amendment, and again it was beaten. Now the coalition proposes to attach an amendment to a supply bill, making an appropriation that has never been authorized. The House rules strictly confine appropriations to items that have been previously authorized by Congress and the President. The Senate coalition would like to override this rule. The House has refused twice to make appropriations that have not been authorized by law. There is no reason to believe that it will now yield to the Senate coalition. A surrender by the House would open the Treasury to appropriations that have never been authorized by the House, Senate and President.

The American Red Cross may as well go out of business if it is to be prevented from raising relief funds through voluntary contributions. If Congress should appropriate the $25,000,000 that is now proposed, the people will not respond to the present Red Cross appeal, nor to any appeal that may be made hereafter. "Uncle Sam has financed the Red Cross," the public will say; "let him do it all the time." The Red Cross will shrink into a bureau, dependent upon politics and the whim of Congress for funds with which to meet national emergencies. The greatest humanitarian organization in the world, and the only one capable of dealing promptly with unforeseen disasters, will have passed out of existence. The warm heart of America will have lost its right hand.

A decent regard for the Constitution would constrain Congress from appropriating public money to feed the people within the States. In spirit, if not in letter, such an appropriation violates the Constitution and invades the independence of the States.

Thus, for four substantial reasons, the proposed appropriation should be defeated. It is a filibuster move, intended to delay legislation and force an extra session; it runs counter to the rules of Congress; it destroys the Red Cross, and thereby invites future shameful failure to relieve distress through quick and spontaneous public action; and it usurps the rights and duties of the States.

The refusal of the House to accept this amendment may result in a deadlock over an indispensable supply bill and thereby force an extra session. Nevertheless, the House should stand firm. Being primarily and peculiarly the guardian of the purse, the House can not afford to surrender its authority and shirk its responsibility.

POWER BOARD EMPLOYES.

In restoring William V. King to his position as chief accountant the Federal Power Commission has apparently acted upon his merits. Mr. King's ten years of experience in this position gave him a higher rating in the estimation of the commission than that of any of the other five applicants. In these circumstances the commission is justified in reappointing him, in spite of the furore that his dismissal aroused in the Senate.

At the same time the application of Charles A. Russell for reappointment as solicitor was denied. The commission has authority to choose its own subordinates, and it is exercising that authority without regard to the reactions on Capitol Hill.

While the commission was under fire it refused to act upon these applications. Its right to choose its own employes was supported by President Hoover in his rebuke to the Senate. Had the President bowed to this encroachment upon the executive authority discipline and responsibility within the commission would have been destroyed. The right of the commission to proceed with its administration of the law was fully established. The commission was then in a position to make appointments with the assurance that the men chosen would feel obligated to the commission only.

Throughout the controversy nothing was said to impugn the integrity or the competence of Mr. King. That was not the issue. The law called for a reorganization of the commission, and the controversy arose over the attempt of insurgent senators to intimidate the commission in making that reorganization. The commission has indicated that it will not be coerced in either appointing or dismissing its subordinates.

WIRE-TAPPING BY DRY AGENTS.

Upon the motion of Representative Schafer, of Wisconsin, the House expenditures committee has decided to hold an investigation of the wire-tapping proclivities of the Prohibition Bureau. A complaint from the Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone Co. led to the demand for the investigation. The company asserts that the Prohibition Bureau some time last fall agreed to cease tapping wires, but that since the agreement was reached prohibition agents have been apprehended attempting to listen-in on private wires and that on one occasion an agent approached an employe of the company, offering him $50 to tap a wire the following day. The company, said Representative Schafer, is placed in a most embarrassing position in connection with incidents of this sort, because prohibition agents "insist on tapping wires while the State law subjects the offender to as much as three years in jail and a fine of $1,000."

In hearings before the appropriations subcommittee a few weeks ago Prohibition Director Woodcock admitted that it was the practice of the bureau to tap wires when necessary and added that the Supreme Court had approved the practice. It is true that the Supreme Court recently ruled on a single aspect of wire-tapping, but only by stretching a point can the ruling be considered a condonation of the practice. The court was asked to rule upon the admissibility of evidence acquired over tapped wires. Such evidence, it ruled by a 5 to 4 majority, is admissible, but the mere fact that the evidence is admissible does not stand in the way of a State in prohibiting and penalizing wire-tapping. The Supreme Court held that wire-tappers might be held to account under the laws applying to the practice, even though the information they obtained illegally might be admitted as evidence.

Because 28 States have laws making it unlawful to tap wires, and because the practice is so repugnant to the American sense of honesty and fair play, it is well that an official investigation of the Prohibition Bureau's wire-tapping proclivities be held. In States having laws against snooping and eavesdropping by means of diverted telephone conversations it is not right that the Government should evade a law to which private individuals are amenable. In States where there are no such statutes it goes against the grain that the Government should stoop to such practices. If the proposed investigation should result in a congressional ban on the expenditure of appropriations for wire-tapping it would meet with public approval.

CHAOS IN THE HOUSE.

Rules under which the next House of Representatives will operate are to be revised. No longer will the House act with that mechanical efficiency which has so often put the Senate to shame. The rules committee is to be shorn of some of its powers, and with the disappearance of its authority will disappear the orderly transaction of business.

The so-called liberals of the House regard the decision of Republican leaders to revise the rules as a great victory. They threatened to block the reelection of Speaker Longworth and allow the Democrats to organize the House unless the rules were "liberalized." There is no indication, however, that this threat was taken seriously. Such a course would mean self-annihilation for these insurgents. It is not to be supposed that they would sacrifice committee chairmanships and appointments even for the satisfaction of betraying their party.

The Republican leaders have conceded a revision of rules because the present arrangement would be ineffective in the next Congress. Special rules can be used to advantage only when one party has a decisive majority. In the next Congress the House will be almost evenly divided between the two parties. The rules committee simply could not function. Political issues will make the voting so close that no set of rules nor any committee can save the House from chaos.

This sortie by the so-called liberal group is a move to introduce insurgency in the House. Representatives of some of the "backward" States have long been envious of the "sons of wild jackasses" in the Senate. Here is a chance for them to do a little bray-ing of their own. They have ambitions to organize a bloc that can embarrass their own party and enhance their own importance. But insurgency in the House with its 435 members is not so easy as it is in the Senate. If these members should join in an open revolt they would probably be ostracized by their own party and snubbed by the Democrats.

It remains to be seen how extensive the revision of parliamentary rules will be. It seems quite probable, however, that only minor changes will be made to suit the unusual political line-up in the next Congress. The controversy is interesting chiefly because of the inkling it gives of chaos in the next Congress.

STANLEY BALDWIN'S CHIVALRY.

Former Premier Stanley Baldwin admits that he is a martyr to the cause of British industry. He had a chance to sell while the market was high, but instead he "nailed his colors to the mast of the ship of British industry" and went down with it. The value of his shares in the iron trade depreciated from about $15 to a fraction of a dollar, and there is no chance of recovery. The Conservative leader announces to the world that he is "broke." But he relates the story of his undoing with a sense of pride.

Mr. Baldwin makes it a matter of chivalry. His family had been in the iron trade for many years, and he believes that many good people invested their money in it on the strength of his name. For this reason he gallantly decided to sustain the loss himself.

"It may have been bad business on my part," the former premier laments. Ah! Perhaps not good business, but what wonderful politics! Britain is down on her back. Every one has taken losses, and every one is sore about them. In the midst of this discouragement stands forth the great Conservative leader and admits that he is proud of having lost his money in British industry. Mr. Baldwin is a much better politician than business man.

Capitalists throughout the world have sustained losses during the recent depression, but few are astute enough to capitalize them in politics. How comforting to be able to turn depreciated iron shares into political capital at a time when Britain is crying out for a man to lead her out of this economic slough! Who is better qualified for this task than the man who has sunk his personal fortune in British iron? A Conservative leader whose patriotism has lowered him to the level of the common people! What need has a Mr. Baldwin for business sagacity when he is so richly endowed with political genius?

LOOKING TO 1932

By WILLIS J. ABBOT,
In the Christian Science Monitor.

To gain a true idea of the Hoover strength one must discuss him with men of business—not necessarily big business, but the men who have their own stake, even though small, in the country, and who know that in a conservative business administration lies its preservation and their prosperity. With this class Hoover's strength is unshaken. It looks upon the various senatorial attacks upon him as the devices of politicians to break down a strong and able public servant whom they can not control.

The fight over the nominees to the power board, for example, will be regarded more as a conspiracy to embarrass the President than as a struggle in defense of popular rights. For every anti-Hoover senator participated in it actively and volubly. The attack was less upon the so-called power trust than upon the President, and the vote showed every personal and political foe he possesses lined up behind the movement to recall the Senate's confirmation of his appointments. Among the promoters of this outburst there are many who would find political profit to themselves in the defeat of the Republican party in 1932. They know that the surest way to accomplish this defeat is to break down the President. Watch their action during the remainder of the short session.

Probably Mr. Raskob had no intent that his left hand should know what his right hand was dispensing in alms to the Democratic national committee, but the facts have become public. Today, or at any rate up to a few days ago, the committee owed Mr. Raskob $225,000 in addition to a debt of $402,500 to the County Trust Co., of New York, in which Mr. Raskob and Alfred E. Smith are said to be heavily interested. The lavish Washington headquarters, the liberal salaries, running into the tens of thousands—$21,000 for "Charley" Michelson, $27,000 for W. B. Hunt, brother-in-law of the chairman; $8,500 for Mrs. Nellie Ross—the costly publicity projects, all find their support in the generosity of the former Republican chairman of the finance committee of General Motors. Of $619,000 received by the committee last year all but $15,000 came from him.

He is apparently planning to "put over" a presidential nomination much as in the old days he put over a new model. It is a novel situation in politics. Perhaps the nearest approach to it was in Mark Hanna's domination of the Republican party in 1896. But "Uncle Mark" represented a great body—perhaps I might say the great body of men of affairs in those troublous times. Raskob has but a few close associates and comes near to playing a lone hand.

Things of this sort are not done for nothing in politics. Such powerful influence as Raskob has with the committee will primarily enable him to fix the place of the next convention. Be sure it will not go South nor very far West. It will give him a strong voice in the choice of the nominee. "Al" Smith is his close friend and business associate, but if "Al" shall be held unavailable watch out for Owen D. Young, of General Electric and Radio Corporation of America fame.

If the South and West want Franklin Roosevelt—and there are indications that they do—they will have to overcome the Raskob forces to get him. But one New York Democrat was nominated and elected despite the opposition of his own State. Roosevelt may prove the Grover Cleveland of today, but the Raskob power is greater than that of the Hills, Kellys and Cochrans who fought Cleveland.

Minneapolis Journal: In Philadelphia there is to be a contest between Samuel Brunner, an old style weather prophet, and George S. Bliss, the Government expert. For a month a newspaper will publish Brunner's prophecies, based on the goose bone, the ground hog, moss, the fur on chipmunks, the manner in which squirrels store nuts, &c., and alongside will run Bliss' official prognostications. Both forecasters will doubtless agree that we are having an unusual winter.

PLAIN MULE SENSE.

Old Beck, Cooper County mule, says the Kansas City Star, is perhaps the champion "persimmon knocker" of the world. At any rate, Old Beck's owner, H. V. Martin, of Boonville, Mo., is willing to match his eccentric animal against all comers.

This mule for the last few years has been backing up to persimmon trees and violently kicking them to knock the persimmons to the ground. He then whirls around, hunts the fruit in the grass and eats it. If his first heel blast against the tree fails to bring down the fruit he tries again and keeps it up until the lip twisters fall. Old Beck knows when persimmons are ripe, for he never makes a move until after heavy frosts.

JUST FOLKS

CHANGE.

Against the restless tide of change
Not long can much we build remain,
And soon or late we rearrange
Our lives to meet some powerful strain.

Unseen, unfelt the power goes on
Beneath the surface which we see,
Then suddenly from us is gone
What permanent we thought to be.

Out of old ways emerge the new,
Even against the will of man;
What yesterday we rose to do
No longer serves the modern plan.

Custom and habit break before
Life's irresistible command.
Who has been dead a year or more
Our speech would scarcely understand.

Though buildings fall and fortunes fade
As change another victory gains,
As 'twas since first the world was made,
The value of a man remains.

Still honored here and still will be
Through every change that time shall bring
That man who lives courageously,

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

Several times in the last week I have seen printed propaganda designed to convince the public that the only people who can have any fun are those who scorn religion, while the followers of the Nazarene are long-faced crepe-hangers and kill-joys who are taught to believe merriment sinful and gloom the greater part of virtue.

I suspect you read some of the same stuff, and I'm wondering what effect it has on you.

Have you learned to reject all printed statements that conflict with your own observation of the facts? If you haven't, you should learn quickly. Printed words are subtle, sly things that often make untruth seem true unless you stop to think.

You know from your own observation that religious people are neither happier nor unhappier than people of the same class who have little interest in religion.

Their happiness, or lack of it, is made by their degree of health and prosperity, their temperament, their friends and kinfolk and the influences that surround them.

Of course a clear conscience and self-respect are essential to happiness, but many religious people have neither and many nonreligious people have both.

I have known unhappy people made happy by religion, but I have never seen happy ones made unhappy by "getting religion."

True, there are in many communities sour and gloomy old people who are wrapped up in religion and outraged by the sight of young people having a good time; but it was Father Time that made them that way—not religion. If they had no religion at all, they would be old grouches still.

Nowhere can you find a word to indicate that He was a kill-joy. Instead of being gloomy, He was so much the opposite that His enemies criticized Him for it. "Because I eat and drink with my friends," He said, "they call me a glutton and a wine-bibber." His first recorded miracle was the making of wine for wedding guests who had consumed their host's supply. He loved children—which no grouch ever did—and He enjoyed company.

Don't let them fool you, dear. You must have some philosophy of life, and you can't find a better one than His.

You can follow His teachings and be as care-free and happy as anybody on earth. He didn't forbid a single thing that your conscience wouldn't forbid anyway. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

President and People.

Indianapolis News.

A distinguished senator once pointed out that in any controversy between the President and the Senate—or Congress as a whole—the advantage would be with the President. His theory was that it was easier for one man than for a body of men to lead—easier to be loyal to one man than to a body. It was argued further that in the popular mind—or at least to the popular imagination—the President stands as the visible representative of the government—of all the people.

Mr. Hoover no doubt was gratified at the support that came to him from the people in connection with his power commission appointments. He had the advantage of being in the right, as the great papers of the country pointed out, and he himself made clear in his statement. Public opinion, it has again been shown, is not manufactured in Washington, or by politicians. It issues from the people "back home," and it is a mighty power.

The Philippine Question.

Minneapolis Journal.

Elevation of Congressman Harold Knutson, of Minnesota, to the chairmanship of the important and powerful insular affairs committee of the House means acquiescence with the Northwest's demand for a vote on Philippine independence.

During the tariff battle last year, it was definitely established, through congressional and departmental attitude, that, because of colonial relationship, there can be no trade barriers erected between American island dependencies and the mainland. Decision as to this was a serious blow to proper protection for American farm products, especially Northwest dairy products.

Get Your Rain Check.

Detroit News.

Due to Congress' ineradicable weakness for extra sessions, it is thought the annual ball game between Republicans and Democrats this summer will easily run 24 innings.

An Ominous Outlook.

Atlanta Constitution.

The likelihood of an extra session of the new Congress, to be convened sometime next spring, becomes more likely every evening that the Senate of the United States adjourns, leaving a goose-egg stamped on its record.

Scarcely anything should be more obvious to the members of the present Congress than that the people do not want an extra session of the new Congress. It is normally due to get into action next December. In the meantime the conditions of business which affect the work and welfare of all the people demand as little legislative uncertainty as possible. If the people are to labor sanely and safely to readjust their economic relations and get themselves back to regular production and exchanges they must be freed from the menace of disturbing or demagogic legislation.

Adding Insult to Injury.

Brooklyn Citizen.

Mr. Frank R. Kent, of the Baltimore Sun, has added insult to injury in a reply to Mr. Raskob's letter, by insinuation, first, that Mr. Raskob employed a "ghost writer," and, second, that he is untruthful.

Mr. Kent claims to be a Democrat and adds a gratuitous insult by saying that his family were Democrats in Maryland before Mr. Raskob's ancestors ever knew that there was such a State or Democratic party.

Donkey-Elephant Hybrids.

Boston Transcript.

Some of those Western senators who have tried to bolster up their phillid, sickly strain of Republicanism with transfusions from the veins of a lusty, long-eared Democracy can hardly complain if nobody recognizes them as Republicans.

Making It Fireproof.

Los Angeles Times.

Al Smith is listed and Heflin omitted from British "Who's Who." Publishers probably were trying to avoid the possibility of "spontaneous combustion."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

States Should Get Busy With Relief Measures—What Are the Governors Doing?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As an interested spectator from the gallery it has been my privilege to listen to the numerous speeches on the floor of the Senate with reference to the $15,000,000 food relief amendment, from which this body, as a matter of expediency, was forced to recede.

That every argument advanced in behalf of the unfortunate drought sufferers, by both Democrats and Republicans alike, had the veriest ring of sincerity no one will deny. That even the coldest heart, ordinarily, would turn a deaf ear to such an appeal is unthinkable.

However, eliminating the hysteria and looking at the matter solely from a viewpoint of common sense, is it right that the Federal Government should be the first appealed to for aid, when apparently the political subdivisions of government in the affected areas are sitting supinely by with an air of complacency that almost tempts one to doubt the seriousness of the situation?

Where are the Legislatures of these States? Where are their governors? It seems to me that if I were governor, and my people were suffering for the sheer necessities of life and no other course was open, I would call a special session of the Legislature and appropriate funds for their relief even though I had to resort to special bonds. Then, and only then, should the situation get beyond the resources of the State and its ability to provide relief, would I appeal, and feel that I had a constitutional right to appeal, to the Federal Government for aid.

CLOD HOPPER.

Dog Lover Urges Lovers of Animals to Protect Dogs From Vivisection.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have just signed and returned the petition sent by the Vivisection Investigation League for the dog exemption bill. I urge all animal lovers and humans with any sense of decency and Christian kindliness to do the same.

One finds in man all the vices, in the man's dog and his horse all his virtues. When a man kills, he does it for pleasure; an animal kills only for food, or for self-defense. With the exception of my immediate family and a few—a very few—trusted human friends, the companion in whom I find nothing but devotion, courage, loyalty and everlasting unselfishness, sympathy and undying faith is my little old dog. Where a place is suitable for the master, it is suitable for his dog. I always like people with whom a dog makes friends—an animal recognizes evil; that is why most animals fear man.

Man has enough accounts to square with life right now, so he should not add to his unrighteous wage by tormenting helpless creatures weaker than himself. For every act of brutality man commits, he pays here and hereafter. A. GEARY JOHNSON.

Virginia Democrat Can't See High Crime in Mr. Raskob's Financial Support of Party.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: According to the press reports, another great Democrat has joined hands with such notable Democrats as Josephus Daniels and Senators Simmons and Heflin, in the person of Mr. Frank Kent, of the Baltimore Sun, in demanding the resignation of Mr. Raskob as chairman of the Democratic party. Mr. Kent's argument for dismissal is based on the unusual premise that Mr. Raskob contributes too freely to the party's cause and otherwise gives it too much financial aid.

Since there are not many Democrats who can be accused of this high offense just now, Mr. Kent's idea will in all probability be adopted by the party leaders. If, however, Mr. Kent has any reason why Mr. Raskob should be replaced, certainly what he has said thus far on the subject does not contain it, because the very thing for which he condemns the Democratic chairman has heretofore been considered as a great asset to either of the two great parties.

It is my view that if Mr. Raskob is to be condemned on the grounds advanced by Mr. Kent, then the Democratic party, and not Mr. Kent, should promulgate some rules on regulations, in which good Democrats will be defined in terms so clear that we lesser laymen of that party may have no more delusions.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT.

Better Not Split Hairs, But Come Right Out for a Strong Navy.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now that discussion of the disarmament question has simmered down for the time being, it strikes me that much clever reasoning may have been wasted by those who contend for a big enough Navy. This may be so on account of the argumentation allurements presented by the Root-formula spider's web.

Notwithstanding the care with which we thought to whiff the web into the air, it still entangles a well-meaning body of churchmen as well as college professors, parlor pacifists, and other doctrinaires. After all, in the effort to convince straight-thinking, common-sense citizens, perhaps the best bet is a plain, bald statement that the United States is entitled to a strong enough Navy and is determined to have it.

The point I make was well illustrated in remarks by Senator Kenneth McKellar at a recent banquet of Washington Chapter No. 3 of the National Sojourners, in the course of which he expressed the opinion that the United States Navy should be put in such shape that in the interest of world peace it can "make other nations deal with us instead of our having to deal with them."

"The only time the United States has lost a naval battle was in 1922 and 1930 when the diplomacy of Great Britain sank more ships than we have ever lost in war," said the senator. PARKER WILLIAMS.

ELECTORAL CHANGES PROPOSED IN BRITAIN

New Voting Plan Called Price MacDonald Pays for Liberal Support.

LABOR OFFERS MEASURE

London, Jan. 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The most drastic changes in the British electoral system since the reform act of 1832 are proposed in a bill sponsored by the Labor government, the text of which was published today and which will be introduced in Parliament when it resumes sessions at the end of this month.

Proportional representation, for which the Liberal party has long fought, is provided for by introduction of the alternative voting system in the new legislation, which is generally regarded as the price the MacDonald government has paid for continued Liberal support in Parliament. Under this system when there are more than two candidates for a seat in Parliament the voter may indicate a second choice as well as a first choice. Any candidate receiving an absolute majority of first-preference votes will be elected. If there is no such absolute majority the candidate receiving the smallest number of first preference votes would be automatically eliminated. The second preference votes indicated on ballots cast for eliminated candidates would then be added to the first-preference totals of the two remaining candidates. The candidate whose total thus reached the highest figure would be elected.

Jury Finds Publisher M. A. McRae's Will Valid

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A circuit court jury late today held valid the will of the late Col. Milton A. McRae, millionaire publisher, thus ending trial of the suit brought by Lindsay McRae to break the testament.

Judge Ormond P. Hunt had instructed the jury that he would set aside its verdict unless it upheld the will.

Renaldo, Film Actor, Faces Deportation

Los Angeles, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Duncan Renaldo, Roumanian sailor, who scaled the heights of film fame to the leading role in the picture "Trader Horn," was arrested today on a Federal charge of illegal entry into the United States.

He gave his age as 27 and said his real name was Basil Couyancs. A deportation hearing will be held in two weeks.

Famous Names Found On De Priest Petition

Chicago, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Some one is certainly snickering up a sleeve somewhere. It turns out that Alexander the Great and Cleopatra are about the only persons of importance who were not signatories to the petition that put Oscar De Priest, Chicago's Negro representative, in the Republican lists for mayor.

Even his foes were for him, it appeared.

Arbitration Efforts Fail; Owners Say Men Must Double Work.

Manchester, Eng., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Government arbitration efforts in the Lancashire cotton dispute failed tonight and tomorrow 250,000 weavers will be out of work. Officials of the ministry of labor conferred ten hours today with representatives of the weavers and mill owners, separately and in a joint meeting, but all for nothing.

The owners insisted on their demand that the weavers tend eight looms each instead of four and the weavers were adamant in their decision not to accept the new system, which they contended would throw many men out of work.

The conference finally broke up and notices were posted that the lockout would begin tomorrow morning. Thus, on the same day that the South Wales mining industry formally ends its great stoppage at Cardiff and sends 150,000 men back to work, the Lancashire cotton industry enters an even greater tieup.

AGREEMENT ON INDIA VIRTUALLY REACHED

RIOUTOUS DAY IN BOMBAY

London, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—India's dream of self-government appeared much nearer realization today as the round table conference began its final plenary session than when King George inaugurated the negotiations nine weeks ago.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, with the declaration that "a substantial measure of agreement has been arrived at on the main ground plan," for framing a federal constitution for India, formally opened the plenary session at St. James' Palace. Cheers greeted his proposal for continuation without interruption of the work started in London.

The round table sessions will end Monday after Mr. MacDonald has proclaimed the British government's policy, and the delegates, numbering nearly 100, will leave for India.

There they will face the grave task of gaining the support of Indian radical extremists, such as Mahatma Gandhi and his congress party, for the work has been done in London.

Many Wounded in Bombay.

Bombay, India, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Defiant Indians affiliated with Mahatma Gandhi's congress party today gave Bombay one of the most anxious periods it has had in many months. Two hundred and fifty of them were sent to hospitals after street fights with police and soldiers.

They had tried to establish a complete "hartal," or general cessation of all work, but 5,000 policemen and 500 British soldiers mobilized at strategic points prevented the hartal from reaching its intended proportions."

Gunfire in Suburb.

A series of riots in the industrial suburb of Lalbagh resulted in gunfire. Two Indians were wounded when police fired into a mob which refused to disperse. Most of the other casuals had received minor injuries when the police charged the crowds with their lathis, or sticks.

The demonstration was a protest against the recent execution of four Indians convicted of killing a policeman in a riot at Sholapur last spring. It was the most serious of a series of riots which has continued since the condemned men were hanged.

Publishers Open Virginia Meeting

Southern Editorial Institute and Press Association in Convention.

Lexington, Va., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Editors and publishers from several Southern States attended the opening session here this morning of the first Southern Editorial Institute and the winter meeting of the Virginia Press Association. The meeting will continue through tomorrow.

John Edward Allen, editor of the Linotype News, New York, and Franklin M. Reck, managing editor of the American Boy, were among the speakers at the morning session.

M. E. Siecman, of the American Bankers Association, New York, and Maj. L. D. Carson, of Philadelphia, spoke this afternoon.

Former Delaware Official Dies.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Thomas Newton Rawlins, 72, former State treasurer of Delaware, died last night in his winter home here. He was prominent in educational and political circles in Delaware. He served four years as State treasurer and for several years taught in a New Jersey seminary.

tivities of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Church South.

The Virginian made no comment in offering the resolution, but told newspaper men off the floor they could "use their imagination" regarding its purpose. Bishop Cannon administered the funds for the anti-Smith committee in Virginia in the 1928 election.

Describing himself as a "political orphan" and not identified with any faction in Pennsylvania, Senator Davis said he was indorsed by organized labor throughout the State, together with agricultural, patriotic and other societies whose membership ran into the hundreds of thousands.

"These men do not vote for money," he said. "Neither can their votes be purchased."

He said nearly 20,000 candidates were dependent upon the support of the Republican organization.

"Of course," he added, "such a contest resulted in the expenditure of quite a sum of money, but it is utterly unjust to charge me with the responsibility for the expenditure of such a sum.

"My life has been an open book. There is no page in it I have any fear in opening. I have never been charged with corruption or dishonesty in my life."

Davis said he "admonished every one with whom I came in contact that I would not stand for any improper, extravagant or unlawful use of money."

James B. Drew, of Pittsburgh, who was elected to the State Superior Court on the same ticket with Davis, and Edward Martin, of Washington, Pa., Republican State chairman, testified Davis was a popular candidate and that the only fight was centered on the Brown-Pinchot race for Governor which split the Republican organization.

"Nine-tenths of the money spent was directly spent in order to nominate Brown," said Judge Drew. "Davis needed no advertising."

Martin also said it was "entirely improper" to charge the entire expenditure to Davis' cause.

Panama Inducts Ricardo Alfaro

Panama City, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—Ricardo Joaquin Alfaro, former Minister of Panama to the United States, was inaugurated president of the Republic late today in the presence of government officials, diplomats and the members of the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Manuel Herrera administered the oath.

After the ceremony President Alfaro addressed a huge throng, pledging himself to carry on the patriotic work initiated by the Accion Communal, the organization which began, on January 2, the revolt that ended in the overthrow of the Arosemena regime.

Alfaro had arrived earlier in the day from Washington. At Colon, where he disembarked, a crowd cheered him. When he arrived at Panama City, thousands shouted "Viva Alfaro." As the procession moved up the central avenue, black with people over its entire length, there was continual applause.

"There have been charges made throughout the country that these big bakers have built up a combine through which they can control the price of bread," Senator Capper said. "It has been said, and it seems to be true, that they have been pretty successful in holding up the price of bread. The Senate committee charged with responsibility for this inquiry certainly shall look into these charges."

The investigation will be conducted by a subcommittee of the Senate agriculture committee. Senator Capper is chairman of the subcommittee, other members of which include Senator Lynn J. Frazier (Republican), of North Dakota; Senator John G. Townsend, jr. (Republican), of Delaware; Senator John B. Kendrick (Democrat), of Wyoming, and Senator Elmer Thomas (Democrat), of Oklahoma.

POST OFFERS BOOK PRIZES FOR IDEAS

Helpful Letters Are Invited on What Women Want to Read on This Page.

MILK'S VALUE IN DIET

Letters expressing pleasure from women who won prizes in the scrambled recipes contest are being received by the home economics editor and are an indication of the interest aroused by the contests.

The home economics editor is anxious to learn just what the women readers of The Washington Post would like to see on this page. Do you want food items only or would you like the scope of the page extended to include timely facts and hints on homemaking in general? The Washington Post wants to make this page truly helpful to the homemaker in every way possible.

Write a letter to the home economics editor, The Washington Post, giving your suggestions for this page. For the four best and most helpful letters received by February 1 book prizes will be awarded to the women sending in these letters. Be sure not to make your letters of suggestions more than 500 words long, write in ink only on one side of the paper, and sign each letter with your full name, address and tell how long you have been a constant reader of The Washington Post.

Frank Letters Wanted.

Do not hesitate to write frankly about what you think should be on a home economics or a food page in a daily newspaper. Such information will be a guide to the editors of The Washington Post and assist them in their aim of meeting the wishes of the thousands of women readers of The Washington Post.

The Bureau of Home Economics, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is doing its utmost to cooperate with the women's division of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment.

The chief of that bureau, Dr. Louise Stanley, a noted home economist, said yesterday that milk is the safest foundation upon which to build an adequate low-cost diet.

It excels almost all other foods in the variety and quality of materials that it furnishes the body, continued Dr. Stanley, and it has an additional advantage in the fact that it is suitable for persons of all ages.

Acting upon Dr. Stanley's advice, the use of milk was chosen as the mainstay of the low cost food guide issued by the bureau yesterday in cooperation with the President's Emergency Committee for Employment. The bureau recommended seven quarts of fresh, whole milk a week for every child less than 2 years old, at least a pint a day for older children, and from one to two quarts a week for adults.

Family Milk Food Guide.

The following family food guide was also released to the public by the bureau:

Every meal—Milk for children, bread for all.

Every day—Cereal in porridge or puddings. Potatoes. Tomatoes (or oranges) for children. A green or yellow vegetable. A fruit or additional vegetable.

Two to four times a week—Tomatoes for all. Dried beans and peas or peanuts. Eggs (especially for children). Lean meat, fish or poultry, or cheese.

Because of local market conditions and the present economic situation many families are unable to buy this quantity of fresh milk, but Dr. Stanley says that canned unsweetened milk or powered milk may be substituted in equivalent proportions. Either of these may be used in cooking, made into cocoa, or mixed with water for drinking.

Both whole milk and skim milk are on the market in powder form, varying in price with the size of the package. "At present," says Dr. Stanley, "neither one is commonly sold in local stores, but they can be bought by the barrel. Relief organizations throughout the country can offset this lack of supplies at retail, by handling powdered milk for the families that need them, buying in bulk for the community. Most bakery, ice cream and confectionery supply companies carry dry skim milk in stock and it usually can be purchased through them.

If purchased in 200-pound barrels the cost of milk is reduced to 3 cents a quart. Whenever skim milk is substituted entirely for whole milk every member of the family should take one to two ounces of cod liver oil a week. This is essential in order to supply the body with vitamins A and D, which control normal growth and prevent rickets. Vitamin A is necessary for the normal nutrition of the tissues in order to prevent infection. This vitamin is sometimes called the anti-infective vitamin.

Whole Grains Important.

"In the committee's food guide, in which the quantities of milk, vegetables, fruits and lean meats are close to the minimum, it is important—for the sake of iron—that at least one-third of the cereal should be a whole-grain product. When white flour is used it is best to mix a pound of wheat germ or the same quantity of rice polishings with the weekly allowance for the sake of some of the vitamins removed in the milling."

Here again the committee requests the emergency relief organizations to buy these two products in bulk for their communities. As a rule wheat germ and rice polishings are obtainable only in stores near flour and rice mills. Recipes for their use will be sent on request by the Bureau of Home Economics, of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Families in the far South are urged to plant, immediately, as much of their own food supply as they can. Spinach, lettuce, early cabbage and garden peas can be planted throughout the winter. More explicit information on what to plant and when to plant it may be obtained from the agricultural colleges in each State.

The woman's division of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment, of which Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth is chairman, asks for volunteers among the trained home economics workers to assist in this program of low cost feeding. Names should be sent to Dr. Gilbreth's headquarters in the Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D. C. The committee solicits their aid in bringing about better local adjustments between the needs and the supplies of foods and in preventing drastic cuts in food consumption by the persons who now must reduce their living expenses.

For a family of seven, including the father, mother and five children, should buy every week:

Flour and cereal (1½ lbs. bread equals 1 lb. cereal), 25 to 30 lbs.; whole fresh milk, 30 to 40 quarts, or canned unsweetened milk, 15 to 20 tall cans; potatoes, 21 to 28 lbs.; dried beans, peas, peanut butter, 1 to 3 lbs.; canned tomatoes, 4 to 5 No. 3 cans; other vegetables (including some of green or yellow color), and inexpensive fruits, 20 to 25 lbs.; fats, such as lard, salt pork, bacon, margarine, butter, etc., 4 lbs.; sugar and molasses, 5 to 7 lbs.; lean meat, fish, cheese, eggs (1½ dozen eggs approximates 1 lb.), 7 to 10 lbs.; eggs (for children), 8 eggs; coffee, 1 lb.; tea, ¼ lb.

COOKING MUST KEEP FLAVOR OF OYSTER

Bivalves, Now in Prime, Give Pleasant Variety to Daily Menu.

TESTED RECIPES TOLD

Oysters are in their prime, just now. For palates jaded with the rich dishes of the yuletide they offer pleasant variety to the menu.

The epicure takes his oysters raw or cooked with equal zest provided the natural flavors have been preserved and not overshadowed by dressings or other ingredients.

The oyster as an article of diet belongs to any month with an "R" in it, according to the old culinary tradition. From the waters of Norfolk and Chesapeake Bay the famous species of bivalves are brought to the tables of Washington housewives.

Oysters—Scalloped.

1 quart oysters
2 cups crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
Cayenne
6 tablespoons butter
¾ cup liquid

Wash oysters with three-quarters cup cold water in colander and remove pieces of shell. Strain the juice. Melt butter, add crumbs and seasoning. Line the bottom of a greased baking dish with one-quarter the crumbs then add one-half the oysters. Add one-quarter more crumbs and remainder of oysters and liquid, which may be liquid from oysters or milk. Cover with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 40 minutes. A large shallow pan is always preferable to a deep baking pan, as there should be only two layers of oysters.

Oyster Stew.

1 quart oysters
1 quart milk
¼ cup butter
½ tablespoon salt
⅛ tablespoon pepper

Clean the oysters by placing in colander and pouring over them three-quarters cup cold water. Pick over carefully, removing any bits of shell that may adhere. Reserve liquid, heat to boiling point, strain through double cheesecloth over wire strainer. Add oysters, cook until edges begin to curl. Add oysters and liquor to hot, scalded milk; add butter and seasoning. Serve at once.

Paprika, celery salt, onion juice, parsley or mace may be used as additional seasoning, if desired.

For oyster soup, thicken the milk, using one-half teaspoon flour for each cup of milk. Prepare as for white sauce.

RECIPES OFFERED BY POST'S READER

FROM FLORIDA WOMAN

Tea Muffins.

2 eggs.
1 cup milk.
¼ cup melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons sugar.
2 teaspoons baking powder.

Beat egg yolks light. Add to them the milk, the melted butter and the salt, sugar and flour sifted together, stirring the while. Beat until smooth, then cut in the stiffly beaten egg whites, and last of all the baking powder. Fill well-greased muffin pans, or rings, two-thirds full and bake in a quick oven from fifteen to twenty minutes. Serve hot on a hot plate, covering the muffins with a napkin.

French Rolls.

1 egg.
½ teaspoon salt.
4 cups flour.
½ yeast cake.
1 tablespoon sugar.
2 level tablespoons shortening.

Beat the egg well, add to it the salt and the lukewarm milk. Sift the flour, cut in the shortening. Rub yeast with a spoon until it is liquid, mix sugar with it, rub together, then add to egg-milk mixture and pour into flour. Mix into dough and knead for about twenty minutes—about three minutes mixing in a bread mixer. Let rise for three hours. Mold into rolls (turnover shapes are nicest) and let rise again half an hour. Brush tops of rolls with melted butter and bake in a quick oven.

Chocolate Brownies.

1 cup butter.
2 cups chopped nutmeats.
3 squares chocolate.
3 eggs.
1½ cups flour.
2 teaspoons vanilla.

Beat the eggs light. Cream the butter and sugar well together. Add the eggs, pour in the chocolate, melted, then add flour, flavoring and nutmeats—walnuts make the finest flavor. Drop on well-greased pan by teaspoonfuls placing brownies well apart to allow for spreading. Cook in moderate oven about 10 minutes. Let stand in pans a few minutes when done to harden before taking them out.

Nut Raisin Rolls.

2 cups flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 level teaspoon baking powder.
About ¾ cup ice cold water.
½ cup shortening.
1 cup nutmeats.
1 cup raisins.
Butter, spices.

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together, cut in the shortening, and mix to dough with the water, adding cautiously until firm dough is made. Roll out into very thin sheet; butter the sheet of dough, sprinkle it with nutmeg and cinnamon (ground), scatter nuts and raisins over dough, then roll it together, cut into small segments and bake in a moderate oven.

Cranberry Mold.

2 cups water.

Boil cranberries with water until berries stop popping. Strain through fine sieve; add sugar, and stir; then boil rapidly for 8 to 10 minutes, or until a drop jells on a cold plate. Turn at once into a wet mold and cool.

SHOULDER OF PORK MAKES GOOD ROAST

SPECIALIST GUIDES COOK

The "picnic shoulder" is one of the nicest cuts of fresh pork, and it is usually less expensive than the loin. It is often stuffed for roasting, the stuffing taking the place of the bones which the butcher removes when the meat is bought. In a new meat leaflet, "Pork in Preferred Ways," specialists of the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture tell how to cook a stuffed shoulder roast, among numerous delicious ways of preparing pork.

The meat should be skinned and trimmed after the bones are removed. Wipe it with a damp cloth. Lay the boned shoulder fat side down, and carefully cut a few gashes in the parts where the meat is thickest, so that it will hold more stuffing. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Make a savory stuffing of the ingredients suggested below, and pile some of it into the cavity while hot. Begin to sew the edges of the shoulder together to form a pocket, and gradually work in the rest of the stuffing, not packing it, but putting in lightly as much as the shoulder will hold.

The quantity given in the recipe will be right for a 3 or 4 pound shoulder. Rub the outside of the stuffed shoulder with salt, pepper and flour. Place the roast on a rack in an open pan, without water. Sear the meat for 30 minutes, or until lightly browned, in a hot oven (480 degrees F.). Then reduce the oven temperature rapidly to very moderate heat (300 to 325 degrees F.), and continue roasting at this temperature until the meat is tender. A 4-pound shoulder will require about 3½ hours to cook at these oven temperatures.

Savory Stuffing.

2 cups fine dry bread crumbs.
¼ cup chopped celery.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.
1 tablespoon chopped onion.
⅛ teaspoon celery.
¼ teaspoon savory.
¾ teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Melt the butter in a skillet, add the celery, onion and parsley, and cook for a few minutes. Then add the bread crumbs and other seasonings and stir until well mixed and hot.

Crowded Days Lightened By Planning Meals Ahead

Now that bridge clubs, charity organization activities, matinees and winter sports are in full fling, the pilot of the maidless household must plan her duties to fit into her crowded midwinter program.

The secret of her success lies in planning her meals a week in advance, with the thought of the quickest meal for her busiest day.

In planning your menus, there are staples that you can not afford to be without. It is always a time saver and a mental comfort to have a shelf heavy with canned fruits, vegetables, milk, soups, fish, meats, nut pastes and condiments.

The canning industry today has placed a new premium on health, and made it possible for even the most isolated housewife to balance the family meals with proteins, the energy foods, minerals and the important vitamins.

It is a cream soup you have planned for Tuesday luncheon, you have merely to check your supplies to see that you have a canned soup and evaporated milk. If it is to be codfish a la mode for Friday checks for a can of codfish and more evaporated milk. And so on throughout the week that seems long and is crowded.

Balanced Dinner Menu.

Fruit Cocktail.
Cream of Celery Soup.
Codfish a la Mode.
Escalloped Tomatoes.
Cole Slaw.
Brown Bread. Butter. Honey.
Floating Island. Cookies.

Cream of Celery Soup.

2 cups sliced celery.
2 cups water.
1 tablespoonful butter.
1 tablespoonful flour.
1 teaspoonful salt.
2 cups boiling water.
2 cups evaporated milk.
Pepper.
1 egg.

Cook celery in water until tender. Drain. Put celery through a food chopper and return to liquid. Prepare a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, boiling water and milk. Add celery. Season with pepper, and cook over hot water 10 minutes. Beat egg and add to soup, stirring vigorously. Cook 2 minutes longer. Serve at once. Yield, six servings.

Codfish a la Mode.

2 cups mashed potatoes.
½ cup evaporated milk.
1 egg.
2 tablespoonfuls butter.
Salt.
Pepper.

Mix all ingredients and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.), 15 to 30 minutes. A little onion or minced parsley may be added for additional flavor. Yield, six servings.

Floating Island.

1 cup water.
3 eggs.
½ cup sugar.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon almond extract.
¼ teaspoon lemon extract.
2 tablespoons currant or plum jelly.

Heat milk and water in top of double boiler to scalding point. Beat one yolk and two whole eggs until foamy. Add sugar and salt. Pour the scalded milk over eggs, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook over hot water, stirring continuously. When the mixture coats a spoon remove from fire and add flavoring. Pour into custard cups. Over top spread meringue made from the white of the one egg and 2 tablespoons sugar. Brown quickly in a hot oven. Put ½ tablespoon jelly on top of each cup. Chill thoroughly before serving. Yield: Four servings.

Chocolate Nut Cookies.

½ cup fat (half butter).
1 egg.
2 squares bitter chocolate.
2 cups pastry flour.
½ teaspoon soda.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ cup evaporated milk.
¾ cup chopped nuts.

Cream sugar and fat thoroughly; add egg and continue creaming until smooth and fluffy. Stir in chocolate that has been melted over hot water and cool slightly. Sift the flour with the soda and salt twice and add alternately with the milk to the creamed mixture until well blended. Add the nuts and vanilla the last few stirs. Drop by the spoonful onto oiled tins. Bake in a hot oven (375 degrees F.). Yield: Forty-two cookies.

Holiday Cleaning Value Is Stressed

Double-Partitioned Pail Is Urged as Invaluable Sanitary Aid.

The place to begin after holiday cleaning is obvious—those sticky smears on the woodwork and furniture. Be thorough and go over all the doors and window frames, the sills, the baseboards, and the surface of the doors. Have two basins—or use that new partitioned pail. One side is for soapsuds and the other for rinsing water. Change both waters frequently. Wash a small area at a time, rinse off with a cloth wrung from clear water and dry thoroughly with a clean soft cloth.

But above all, don't forget the refrigerator. Keeping it clean is always important to the health of the family, and the extra stock of goodies crowded within its four walls makes the regular weekly scrubbing even more necessary than usual.

Take out everything now and discard the leftovers that can not be used. Wash every corner thoroughly with lukewarm water and soap. Hot water raises the temperature. Pay particular attention to anything that has spilled. The shelves and gratings should be taken out and immersed in hot suds. Wash out the drain pile and wash the outside surface.

Cauldron Tomatoes Cooked 15 Minutes

Cut a slice from eight ripe tomatoes, and scoop out the centers. Sprinkle inside with salt. Boil one-cup rice and drain. Make a white sauce of four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour and two cups milk, add one-third cup grated cheese, and stir till melted. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Break the contents of one 3½-ounce can of sardines into small pieces, and add; then combine the sauce with the rice. Fill the tomatoes with this mixture, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake in a hot oven for about fifteen minutes.

Doughnut Recipe Calls for Yeast

Value of Element Stressed in Preparation of Dough.

For a good many people, doughnuts "like mother used to make" are always yeast-raised doughnuts, which have a somewhat different texture from those made with baking power. As in making any yeast breads or cakes, several hours must be allowed between the first mixing and each of the two rising periods. The recipe is from the Bureau of Home Economics.

1 egg.
1½ teaspoons salt.
¾ cup sugar.
2 tablespoons butter.
¾ teaspoon nutmeg.
1 yeast cake.
3½ to 4 cups sifted soft-wheat flour.

Scald the milk, add the butter, and when lukewarm add the yeast and sugar. Stir in 1½ cups flour. Allow the sponge to stand in a warm place until very light. Add the beaten egg and the rest of the flour, which has been sifted with the salt and nutmeg. Knead, until thoroughly mixed. The dough should be softer than a bread dough. Cover and set in a warm place to rise. When light, roll from ½ to ¾ inch thick on a lightly-floured board, cut with a doughnut cutter, cover, and set in a warm place until almost double in bulk.

Heat the fat in a heavy kettle to the temperature between 380 degrees F. to 340 degrees F. Put in the doughnuts with the raised side of the doughnuts down in the fat, and turn when brown on the underside. These doughnuts should be cooked through in 3 or 4 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar while hot.

MYSTERY—
who cooked the dinner?

A CORDIAL host, a charming hostess, a delightful dinner. But who cooked it? Not a servant . . . there aren't any. Not the host, certainly. And as for the hostess . . . she's been to a matinee all afternoon.

Not such a mystery after all! It can all be traced back to the little dial on the Electric Range in this wise lady's kitchen. Before she left for the afternoon, you see, she adjusted it so that cooking heat and cooking speed were just right for perfect results, put her dinner in the oven . . . and walked out. That's the magic of the Electric Range. It prepares perfect meals while you're far from the kitchen.

Electric cookery is the clean, carefree modern method. Another reduction in the cost of "Matchless Service" for operating your electric range, makes its economy even greater than ever before. Your neighborhood electrical dealer will gladly tell you more about this superior cooking method.

as nourishing as meat

There simply isn't any food more healthful—more nourishing—than Mueller's Macaroni. Made from farina—the heart of the wheat—it contains all the body-building, growth-promoting, energizing elements that are to be had in meat. But Mueller's Macaroni is easily digestible. It is tasty, too—so delicious that every member of the family will appreciate it. Ask your grocer for Mueller's. He has it or can get it for you.

American housewives often overcook macaroni products. Follow the directions on the Mueller package and boil for 9 minutes, though 1 or 2 minutes more may be allowed for extra tenderness.

Dinner Guests In Big Demand By Hostesses

Functions Are Crowding One Another During Season's Height.

NOW that the official season is well under way, Washington hostesses find much rivalry for dinner guests. Invitations must be issued weeks in advance if the hostess wishes to procure the chosen ones for her party. Dates conflict and those invited have to draw firm rules for themselves to accept the first invitation received, though their preference may be for the second to arrive. Last evening there were three important dinners given for and by members of the Diplomatic Corps.

The Charge d'Affaires of Egypt and Mme. Ali Ismail Bey entertained at dinner when the ranking guests were the Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Eric Louw. The other guests were the Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Seymour Lowman, the Solicitor of the State Department and Mrs. Green H. Hackworth, Representative and Mrs. L. C. Dyer, Representative and Mrs. Fred Purnell, Representative and Mrs. Charles A. Eaton, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, the Counselor of the Spanish Embassy, Count de Montefuerte; Mr. Wallace Murray, Chief of the Near East Division of the State Department and Mrs. Murray, the Naval Attache of the French Embassy and Mme. Duban, and Mr. Mohamed Waguih Rostom, second secretary of the legation.

The German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron were the honor guests at the dinner given last evening by Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom. Their other guests were the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Katsuji Debuchi, Mme. Debuchi being absent because of illness; the Minister of the Irish Free State, Mr. Michael MacWhite; Mrs. Guy D. Goff, wife of Senator Goff; Senator Robert F. Wagner, Representative and Mrs. John Q. Tilson, Representative and Mrs. Andrew J. Montague, Representative A. Piatt Andrew; the Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, Mrs. Percival McCeney Werlick, who was formerly Miss Gladys Hinckley, and has recently returned to Washington for a visit from Warsaw, Poland, where Mr. Werlick is stationed at the American Embassy; Mrs. Joseph E. Washington and Miss Vera Bloom.

Among the first formal entertainments for the new Argentine Ambassador and Senora de Malbran was the dinner which Lieut. Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim gave last evening in their honor. Their guests included the Military Attache for Aeronautics of the French Embassy and Mme. Georges Thenault, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Bride, Maj. and Mrs. John M. McDowell, U. S. A.; Lieut. Col. Marco Pennaroli, Military Attache of the Italian Embassy, and Miss Virginia Lawrence.

President Entertains For Mr. Ellsworth.

President Hoover entertained a small company of men at luncheon yesterday at the White House in honor of Mr. Lincoln Ellsworth, to whom he presented the Congressional Medal beforehand. Mr. Ellsworth flew over the North Pole with Amundsen.

Mrs. William N. Doak will accompany her husband, the Secretary of Labor, on a trip to New England next week, when the latter will make a speech before the legislative committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Boston Thursday.

The Secretary and Mrs. Doak will then go to New York for the luncheon to be given at the Hotel Pennsylvania on Saturday by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures before which the Secretary is scheduled to make an address.

Correspondents to Entertain President Hoover.

President Hoover will be the honor guest of the White House Correspondents' Association at dinner at the Willard, Saturday, February 21.

The Polish Ambassador, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz, accompanied by the First Secretary of the Embassy, Mr. Victor Podoski, and the Commercial Counselor, Mr. Witold Wankowicz, will go to Philadelphia today. They will return the beginning of the week.

Mme. Paul Claudel, wife of the French Ambassador, has issued invitations for a dance on Saturday, February 14, at the Embassy.

The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara will return to Washington today, after passing several weeks in Cuba. They will be accompanied by the latter's sister, Senora de la Torre, and Senorita Josephine Mencia.

Mrs. Georges Jean His, who was called to her home at Chestnut Hill, Mass., will return on Wednesday to continue her interrupted visit to her parents, Representative and Mrs Charles Aubrey Eaton, of Bellevue.

Mr. and Mrs. James Marion Johnston, who were married in November, have returned from a trip South, and are at the Hay-Adams for the winter.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Brittan Clark, of Tryon, N. C., have arrived at the Powhatan for a short visit.

All-States Ball Attracts Residents of Many Places

Dance Medley of Sectional Songs of Groups in Capital Is Broadcast; Chairman Speaks on Purposes of Central Organization.

Songs of the West mingled with songs of the South, and voices of the East blended with those of the North at the All-States ball last night at the Shoreham Hotel.

Every State in the Union was represented, and young and old circled the beautiful ballroom to music that brought back memories to the silver-haired and thrilled the members of the younger generation.

Toward midnight, when the ball was in full swing, the orchestra played a dance medley made up of the State songs of the States represented in the District by societies. This music was broadcast over station WJSV. During an intermission in the dancing, Robert H. McNeill, chairman in charge of the ball, spoke over the radio on the purposes and objects of the All-States Society.

The All-States Society, he explained, is made up of the officers and past officers of all the State societies in the District of Columbia, and its object, he said, is to keep alive the devotion that should exist between the members of one State and another—regardless of how far apart they are situated.

Representative Jeff Busby, of Mississippi, headed a floor committee, which received the guests as they passed through the ornate lobby into the ballroom gleaming under the chandeliers.

Plane Held Need In Alaska Travel

C. P. Sisson Tells Bar Such Craft Are Regarded as of Normal Use.

Alaska is solving its transportation problems by the use of airplanes, and flying in the territory is almost considered the normal means of travel, Charles P. Sisson, Assistant Attorney General, who recently returned from a trip there, told members of the Federal Bar Association last night.

With one highway of 370 miles, at times impassable, and one railroad, inhabitants were forced to either use the planes or the rivers for travel, he said. He told of many instances where planes had been used in saving human life by rescuing injured persons in remote places.

There is little chance that the bill, backed by the Bar Association, providing Saturday half-holidays for Federal employes throughout the year will be reported at this session of Congress, the legislative committee reported.

Bill to Acquire Site For U. S. Office Pushed

Acquisition of the square bounded by First and Second streets, B and C streets northeast, as a site for a new business to house the office of the comptroller general, was provided for in a general bill introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Richard N. Elliott (Republican), Indiana, chairman of the House committee on public buildings and grounds.

Natives Indorse Woman for Judge

Etta L. Taggart Gets Backing for Juvenile Court; Old Marts Discussed.

Miss Etta L. Taggart, an attorney, was indorsed for the judgeship of the Juvenile Court last night, at a meeting held by the Society of Natives of the District of Columbia, at the Washington Club, Seventeenth and K streets northwest. Miss Taggart is a member of the organization.

Talks on old markets throughout the city were given by James F. Duhamel and Washington Topham, both discussing the old buildings which since have been replaced with newer structures. Others on the program were Mrs. Pearl Hauer, Caroline S. S. Reece, Miss Lena Parks, Mrs. William T. Reed and Fritz Hauer. Mrs. Ella C Robinson was chairman of the entertainment committee.

Plans were made for a dance to be given at the Washington Club, February 20.

Adamses Head Receiving Line At Navy Dance

Ingalls Gives Dinner to Secretary Preceding Function.

One of the gayest of January dances was the third of the series of Navy and Marine Corps dances at the Willard last evening when a large company was in attendance.

Preceding the dance the Assistant Secretary of Navy and Mrs. David S. Ingalls entertained at dinner for the Secretary of Navy and Mrs. Adams. The other guests were Admiral and Mrs. William V. Pratt, Rear Admiral and Mrs. William A. Moffett, Rear Admiral and Mrs. William D. Leahy, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Harry E. Yarnell and Rear Admiral and Mrs. Frank B. Upham.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. John Halligan had as their guests at dinner before the dance, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Yancy Williams, Commander and Mrs. John Bowers, of Annapolis; Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Baisley, Capt. and Mrs. Henry Williams, Capt. and Mrs. S. C. Hooper, Mrs. Hamilton Gale, of Annapolis, and her son, Mr. Hamilton Gale, and Mrs. Charles Adair, daughter of the hosts.

Maj. and Mrs. Puryear, jr., entertained at dinner preceding the dance, when their guests were: Gen. and Mrs. Hugh Matthews, Maj. and Mrs. Archie Howard, Capt. and Mrs. M. E. Higgins and Capt. and Mrs. Ollie Hine.

Others who entertained at dinner parties before the dance were: Rear Admiral and Mrs. A. Farenholt, Commander and Mrs. C. S. Gillette and Mrs. A. E. Remey.

The Friday Evening Dancing Class held another of the series of interesting dances last evening at the Willard. Many groups formed informal dinner parties before the dancing.

Senator Arthur Capper was host to a company of 30 before the dance. Mrs. Ollie James also entertained at dinner, as did Col. and Mrs. Edward Clifford and Col. and Mrs. Henry W. Morrow.

Mrs. Royal S. Copeland, wife of Senator Copeland, was among those who entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton. Mrs. Mable Walker Willebrandt also entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton.

Mrs. W. Morgan Churchman, of Philadelphia, is spending the week with Mrs. Henry Price Wright.

Stewarts Are Planning To Winter in South.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stewart are passing some time at the Hotel Pierre in New York before going South for the remainder of the winter. Mrs. Stewart entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, who is passing a few weeks in New York from her home in Paris.

Lieut. Gen. and Mrs. Edgar Jadwin are passing some time at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City. Mrs. Leauer Richardson is also there for a short stay.

Col. Wade H. Cooper is spending the week-end in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit S. Miller, jr., will leave Washington next Saturday for a visit in New York, prior to sailing for Jamaica, where they will remain until May.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins Beck are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on January 9. She has been named Margaret Houghton. Mr. Beck is the assistant to the Secretary of State.

Mr. Calvin M. Hitch, Consul General of the United States, accompanied by Mrs. Hitch, returned last week from Switzerland, where Mr. Hitch has been representing this country as Consul General. They will remain in Washington for several weeks and then go to Venezeula to Mr. Hitch's new appointment as consul in that country. They are making their home at the Cavalier.

Mrs. Rust Smith Hostess To Her Daughters.

Mrs. Rust Smith will entertain a company at the dinner dance at the Shoreham Hotel this evening in compliment to Miss Caroline Rust and Miss Elizabeth Rust, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David Newton Rust, of Alexandria, Va.

Mrs. Julius G. Lay, wife of the American Minister to Honduras, has arrived at the St. Regis, in New York, from Washington, for a short visit.

Two Concerts Planned for Walter Reed

Stars in Opera and Roxie Coming; Mrs Lewis, Chairman.

At a meeting yesterday in Red Cross House at Walter Reed Hospital, Mrs. Reeve Lewis was named chairman of the general committee which will sponsor two concerts to be given at Constitution Hall on February 5.

These performances will be given in the afternoon and evening by Roxey and his gang and several stars of the Metropolitan Opera, all of whom will come from New York to give their services that day for the benefit of the fund of the Memorial Chapel under construction at Walter Reed Hospital.

This nonsectarian chapel is of national interest and will be a perpetual memorial to all who have served and made the supreme sacrifice. It is sponsored by the Gray Ladies of the Red Cross Volunteer Service on duty at Walter Reed Hospital.

Among the Gray Ladies present at the meting were Mrs. James J. Davis, Mrs. Guy Despard Goff, Mrs. Peter Jay, Mrs. G. Thomas Dunlop, Mrs. Eldridge Jordan, Mrs. Lester Wilson, Miss Ida Young, Miss Mary Louise Johnson, Miss Mary Donnelly and Mrs. Arthur G. Lambert.

Mrs. Charles J. Williamson entertained at luncheon yesterday at Wardman Park Hotel, in compliment to Mrs. L. W. Southgate. The guests numbered 35.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Melcher, of Englewood, N. J., are spending the week-end with the Assistant Postmaster General and Mrs. W. Irving Glover. Mrs. Melcher is Mrs. Glover's sister.

Because of the continued illness of Mrs. Snyder, the United States marshal and Mrs. Edgar C. Snyder and their daughter, Mrs. Edward Hood Watson, will not be at home again until Saturday afternoon, January 31, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Betty Bull will entertain at a bridge party this afternoon at her home in honor of Miss Katherine Kingman, whose marriage to Lieut. Frederick Weber will take place January 27, and the bridesmaids who will attend her on that date.

On January 25 Miss Bull will give a buffet supper for Miss Kingman and Lieut. Weber, when the other guests will be members of the bridal party. Miss Elizabeth Copeland, of Hartford, Conn., will be the week-end house guest of Miss Bull.

Mr. George Atcheson, jr., American Consul at Tientsin, China, will also be at the Powhatan while in Washington. Mr. Atcheson has recently visited his father in Denver, Colo.

New York Artist Makes Home Here

Mrs. Masters Stone Has Bought House in Georgetown.

Washington is continually receiving people of talent and note from other cities, and now it welcomes Mrs. Masters Stone, of New York, who has recently come here to make her home. Mrs. Stone, who is a sculptor of note, has taken a studio in the Studio Apartments at 2633 Fifteenth street, where she is living until renovations on her home in Georgetown at 1611 Twenty-ninth street are completed.

Mrs. Stone is the sister of Edwin Masters, well-known poet and writer. For many years she passed her summers at Bar Harbor, where she made many friends living in Washington. On her way north in the spring, from Florida, Mrs. Stone frequently passed short times with these friends, and has now decided to make her home in the Capital.

At present Mrs. Stone is beginning a bust of Lincoln for a memorial in Illinois. She will use as her models the famous Lincoln death mask and several authentic pictures. Many years ago a young girl of 16, Vinnie Ream, had the honor of "doing" a bust of Lincoln from life, this during the years of his Presidency. The bust is now in the rotunda of the Capitol.

Mrs. Eugene Byrnes will not receive tomorrow afternoon, owing to illness.

Mrs. George Xavier McLanahan sailed yesterday on the Aquitania for England. Mrs. McLanahan is now living in New Haven. For many years she maintained a residence in Washington.

Hospital Will Get $700,000 Bequest

Marburg Sets Up Trust Fund Which Will Go to Johns Hopkins.

Baltimore, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A gift of $700,000 which eventually will go to Johns Hopkins Hospital was revealed today in the will of William A. Marburg, former vice president of the American Tobacco Co., which was filed for probate in orphans court. The will disposed of an estate estimated at $2,100,000.

The $700,000 was left in a trust fund, to go to Johns Hopkins upon the death of the last surviving child of Theodore Marburg, former Minister to Belgium and brother of William Marburg.

Another trust of $50,000 for his sister, Emma Marburg, was to go to the hospital upon her death. Special charity bequests of $87,500 were made in the will. Mr. Marburg died last week.

Ritchie Will Speak On Radio Hook-Up

Maryland Governor to Be Heard in Six-Minute Talk January 25.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie has accepted an invitation to give a six-minute talk over a coast-to-coast hook-up of the National Broadcasting Co. the night of January 25.

The governor's second venture into Nation-wide broadcasting will be sponsored by a magazine which gives a program every Sunday over the WJZ chain. The subject of his talk, the governor said last night, will be announced next week.

His address at his fourth inauguration Wednesday was broadcast over a country-wide hook-up.

A "SINGING" and "talking" radio pillow for use in hospitals and sleeping cars has just been developed. The radio pillow is of regulation hospital size, and is made of specially selected sponge rubber, in which a sensitive radio reproducing unit is concealed. It is so constructed that although the sound permeates the pillow, it cannot be heard except by resting the head on the pillow. The RCA radio pillow was designed especially for use in hospitals to replace ordinary earphones, which become irksome and chafe when worn for any length of time. The loudspeaker is often impracticable, too, because the radio programs may be disturbing to other patients.

The pillow, according to its sponsors, may be sterilized like an ordinary pillow, and the pillow cases changed at will. The patient lies in a natural reclining or sitting-up position to hear the radio programs. A connecting cord of ample length is plugged into the centralized radio receiving system.

The 135 students of music in the conservatory of Oberlin College, Ohio, will broadcast this evening over the Columbia network (WMAL, 11 p. m.). The Men's Glee Club, the Women's Glee Club, the Marching Band, the Concert Band and the orchestra will participate.

LISTENERS may hear history repeat itself at the Press Club tonight, when Speaker Nicholas Longworth, champion of the Baldheads in the famous Baldheads vs. Whiskers debate, puts Representative John Garner in his place as to who owns the Speaker's automobile.

Likewise, those at their comfortable fireside may tune in on the inaugural ceremonies when Eugene S. Leggett, of the Detroit Free Press, succeeds Norman W. Baxter, of The Washington Post, as president of the club (WRC, 8:30 p. m.).

Also Mr. Longworth once did a Fritzkreisler for the Press Club, which is surprising enterprising broadcasters have not tried to get him to repeat.

Imigration, as it affects the employment situation in this country, will be discussed by William N. Doak, Secretary of Labor, tonight (WMAL, 9:30 p. m.).

The Rudolf Schramm ensemble will continue their travel series with a program of characteristic Irish selections (WRC, 6:15 p. m.).

THE Radio Commission faced about in over-ruling Examiner Elmer W. Pratt's recommendation to put the Socialist station, WEVD, of New York, a memorial to the late Eugene V. Debs, off the air. Doubtless the commission figures it has enough troubles with high-power claimants without mixing with a political party, particularly one which could make as much trouble for it as the Socialists could if they went on the warpath.

The commission, incidentally, has rather strikingly shown its independence of the newly created examiners' division in several instances.

Ipana Troubadours, another pioneer air program, has signed off permanently. Like Eveready, which quit recently, Ipana had been on the air about seven years.

There is talk of the National Broadcasting Company buying station KYW, in Chicago, from the Westinghouse people.

MISS FRANCES ELLIOTT, on duty in the reception room at WABC, in New York, answered her phone one Sunday to hear an eager feminine voice on the wire.

"Today," explained the caller, "is my little girl's birthday, and I would like to play 'Baby's Birthday Party' for her at 3 o'clock."

"I'm sorry," Miss Elliott consoled, "but at 3 o'clock Toscanini and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra are on the air."

Dare Interprets the MODE

Paris, Jan. 16.

A SCREEN here, a screen there—not too many, just enough. That's the Dare scheme for the day—in screen language.

And we make 'em! For screens are so useful, and so decorative. You know, that draft that just has to come in the open window? And you can't open the window, for that so necessary fresh air. So what do you do—what? You make a screen. Or what about that reading that you simply have to do at night—when hubby yelps about the light and you have twin beds—well, a screen!

And other things—that bare corner, and a Chinese screen—or that lovely vase that has to have a background to enhance its loveliness. Anywhere and everywhere—and then a screen can fold and be put out of sight when you don't want it.

Yes, we are screeney today—so would you be if you were trying to write an intelligent article and a lot of assorted people were making w-w-whoopee in the other room!

* * * *

And all I started out to really tell you was that there is a swell leaflet in the Dare department of The Washington Post on how to make lovely screens of—guess? Wallpaper! Yes, we gobbed up the place and found out a lot of things not to do—and then we told you all the things to do—and the result is—screens. And the directions for making them. Doesn't that sound like a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to us for the leaflet? It should!

* * * *

Last Chance.

This is the last chance to achieve firmly curving lines in an easy way, without exercise. There are some of this week's leaflets left to tell you how to make a dainty light brassiere that is nevertheless almost miraculously helpful to weakened muscles. Stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department, of The Washington Post, that is all.

* * * *

'N' then the lovely Lady went out and supplied herself with the very latest in evening handkerchiefs, all 18 inches large, and beautiful—and expensive! 'N' then at her next party she saw the deadly "rivull" with a hankie that was 24 inches, so she borrowed on her allowance and bought those—'n' the very next thing you know she saw all her friends with 54-inch hankies held nonchalantly in the crook of their arms, and trailing gracefully as they danced. Poor lovely lady! For what is a girl to do——?

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Second Wives.

DEAR Frances McDonald: Please help a distracted mother. I have just one child, a beautiful and clever girl of 24. We have been inseparable companions since she was 12 years old. I believed I had her entire confidence, but to my great hurt and grief she has been seeing a man much older than herself and wants to marry him. I partly blame myself, as she met him through me.

She never had a lover of her own age and I feel sure that if she marries this man she will be sure to meet a younger man afterward and be unhappy all the rest of her life. We have never had a difference of opinion before, but there is great bitterness between us now on this subject.

To make matters more serious, he is a widower, and you know what second wives have to endure. Nothing but comparisons and criticisms of their best efforts. I do not want her to marry this man and will do anything to prevent it. I went to a distant city and called upon his first wife's people, but they were very closemouthed and had little to say beyond the fact that he had a right to marry if he wished and that he always did his duty. In fact, they were anything but helpful.

I have forbidden him to see her, but she has told me that they have no idea of considering my wishes. He is 38 and she is 24. Would you be kind enough to write something about second wives and what they go through? She always reads your column before she eats, and will see whatever you say.

Mother: Well, mother, here is one time when you and this column will not be in accord, for we fail to see what is wrong with this match. The girl has never enjoyed the usual companionships of youth, due to your demands upon her. Now, accustomed to the company of older people she has chosen an older man for life. One hundred per cent natural. The chance of her ever finding a man of her age even companionable is much less devastating is just about nil. So that answers your bright and cheery predictions of everlasting regrets. And as for what second wives "have to go through." They usually go through what the first wives saved.

Second wives are invariably pampered and happy. Widowers make first-rate husbands—and how well we know! And last, but not least, girls who have no sweethearts and are the inseparable companions of their mothers usually die disappointed old maids. We are for this marriage—as you may have gleaned—and we only hope your daughter will forgive you for that officious visit to her future husband's relatives. How could you put such a strain upon her affection for you? If she forgives you, make a good, strong resolution to keep out of their affairs from now on. Wish the girl happiness and otherwise act as a real mother should.

Fried Chicken Maryland (Serving 6).

2 chickens (3½ pounds)
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon celery salt
2 eggs
3 tablespoons cold water
2½ cups rolled cracker or bread crumbs
½ cup fat
3 tablespoons butter

Carefully wash and clean chickens and cut into serving pieces. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and celery salt. Roll in crumbs, then in eggs which have been beaten with the water. Roll again in crumbs. Heat fat and butter in frying pan. When hot add chicken. Brown well and cover. Cook slowly until chicken is very tender. Place on serving platter and surround with gravy. There will be plenty of chicken, leftover, for serving next day.

Chocolate Washington Pie.

1½ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 egg
2-3 cup milk
3 tablespoons fat, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix ingredients. Beat for 2 minutes. Pour into shallow, greased pan and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Split and add filling.

Filling.

½ cup sugar
4 tablespoons flour
1 square chocolate, melted
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend sugar and flour. Add all the rest of ingredients, excepting vanilla. Cook until creamy. Use as filling. Spread top of "pie" with whipped cream and serve at once.

When buying lids for pans and kettles, be sure to see that they fit evenly on the top when placed on the pans.

Chocolate Gives Tang To Plain Bread Pudding

You can elevate a plain bread pudding from its usual humble status by adding a little chocolate, and serving it with plain or whipped cream. It is good either hot or cold. The directions for making it are from the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

¾ cup sugar.
1 quart milk.
½ teaspoon salt.
2 cups dry bread crumbs.
2 eggs.

Melt the chocolate in the double boiler, add milk, sugar, salt and bread crumbs. Beat the eggs, add the hot mixture and the vanilla, pour into a greased baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about one hour, or until the pudding is firm in the center. Serve hot with plain or whipped cream.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me what to do to make my Christmas cactus bloom. It grows most beautifully in the summer, but the minute it comes into the house in the fall it ceases to grow. Buds form, but they refuse to expand and finally they fall and the leaves soon follow.

Z. M. B.

The Christmas cactus, like all members of this family, enjoys a somewhat sandy soil, though this variety will do better in a soil in which a little bonemeal is present. Except when in flower it does not tolerate much water. When not blooming water it three times a week. When developing buds water it every day except in dull weather, when you must give it much less. The buds are apt to drop off if given too much water on cloudy days.

Please tell me how to start and grow narcissus bulbs in the house.

MRS. GEORGE A. T.

Narcissus bulbs may be grown in soil, fiber or water and pebbles. The latter is the easiest and I think the most attractive way to grow them. Place the bulbs in the dish and surround them with pebbles in such a way that each one stands erect. Then fill the dish with water so the rooting end of the bulb comes in direct contact with the water. Never use so much water that the bulb is covered. The sprouting end must always be above the water. Set the dish in a dark, cool place until a good root system has been established. This usually takes three weeks. Then bring the dish to a warm, sunny window and add water as the original amount evaporates.

Last year I read in your column that if an Easter lily was given sufficient rest and later planted in the garden it would bloom in the late summer. I followed your advice and planted a healthy bulb. As a result, instead of a lily the bulb sent up some green foliage, unlike lily foliage, and the blue flowers like the ones I am inclosing. It has borne profusely, but I wanted lilies, not these nondescript blossoms. Is this a normal procedure? MARION W.

For some reason, which, of course, I can not explain, your lily failed to sprout and likely died. The foliage and blue flowers are from a weed and have no connection with your lily bulb.

Please tell me why the leaves of my rose geranium turn yellow.

JANE R.

Too much water, too much fertilizer or too much root room may be reasons for the condition of the leaf you inclosed. Geraniums do best when watered only every other day, when kept a trifle potbound and when given no fertilizer.

Please tell me the best kind of soil to use for growing a calla lily; also a reliable variety of bulb to purchase. HANNAH K. L.

The calla prefers a rich soil and is benefited while growing by a dressing of well-decayed manure. The Godfrey, producing as it does a great number of flowers, is the best sort to grow.

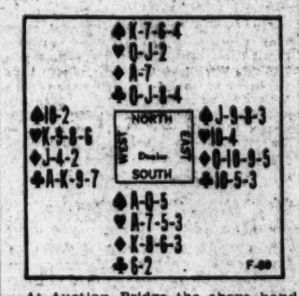
WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)



At Auction Bridge the above hand would be played with South the Declarer and a contract of one No Trump.

At Contract Bridge South's contract would be three No Trumps; he would bid one originally and North would jump to three.

In the play West would lead his fourth best Club (the Seven) and dummy should play the Jack so as to hold the trick if the Club lead was from Ace-King, which, in view of the size of the Club that West led, would seem quite probable. When the Jack of Clubs won, the Declarer would be in position to count additional tricks as follows: Three Spades, two Hearts and two Diamonds. One more trick would be needed. Possibly the Spades will prove to be evenly divided and dummy's thirteenth Spade will be the game-making trick; but if that be the case, it can always be made and if the Spades are unevenly divided, as is probable, trying to run them will establish unnecessarily an adverse Spade. A better scheme would be to try to make the extra trick in Hearts, which will be easy if the adverse Hearts break evenly. Of course an even division of the six adverse Hearts is not to be expected, any more than it is in Spades; but there is an even chance that the King of Hearts will be in the West hand, so dummy should lead a Spade to trick 2, and closed hand should win it and lead a small Heart.

If West permits dummy's Heart to win, South should be put in again with a Spade to lead another small Heart. Note the difference in result if North leads the Queen of Hearts and South tries to finesse. When holding Queen-Jack in one hand and Ace in the other, but not Ten in either, the best play is to lead a small card toward the Queen-Jack.

Painting Kitchen Floors.
(Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce.)

A kitchen floor should have three coats of paint and the wood should be free dry and free from dust before the paint is applied. The first coat should consist of white lead in linseed oil, with a little drier; the second coat of equal parts of white lead and zinc white in oil, coloring matter as desired, and drier and turpentine to give a flat finish; and the third coat of the same materials as the second, except that instead of turpentine, floor varnish should be added in the proportion of one to four pints to a gallon of paint. Each coat of paint should be thoroughly brushed into the wood, lengthwise of the grain, and allowed ample time to dry. If desired, a coating of equal parts turpentine and linseed oil may be rubbed on with a soft cloth after the last coat of paint has dried thoroughly, and the floor then polished with a woolen cloth. This gives a soft lustrous finish and makes the paint wear longer.

The Life Story of Gen. Wood

By HERMANN HAGEDORN

CHAPTER XIV.

"Problems here are great and difficult," Gen. Wood wrote Roosevelt on April 20 from Havana. "The only thing to do is to go ahead when you think yourself right and trust to being justified in what you do."

Disturbing rumors, it happened, had come to him regarding his director of posts, an Ohio politician named Estes G. Rathbone, who had come to Cuba with Brooke. These rumors took shape in definite revelations of defalcations in his office and padded expense accounts. Great quantities of surcharged stamps which Rathbone had ostensibly ordered burned had been burned only on the books, and had actually been sold, and all the records of the finance department for the preceding year had disappeared.

"The appearances are that there is a ring in the postal department," Wood wrote Root. "It is a most regrettable state of affairs, and more so at this time, but the only chance to free ourselves of blame is to smash the offenders without regard to who they are."

The scandal caused great excitement in the United States. There was, in fact, something heinous about it, something that lifted it out of the class of political graft to which the American public was accustomed, and set it apart upon an eminence of peculiar infamy. The American people held Cuba in trust for its own stricken and ignorant children, and an American had betrayed the trust.

Enemies Start Roaring.

The click of the 30 pieces of silver rang through the bitter business. It was precisely the sort of thing that the enemies of the administration in Congress and in the press had been waiting for, and they roared with indignation. Republican politicians were aghast, and those who knew something of the inner workings of the Postoffice Department in Washington went pale and scurried hither and thither to keep the scandal at all hazards from spreading.

Root supported Wood without wavering.

"I want you to scrape to the bone, no matter whose nerves are hurt by it," he wrote. "The first essential of administration in this island is that we shall be perfectly honest with ourselves."

After the first days of consternation, the Republicans discovered that Wood's swift action had done them a service.

"The stealings under Rathbone, and possibly by him," Senator Platt, of Connecticut, wrote Wood, "have only been relieved from working a great deal of disaster politically by the fact that they were discovered and exposed by you, and the people have confidence that you will follow them up and will not tolerate any irregularities anywhere."

Press Praises Wood.

Havana was full of enemies of the administration trying to nose out further scandals. They did not get far, for Wood was more assiduous than they. The public in the United States sensed this: from one end of the country to the other the press sang his praises.

Some of the Republican leaders played with the idea of removing the discomforting issue from the campaign by making a hero of their enfant terrible, and nominating him for Vice President.

Wood did not take the idea seriously. Besides, his former lieutenant colonel clearly had the field.

After the initial sensations, the scandal caused less commotion in Cuba, it happened, than in the United States. Corruption in high places had been so customary in Cuba under the Spanish regime that it had ceased to be news. Men shrugged their shoulders and said, "Of course."

"The Spaniards stole everything," remarked the wife of an official whom Wood had deposed, "and now the Americans are stealing everything. My husband is for independence. Of course, the Cubans will steal, but then the money will stay in the country."

But at last even the cynics met the vigor of Wood's prosecution with a kind of bewildered admiration.

Wood's problems included the establishment of an educational system, fiscal reform, intricate negotiations with the Catholic Church regarding marriage laws and church property, and, late and early, the training of the Cubans in self-government.

His days were rich and full. They began at 5:30, as a rule, and ended well after midnight. At 6 in the morning he was generally on the jai alai court with McCoy and some of his other aids. The game, which is a sublimation of rackets, is played in a huge rectangular court and is generally regarded as one of the swiftest and most exhausting of games.

"Inaction Always a Mistake."

As a rule he received the heads of the administrative departments every morning, settling with a decisive word a hundred details of the day's work. His capacity for going straight to the point was one of his outstanding characteristics. He felt none of the embarrassment, moreover, which men of cloistered lives feel in the presence of the god of consequences. Action, right or wrong, seemed to him always preferable to inaction; and generally less dangerous. When a subordinate came to him questioning a plan regarding the revenues which Bliss had evolved, Wood said: "You may be right, Bliss' plan may prove a mistake. But the present arrangement is certainly a mistake, and to do nothing is always a mistake. I think we had better try Bliss' plan."

He based his actions at times on uncanny flashes of insight. When a band of mountaineers collected arms and made certain threats, he sent for the leader, told him he assumed they were short of rations and said he would send some, and ammunition to boot, if they needed it; and the trouble instantly evaporated.

Visitors felt his intense personal interest in their problems and expanded under its warmth.

An Army officers, after an interview, exclaimed: "I came out of that room feeling that Gen. Wood was the greatest man in the world and that I was the next greatest."

The Cuban intellectuals, made cynical by long experience, were on the lookout for guile and made up their minds that Wood had his touch of Machiavelli. To American observers Wood did not seem circuitous or subterranean. He was, indeed, frank to the point of indiscretion in expressing his opinions of men and events, and the wonder was how seldom his candor was betrayed. For there were powerful forces in Havana waiting to take advantage of the slightest slip.

Rathbone was their focus, with his friend, Senator Hanna, looming behind him, breathing vengeance; butRuncie appeared to be their chief counselor. The cafes seethed with gossip, bitter and malicious.

The work was very heavy. Wood himself occasionally worked all night long, and it was no unusual sight for his clerks to see him after a brief nap returning to his office in his pajamas. His own interest in the job communicated itself to the clerks and the stenographers, and his great adventure became their great adventure also.

Attitude Personally Fresh.

For all concerned it was a lively experience; always something to do; nothing spectacular, no playing for the limelight, but an engrossing cause, a thousand stirring or amusing incidents and no end of quiet drama for those with eyes to see it. Wood managed to keep his attitude toward his task perennially fresh.

He had the restorative art of making business itself, at intervals, provide his recreation.

He sailed, he rode horseback, he boxed, he took fencing lessons. His desire to keep his body in trim amounted to almost an obsession. "If I can't get any other chance to exercise," he told Grace Mimms, of Boston, who was in Havana that summer to help Frye bring his school teachers north, "I get into pajamas and jump up and down in my room."

A good circulation, indeed, made for balance. "Wood was practically the only one of the American officers in Cuba," Grebie said afterward, "who did not lose his temper. He had a very cool head."

"He was always very cool and steady when he was in a tight place," remarked McCoy. "But when the crisis was over he blew off steam."

Late in 1900 Wood issued a call for the election of delegates to a convention to frame a constitution for the future Cuban republic. Anti-American agitators declared that the call was merely a sop to "anti-imperialists" in the presidential campaign in the United States, and when he started on a trip through the provinces declared that he was merely trying to evade the tumult at Havana.

But Wood was not intending to be devilish clever. He recognized his own responsibilities in the crisis and traveled over the island to tell the leaders of all parties, as he wrote Root, that they must not trifle with the constitutional convention and that if they sent "a lot of political jumping jacks" as delegates they must not expect their work to be taken seriously.

Everywhere he was enthusiastically welcomed, and everywhere he pleaded with the leaders, regardless of party, to send to the convention men of broad intelligence, able not only to construct the fundamental law of the new republic, but to grapple with the intricate question of the relations which were to exist between that republic and the United States.

Calls for Best Men.

At Santiago he spoke with deep feeling:

"I am here as your friend, and in no other capacity * * * Whatever the ultimate destiny of Cuba may be, its immediate future is independence. This is no political move on the part of the United States, but a sincere desire to do what is right. Therefore, I beg you as a personal favor to me and to the United States Government to sink your political differences and passions and to send men to the convention who are renowned for honor and capacity, so that the convention may mean more than the Cubans even now anticipate.

"Again, I say, send the best men. The work before your representatives is largely legal work. I care not what your party politics are; for the present party considerations must be suspended for the sake of the great end in view, the end that will make history and affect the welfare of all Cuban people. * * *

"You want liberty for all and for no particular party. The United States insist that you shall have it. This is possible and easily possible. We have said it to the world. It lies with you to help us make good our word. Your enemies predict failure. The people of the United States and their representatives hope to see you defeat these predictions. If we were not your friends, we would not seek the best men you have, but would seek the disturber and the malcontent to represent you in the convention. We seek and demand the best you have. Again I say, send people to the convention who will hereafter make your political system workable and permanent."

He viewed the result of the elections philosophically.

"I am disappointed in the composition of the convention in one way and satisfied in another," he wrote Root late in September. "I hoped they would send their very best men. They have done so in many instances, but they have also sent some of the worst agitators and political rascals in Cuba.

What was most significant about the election was that only 30 per cent of the qualified voters had cast their ballots. For all the haranguing, the adjurations, the righteous indignation of the professional politicians, the bulk of the people appeared to be content with things as they were.

"The sum and substance of the whole thing," Wood wrote Root, "is that the people of the island are today enjoying more liberty than they have ever had before and they are not, as a body, anxious to take another leap in the dark."

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

Avoiding "Don'ts."

Even after we know there are better ways of managing a child than to tell him constantly, "Don't do this" and "Don't do that," we find ourselves forbidding and punishing much more than is necessary.

A three-year-old found a hammer and was pounding happily on the floor when his mother snatched it out of his hand, crying:

"How many times have I told you not to touch that hammer? See what you have done to the floor, and you might hurt yourself very badly, too!"

Crayons and pencils are taken away because walls are marked up. Scissors are removed from small hands because they are dangerous, and mother's best table cover has been the subject of experiment with disastrous results.

If we are to take from a child everything which he might misuse, we would have to put far too many things out of reach, and deprive him of entirely legitimate and desirable experience.

If the toddler has taken to pounding floors and chairs with his hammer, let him have a block of wood to pound instead. He may hurt himself a few times, but not seriously.

If he has taken to marking up the premises with his crayons, give him large sheets of paper upon which he may scribble without damage to anything and with great satisfaction to himself.

The scissors in mother's work basket may indeed be unsuitable playthings, but he should have a pair of his own with round ends, and plenty of paper and magazines to cut.

Directing a child's energies into proper channels avoids a good deal of nagging and unhappiness, while it helps instead of hindering his development.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

"Eunice Gompers" means "Happy-Victory Famous-Battle." "Thomas Bond" means "Twin Farmer."

Although the family name "Smith" generally denotes an original occupation (blacksmith, goldsmith, &c.), it not infrequently has other sources which are not generally suspected. There is evidence that in many cases it has absorbed the names "Smeath" and "Smeeth," although these last two names have often retained their identity, and are still rather common. "Smeath" and "Smeeth" are derived from the Old English adjective "smethe," meaning "smooth," "plain" and "level." They were first given to persons who lived at a plain or level field, and, in some cases, they were applied as nicknames to "smooth" (bald) persons, and to persons with "smooth" (suave) manners. The commonest sources of "Smith" by translation from other languages are the German "Schmidt," the French "Fevre" and "Lefevre," and the Celtic "Mac an Ghobhann." There is a popular belief that the spellings "Smyth" and "Smythe" are the result of modern affectation. This is not exactly the case, because such spellings are the common ones in all early English records. However, it goes without saying that the spellings with "y" do not at all indicate a more aristocratic ancestry.

The family name "MacGowan" (also written "MacGowen," "Magowan," "Gowen," &c.) is of Celtic origin. It is generally the modern form of the Irish "Mac an Ghobhann," which means "the son of the smith." Many Irish families who originally bore this name have now adopted the translated form "Smith." This is especially true in the south of Ireland. It follows, therefore, that most MacGowans and Magowans are from the north.

The family name "Schaffner" is of German origin. It means "the steward" and "the administrator," and denotes an original occupation or office.

Hollywood Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY.

Hollywood.—The average age of stars of the present era of motion pictures is higher than it was—say, two or three years ago when the silents were supposedly at their best.

OTIS SKINNER

The main reason is that talkies demand seasoned troupers, players capable of delivering lines convincingly. It may be, too, that the public does not care to learn much more about modern youth, exploited as it was in so many latter-day silents.

The stars' average age today probably is between 35 and 40 years. In silent pictures it was estimated to be some years less than 30.

With such "young old-timers" as Otis Skinner, George Arliss, Marie Dressler, Will Rogers and others past the 50 mark starring today, the age average is considerably advanced.

It is brought up, too, by silent picture favorites who still manage somehow to hold their former positions. Among these are Pickford, Fairbanks, Barthelmess, Swanson, Lloyd and Chaplin, who started 'way back when and aren't getting any younger.

Twins Abound.

There is no dearth of twins in Hollywood.

That was discovered when a half-dozen twins of various ages were sought for the picturization of Charles G. Norris' "Seed," which will star John Boles.

The story takes a pair of twins up through childhood until they are grown. Six pairs of twins who not only looked like twins, but resembled each other, were needed. Tall twins and short ones, girl twins and boys, twins 1 year old and twins of 20, answered the call.

Casting office lists reveal that 30 sets of twins are registered for work in pictures—and, of course, another couple is being born every few days.

"Chasing" Since 1904.

Going back in movie history: The movie chase, so important to film comedy for many years, and still good for an occasional laugh, was first presented in full bloom by the Biograph Company in 1904.

What Today Means to You

"CAPRICORN."

If January 17 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Astrological influences from early morn to sunset on January 17 will be of a disturbing nature. Your turbulence of mind, however, will be cooled by contemplative winds during the late hours of the day, and you will probably go to sleep in peace. A shock may make you "take a tumble" to conditions to which you have been blind hitherto.

The child born on this January 17 will reveal a promising character. It will be dependable, a conscientious worker and student, and a thoughtful little companion. It will have an eye for business, and will be almost stingy with its money. It will have little enthusiasm for sports or athletics.

If you are a January 17 person, you have a very independent nature. As a child, you were wilful and contrary and as an adult you have lost little of your stubborness. You have the strength of character, moral and mental courage, to walk with devils and angels. In nearly all circumstances, you seem supremely sure of yourself—you have triumphed over nervousness and fear. You love the limelight, you like to be noticed and appreciated. You quickly become bored when you have to become the listener, and some one else has the floor.

You have an aristocratic spirit, but not a royal one. You try to stand aloof from the rank and file; you do not try to mix with the throbbing masses about you. You are not a friend to humanity in general, you are too selfish and unsympathetic. You give very little to the world, unless you can see sure returns. Grief or some great loss, may make you become a more lovable and more human being—for your heart is not made of ice, and your pride is only a false one. You have plenty of brain power, distinct talents, considerable energy and lofty ambitions. If you do not succeed, it will be because you are a poor student of psychology, and do not know how to treat and handle your fellow associates.

AUTO CRASH DEATH BLAMED ON DRIVER

CAR HIT POST ON TURN

A coroner's jury last night held Wallace Bowlding, of Faulkner, Md., responsible for the auto crash early Sunday morning which killed Raymond Gamble, of La Plata. He was held for the grand jury, when the verdict was brought in that Gamble came to his death through the reckless driving of Bowlding.

Judge Harry I. Anderson, who empanneled the jury, released Bowlding on bond of $500. Testimony offered at the inquest held that there were four in the front seat, and that the car was speeding when the accident occurred. The car failed to take a turn near Camp Springs, on the Southern Maryland pike, and struck a telephone pole. Gamble died a few hours later at Casualty Hospital.

Bowlding disappeared after the crash and was found next day in a shack in the woods, about 2 miles from the scene of the accident. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff A. C. Thompson. Gamble was the oldest son of Mrs. Lulu Mae Gamble, who shot and killed a woman she found in a car with her husband last summer.

Forcible Wooer Jailed; Wedded

Holdup Staged to Get "Date;" Girl Joins Man in Prison.

Easton, Md., Jan 16 (A.P.).—Family objection to Howard Hall's attention to his cousin, Margaret Hall, put him in the Easton Jail yesterday, waiting transfe to the house of correction. Today they were man and wife, with Howard still in jail and his bride of one day in Philadelphia, awaiting his release.

Margaret's family objected strenuously to Howard's attention, so they kept her almost a prisoner at her home in Royal Oak, to prevent any meeting, it is claimed. Several days ago Howard took matters into his own hands and went to the Hall home with a pistol, lined the family up against the wall and had a date with Margaret.

After he left, the family had him arrested, and Magistrate Kirby, of St. Michael's, sentenced him to six months in the house of correction for his forcible wooing methods. He was transferred to the Easton Jail, to await removal to the penal institution, and yesterday Margaret came to Easton, secured a marriage license and they were married in jail by the Rev. Edgar Read. Hall is 22 and his bride 17.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Friday, Jan. 16—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia and Virginia: Fair and warmer Saturday; Sunday cloudy, followed by rain in afternoon; gentle to moderate winds, mostly southwest and south.

For Maryland: Mostly cloudy and warmer Saturday; Sunday cloudy, followed by rain Sunday afternoon or night; moderate southwest and west winds Saturday, probably becoming southerly Sunday.

The Atlantic storm has reached Newfoundland, Cape Race, 28.90 inches, while the northwestern disturbance has moved eastward and now extends from the Lake region northward over Hudson Bay, Cochrane, 29.66 inches. The minor southwestern disturbance is centered tonight between Brownsville, Tex., and Tampico, Mexico, Tampico, 29.94 inches, and it is causing rain in Arkansas and the eastern and central portions of Texas and Oklahoma. The disturbance from the North Pacific is now over the northern Rocky Mountain region, Lander, Wyo., 30.02 inches, and it has caused rain and snow in the northern plateau region, and rain in the Pacific States as far south as central California. Fair weather has prevailed elsewhere during the last 24 hours. Pressure remains quite low over western Alaska, Dutch Harbor, 29.62 inches. High pressure prevails elsewhere over North America, with centers as follows: Savannah, Ga., 30.42; Roseburg, Oreg., 30.40; Prince George, B. C., 30.26 inches, and Point Barrow Alaska, 30.20 inches. The temperature has risen over the eastern half of the United States and in the Plateau region, while it has fallen from the western Canadian provinces southward over Montana and the Dakotas.

Except for occasional light rain in Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley, fair weather will prevail almost generally in the Washington forecast district Saturday, but the eastward advance of the western and southwestern disturbances will be attended by much cloudiness Sunday, and rain is probable by Sunday night as far east as the western lower Lake region and the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic coasts. The temperature will continue to rise Saturday throughout the Eastern and Southeastern States, and it will not change materially during Sunday, except that somewhat colder weather will overspread the lower Lake region and the North Atlantic States.

UTILITY BOARD HITS ATTORNEY IN ORDER

RETORT MAY FOLLOW

other letter asking if the decision of the District Supreme Court in the meat packers' case might not enable the corporation counsel to seek the modification at once.

Upon the receipt of the second letter Mr. Bride announced that he would be unable to render an opinion immediately because of the pressure of District legislation at the Capitol. Until yesterday his time was confined almost entirely to efforts to get the traffic and the Borland measures before Congress. Several times he and his assistant, William A. Roberts, have worked late at night on the legislation.

Explaining that Mr. Roberts has been studying the matter meanwhile when his time permitted, Mr. Bride said that he "would not be forced into any snap judgment" on a case that may run into several complications when it reaches the court. The meat packers' opinion, delivered by Justice Jennings Bailey, he explained, was quite lengthy and could not be interpreted in relation to the consent decree without careful study.

The commission's memorandum instructed its counsel to "make prompt application to the court for modifications of the decree * * * in view of the recent decision in the packers' consent decree case." The probable effect of this opinion on the electric rate case was first pointed out by The Post.

Rewording of Sections Sought.

Rewording of two sections of the decree is sought by the utilities body. Where the rate of return allowed the power company before the excess profits are set aside is now 7½ per cent, the commission proposes to insert 6¾ per cent. Instead of the provision that all profits in excess of this rate shall be divided equally between the power company and the public, a scale system of division based upon the rate of the excess is suggested.

The base rate established on December 31, 1924, when the decree was effected, is retained, however, at $32,500,000 despite the fact that the rate base in 1930 was $49,397,000 because of improvements and additions since then.

Coincident with this lowering of the rate of return the commission proposes to reduce the minimum rate which the power company is guaranteed. Thus, if the profits of the company fall below 5¾ per cent during any twelve-month period the commission would promptly increase the rates. This minimum now is 6½ per cent.

Not Sufficient, Says Keech.

Richmond B. Keech, the people's counsel, declared late yesterday that he had time only to make cursory examination of the proposal, but that on the face of it the reductions asked are not sufficient. He also pointed out that the commission had failed to adopt his suggestion of taking into account the new year's estimated gains, rather than the last year's profits, in establishing rates for the consumers.

The plan of the utilities body for dividing the excess profits between the power company and the public is as follows:

"If the said excess shall be not more than 1 per cent of the rate base determined as aforesaid, rates for the following year, based upon the business done during the year in which said excess occurred, shall be adjusted so that the gross receipts of the company shall be reduced by one-half of said excess; if the said excess shall be more than 1 per cent, and not more than 2 per cent, of the rate base determined as aforesaid, then, in like manner three-fourths of the said excess shall be used for the reduction of rates; if the said excess should be greater than 2 per cent of the rate base determined as aforesaid, five-sixths of the excess shall be used in like manner for the reduction of rates."

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

FOR many years there has been a tacit understanding among the major producing companies that cutthroat bidding for stellar talent and raids on each other's personnels would be definitely taboo.

The understanding among the big employers of screen talent, as a matter of fact, has been so perfect and so rigidly observed that more than one actor has complained of having been boycotted by all because he perchance may have offended one. Conway Tearle, Adolphe Menjou, Raymond Griffith and numerous others have voiced protest at this condition from time to time—whether with or without full justification in every instance is beside the point. It has always been understood that the boys holding the purse strings worked together with a strange and unerring unanimity.

It appears now, however, that all may not be as harmonious as it has appeared upon the surface between at least two of the bigger organizations.

Advices hot off the wire from Hollywood intimate that competition between the theater chains operated by Warner Brothers-First National and Paramount-Publix has penetrated to the production departments of the two film companies and apparently signalized an open break.

J. L. Warner, production chief of the Warner Brothers-First National West Coast Companies, announced yesterday that his interests have signed both Ruth Chatterton and William Powell, prominent Paramount-Publix stars, to long-term contracts. Warner stated that these two stars had signed five-year agreements calling for appearances in three pictures each a year, and would report for duty as soon as their current Paramount-Publix contracts expire.

Powell's contract is understood to be nearing expiration and Miss Chatterton's runs only until summer. Mr. Powell is understood to have declared his wish to enjoy a two-month vacation between the termination of his present contract and the effectiveness of the new.

Jesse L. Lasky, vice president of Paramount-Publix in charge of production, and B. P. Schulberg, West Coast production chief, maintained strict silence on the matter yesterday.

While the salaries to be paid his newly acquired stars was not revealed by Jack Warner, it was more or less clearly indicated that they would aggregate close to half a million dollars a year.

That ain't spinach!

And just as we told you weeks ago, Jimmy Schnozzle Durante, of the comedy team of Clayton, Jackson and Durante, now pearing with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians and a swell cast in "The New Yorkers," in New York, has scribbled his real moniker on the dotted line of a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract calling for a lot of his time and a lot of their dough—which is fair enough as such exchanges go.

Speaking of M-G-M, which is to all intents and purposes synonymous with Loew, Inc., it has been numerously surmised of late that the master of ceremonies idea, to which Loew has clung so tenaciously—and so advantageously, too, for that matter—may at last be on the wane.

Dave Schooler, one of the most popular and most useful of the Loew m. c.'s, has quietly passed from the footlighted scene, and, locally, Allan Rogers, unless I have been misinformed, will not be visible at the Palace during the next two weeks, ostensibly for the reason that the stage units are so constructed and routined that there is no place for a resident major domo. That may be it, or it may be a purely experimental arrangement devised to test public reaction and mass demand. I wouldn't know about that.

There seems, at any rate, to be something in the air, and as to precisely what it is, your diagnosis, for the time being, will probably be as good as any other.

Reverting briefly to the Warner Brothers and their sudden enthusiasm for signing new names to their roster, you might care to know that the acquisition of Bebe Daniels' signature to a long-term contract was announced yesterday from the Warners' New York office. The new document calls for four pictures a year.

This is the girl, you will remember, that Jesse Lasky thought would not do!

Since this seems to be Warner Brothers day, you might as well be told, also, that Benny Rubin, the famous stage and screen dialect comedian, will be seen in person at the Earle Theater for the week beginning Saturday, January 31—two weeks from today.

Benny was one of the first to desert the stage to appear on the screen and has met with sensational success in the celluloids. He had prominent roles in "Love in the Rough," "Montana Moon," "Naughty," "Marianne" and many other feature productions, as well as a long list of short subjects.

He will be seen at the Earle in a comedy skit, "Reverse English," said to be a wholly goofy bit of nonsense tailored to his individual measurements. We'll probably all have a fit!

Wanderlust and the grippe have depleted the ranks no end over at the Rialto. Rodney Collier, managing director, is on a jaunt to Atlanta, Ga., to cast an appraising eye over the Universal interests in that city and Fred Flader, one of the overlords, is confined to his apartment by a joust with high temperatures and low ambition.

Away back yonder, I meant to add that those Warner boys in addition to all the others, have likewise signed Constance Bennett to a contract for services before the cameras and mikes, while that blonde, and temperamental young woman is still bound—or so the opposition says—by an agreement with Pathe. There will probably be goings-on in court about this one.

Presumably it is Miss Bennett's view that lawyers, like ladies, must live. But why?

According to the New York Telegraph a custard pie comedy to end custard pie comedies has just been finished on the Vitaphone lot in Flatbush. Several hundred pies were thrown, fallen into, stepped in and sat upon in a two-reeler called "Good Pie Forever."

The comedy starred the team of Billy Wayne and Thelma White who, from all report, were generously peppered with the pastries by the rest of the cast.

Thus, no doubt, proving that the pies were peppermince!

Mackall Will Run For Virginia House

First Announcement in Coming Campaign Is Made in Fairfax.

The first announcement of what promises to be one of the most interesting political campaigns in the history of Fairfax County, which takes place this year, when all the terms of the county officers, except that of county clerk, will expire, was made yesterday by John C. Mackall, of Langley, a prominent Fairfax and Washington attorney, who declared himself a Democratic candidate for delegate from Fairfax County to the Virginia State Assembly. This office is now held by Leon L. Freeman (Republican), of Vienna.

Mackall, who is 34 years old and single, is a native of Fairfax County. During the World War he was a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia, a member of the county Bar Association and several clubs and fraternities. He is a director of the National Bank of Fairfax, Fairfax Chamber of Commerce, Fairfax County Fair Association and the Fairfax-Alexandria Building and Loan Association.

Capital Man Held by County.

Caught with 36 half-gallons of alleged whisky, after a chase of several miles, Clates E. Hutton, of Sixth street near F street northwest, was committed to the Blademsburg Jail, in default of bond of $1,200. Besides being charged with transportation and possession, he was also charged with speeding and having no registration card.

Mail Man Lacked Permit, Police Say

Unlicensed Driver for Nine Years, According to County Officers.

A mail man on a rural delivery route, who has been driving for nine years without a permit has been discovered, according to State Policeman W. A. Rogers, who haled the man into Prince Georges County police court yesterday. He was not charged with driving without a permit, however.

The man, Irving Traband, of Marlboro, and his son, Irving, jr., were both arrested while the son was driving the machine. The son forfeited collateral of $10 for driving without a permit, while the father forfeited $10 for permitting an unlicensed person to operate his machine, and $10 for having no tags.

COUNTY FACES CUT IN ROAD SCHEDULE

22 Prince Georges Projects Proposed for State Aid; Funds Short.

HIGHWAYS ARE LISTED

Although the county commissioners have been asked to recommend that the State Roads Commission take over 22 road projects in the county, it is likely that less than half of them will be approved, as the road fund this year is not as large as in the past.

During the last two years $550,000 was spent on roads, this amount having been raised by a bond issue. It is understood that only about a fifth of this amount is available this year. Money allotted to the county from the State road fund is spent according to the recommendations of the commissioners, who thus control the State building program in their jurisdiction.

Their recommendation to the State body is scheduled to be made before the end of this month. The road commission is anxious to get its program made up, so that preliminary surveys can be made early in the spring, and construction can be started as soon as concrete can be laid.

Roads Are Listed.

The list of roads requested is:

The Lanham-Severn road, 17 miles long, partially in Anne Arundel County.

University road from the Baltimore boulevard to New Cut road, and along this to Queen's Chapel road. About 1¾ miles.

Road of 5 Miles.

Road from Floral Park on the Southern Maryland pike, westward toward Piscataway. About 5 miles.

Colesville road from the Baltimore boulevard to New Cut road, and along that to Queen's Chapel road. About 1.6 miles.

FRIENDSHIP HEIGHTS FAVORS HIGHER TAX

Will Ask Legislature to Fix 40 Cents Rate on $100 Assessed Value.

CAPITOL VIEW GATHERS

Increase in the tax rate maximum to 40 cents per $100 assessed value will be asked of the Maryland State Legislature by the Friendship Heights Citizens Association. Retention of the special taxing area status of the community was advocated by the association.

The present maximum tax rate for the town is 20 cents and it is believed that the higher rate should be asked for in order that a number of municipal improvements can be worked out. The action of the association was taken after a report of a committee headed by Emory H. Bogley, which had made a study of the proposal to include the community in the suburban taxing area. The report made no recommendations, but merely stated the facts which had been gathered.

The action was taken at a special meteing called by James C. Dulin, jr., secretary, held at the home of C. W. Rippey.

Recommendations for improvement of the environs of the town were made by the Capitol View Citizens Association at a meeting held in the town.

The improvements urged in the resolutions are: Location of the proposed drive along the banks of Rock Creek so that it will connect with the road leading from Capitol View to Kensington and resurfacing of the road; widening of the Garrett Park road to Kensington from the Rockville pike; construction of a two-way bridge over Rock Creek to replace the present dangerous one-way bridge; construction of a surfaced extension of Viers Mill road from Wheaton to Rockville and erection of a central high school for the area, location not recommended.

The association also directed its secretary to ask the Kensington trade bodies to cooperate in preventing dumping of trash along highways.

An absolute divorce and permission to resume her maiden name was awarded Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Thomen, of Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday by Judge Robert B. Peter, in circuit court at Rockville, Md.

The wife, who was represented by Soterios Nicholson, Washington attorney, had told the court that she had been deserted by James Travis Thomen, of Washington, to whom she was married December 9, 1925, at Chevy Chase. There are no children.

MAN ESCAPES THUGS AS PASSERS-BY FLEE

ONE WOMAN IS INJURED

Chicago, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Machine gun bullets spattered windows and store fronts of the Howard street business section today, injuring two women and sending shoppers in a panicky rush for cover. The intended victim, recognizing his attackers as they cruised by in a green sedan, fled to safety down an alley.

Their quarry was a dark young man about 30. He had been loitering for an hour near the entrance of the Norshore Theater when the automobile approached, halted suddenly; a door opened and a deadly hail of lead spat forth.

Detectives offered a guess that gang executioners had sought the life of "Monkey Face Charlie" Genker, pal of the slain Jack Zuta. Their only clues were the descriptions of the fugitive, the package of Kosher meat he dropped as he ran and the gray felt hat he wore. It had been purchased in "the Hart-Albin Store," Billings, Mont.

A row of parked automobiles probably saved the lives of diners in a restaurant near by. One bullet pierced the wrist of Mrs. Alma Moore, who was standing at the door of a candy shop. Splinters of glass injured a woman inside the store. Witnesses counted 73 bullet holes in the windows and body of one car and 55 in another.

Witnesses thought at first the theater, situated near Clark street on Howard, which divides Chicago from Evanston, was being held up. An express company's armored money truck had just stopped at the theater when the shooting started. The truck immediately started in pursuit of the machine gunners, but was quickly outdistanced by the new sedan.

Retail Price Fixing Bill Is Opposed by Women

Opposition to the Kelly retail price fixing bill was expressed yesterday by Mrs. Alfred N. Bagg, president of the Housekeepers' Alliance of the District of Columbia, and by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, widow of the late pure food expert, in a letter sent to Representative Kelly and to Floor Leader Tilson.

Recommitment of the bill and public hearings on it were asked before the House takes action on it.

Land for Drive Linking Forts of Civil War Time to Cost $2,700,000.

Members of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission spent their second meeting day yesterday inspecting the proposed Fort Drive, which is intended to link the Civil War forts circling Washington. The estimated cost of the land for the drive is $2,700,000.

The party was led by Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the commission, and Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive director. Lunch was served at the Rock Creek Golf Club.

Approval was given in principle by the planning body to the proposed connection of Michigan avenue and Harvard street, and it was decided to have staff members make a further study. The meeting will be concluded today.

U. S. Editor Beats Ouster From Cuba

Havana, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—John T. Wilford, American newspaper editor who was ordered deported last night for criticism of the government in his paper, left Cuba by plane today before the order could be served.

He left Havana at 2:30 this afternoon for Miami, after learning that he was to be expelled within the next 48 hours. He said he would go from Miami to New York.

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Suppression and censorship of Havana newspapers were protested today by the Press Congress of the World, in communications to President Machado, of Cuba, and Secretary of State Stimson at Washington. The protests were made public by James Wright Brown, president of the Editor and Publisher and executive committee member of the press congress.

Saturday Holiday Upheld by Rover

Advises Recorder of Deeds Against Filing Papers After 12 Noon.

Due to the fact that Saturday after 12 o'clock is a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, the recorder of deeds' office can not accept papers for filing on Saturday afternoons.

This was announced yesterday by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, in response to a query from Jefferson S. Coage, recorder of deeds, for a ruling on the question.

Mr. Rover's reply, in part, follows: "In view of the provisions of the section of the code above mentioned that 'every Saturday, after 12 o'clock noon; * * * shall be holidays in the District for all purposes,' it is my opinion that it would not be lawful or proper for the recorder of deeds to accept any instrument for record after 12 o'clock noon on Saturday."

Man, Woman's Deaths Held Murder, Suicide

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Police today were seeking the motive for the slaying of Miss Katherine Obermuller by Emil Shempp and his subsequent suicide in the rear of an apartment building last night. Coroner John J. Morrissey said the double tragedy was murder and suicide.

The bodies of the man and woman were found in an alley by the engineer of the building as he investigated after hearing several shots. The woman had been shot once in the abdomen and the man through the head.

Truxton Descendant Weds Elizabeth Munn

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Miss Elizabeth Martin Munn, great-granddaughter of a founder of the Scientific American, was married yesterday in St. Bartholomew's Church to George Truxton Glazebrook, of Morristown, N. J.

Mrs. Glazebrook is the daughter of Orson D. Munn and her husband is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis H. Glazebrook. He is a direct descendant of Commodore Thomas Truxton, of the United States Navy.

Murder Charged In Fatal Shooting

Victim Dies After Affray Resulting From an Argument.

Daniel Taylor, Negro, 34 years old, was shot and killed by an unidentified Negro during an altercation in his home, Ninth street near G street southwest, yesterday afternoon. He was removed to Casualty Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

David Marshall, 34-year-old Negro, of Grace alley near E street southwest, was arrested several hours later and charged at the Fourth Precinct station with murder. Four others seized and held for investigation are Izah Jordan, 28; James Friendly, 37; Zack Long, 30, and Adeline Parks, 30. All are colored and live at the place where the fight occurred.

They told police the shooting was the result of an argument and said the man who did the shooting was not known to them.

NASH Announces

NASH-ORR MOTOR COMPANY

1522 FOURTEENTH ST., N. W.

As Nash Distributor for the Washington Territory

The Nash Motors Company takes pleasure in announcing the appointment of the Nash-Orr Motor Company which will distribute Nash motor cars in Washington, the District of Columbia, adjacent counties of Maryland, and practically all of Virginia.

Mr. R. W. Orr, who directs the Nash-Orr Motor Company, brings to that organization the experience of many years of notable success as one of the largest dealers for The Nash Motors Company. The guiding influence of his organization will be the highest standard of service to Nash owners.

The building which houses the Showroom, the Sales Department and the Service Department of the Nash-Orr Company could not be located more conveniently for the people of Washington and vicinity. Furthermore, the fact that the Service Department is directed by B. C. Jarboe will be welcome assurance to thousands of Nash owners in Washington, of unusually courteous, prompt and efficient service.

The Nash-Orr Motor Company will open its doors at a formal reception, Saturday, January 17th, featured by a special exhibit of a complete line of Nash Eights and Sixes, designed and dressed to appeal to individual taste. These are the cars which, through beauty and performance, coupled with sensational value, have swept Nash within a few short weeks from their first showing, to fourth place in motor car sales in the United States, according to latest available registration figures.

You are cordially invited to attend this formal opening and to inspect the three Series of new Nash Eights—including the 115-horsepower Eight-90—and the Series of four new Nash Sixes.

FLIES IN PANAMA.

I HAVE seen a fly in Panama. More than that, I saw the larva of another fly. Since the first was a common housefly and the second was the larva of a green fly, it is certain that there were two flies or more within striking distance. This being my third visit to the Canal Zone and my first sight of a specimen of this insect, the fly population can be accepted as being of negligible number.

What is of more consequence, I traveled this time to Antone, nearly 100 miles from the Canal Zone, and saw almost no flies. We ate dinner at San Carlos, about 60 miles from Balboa, in the midst of a grazing country. There were considerable numbers of horses and cows on the pastures not far away. Dinner was served in a room that was without window sashes or doors, and there were no screens. There were no flies on the table and the sugar bowl was unmolested by them.

We have learned to take the Zone for granted. Of course it is flyless and mosquitoless. The Zone is a military reservation in some parts and under centralized authority in other parts. The inhabitants are highly intelligent and with a well developed sanitary conscience. The best brains of the world have studied their health problems. Their health record is a stimulus to them in their effort to achieve if not perfection the nearest possible to it.

But we are surprised to find the native Panamanians living in small towns 100 miles away from a fly nuisance. The influence of the zone is radiating. Ten years after Havana had been made a spotless town, and no flies were to be found there. I had occasion to eat lunch in a small city not 40 miles away. There were thousands of flies in the dining room. The Panamanians are doing better. But we wonder why the Panamanians have learned the art of fly control better than we have?

MUCOUS COLITIS.

Mrs. J. E. L. writes:

1. What is mucous colitis?
2. What is nervous colon?
3. What diet must be followed in such cases?

REPLY.

1. A condition in which much mucous collects in the colon. Often it forms casts.
2. The common name is spastic colon.
3. What is known as a soft diet, one free from coarse vegetables; fruits and grain are used in spastic colon and in many cases of mucous colitis.

TREATING TRACHOMA.

W. B. writes: Would you please tell me about treatment of trachoma, a disease of the eyelids? Could an operation relieve me?

REPLY.

Trachoma is not a simple matter and should not be neglected. The disease is liable to spread to other members of your family and to those with whom you work. Never use a wash bowl or towel used by others. Go to your health department for advice as to treatment.

HEENEY VICTIM OF FREAK KNOCKOUT IN 3D ROUND

Cox, With 69, Gains Lead In Mexico

Round Sets Record; H. Smith Tied for Third, 2 Behind.

By BRIAN BELL.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Wilfred H. (Wiffy) Cox, good-natured Brooklyn professional, leaped into the lead of the $25,000 Agua Caliente open golf tournament today by unloosing a sensational 69 on the classy field for a three-round total of 218.

The straight shooting and sure putting Wiffy was in the last threesome to leave the first tee, but he served notice on the crowd he might dislodge the serene John Golden from the temporary throne, when he covered the first nine holes in 34, where par is 36.

The smiling pro, who made himself very useful on the U. S. S. Nevada during the war, needed a par 4 at the home hole for a 68, which would have given him a two-stroke advantage over Golden. However, he pushed his brassie a bit and failed to reach the green in two, getting down in 5.

His 69 not only gave him the lead for the first 54 holes, but established a new competitive record for the course. Gene Sarazen finished the big money competition last year with an amazing 68 to win first prize, but par then was 71. The course has been lengthened since then and par increased to 72.

Erratic Putting Hurts Golden

Golden, who led the first two rounds, lost his chance to hold the position by his erratic putting. He missed four short ones during the round and three times found it necessary to take three shots on the green.

The solid Connecticut citizen finished his first and second round with birdie 3s at the eighteenth, greatly to the delight of his 2-year-old daughter, who liaped "That's my daddy," as the balls dropped into the cup. Today he could not score a birdie for little Rose Marie, although he made a valiant effort, rimming the cup with a brave approach putt for 40 feet. Big John's best today was 76, for a total of 219.

Ed Dudley also scored 76 today to take third place with a total of 220, a place shared with Norton Smith, who had 73 today, and Clarence Clark, the big Tulsa (Okla.) pro, who contributed a sparkling 71.

Hagen in Sensational Finish.

Walter Hagen, the old master, furnished a sensational half round by galloping home in 34 strokes after he had used up 39 going out. This 73 left him with a total of 223, tied with MacDonald Smith, who slumped to 77 today.

Hagen played wonderful golf up to the greens, but his putting touch, which has failed him throughout the competition, still was absent.

Wiffy Cox, one of the many good players who have threatened often

Rumor of Illegal Ball Stirs Field in Mexico

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—The third round's play in the $25,000 Agua Caliente open today was followed by a discussion of the size of golf balls, resulting in a meeting of the tournament committee to ascertain if any balls in play did not fill the revised requirements. The committee gave a clean bill of health to all the balls.

The question was brought up when Gene Sarazen picked up Ed Dudley's ball after they completed their round, with the suggestion: "Your ball seems smaller than mine."

The agitation grew, and soon rumors were flying around the clubhouse that illegal balls were in play.

TOM CLARK.

THE major leagues yesterday drafted the second member of the Clark family, of 612 Jefferson street northwest, when Tom Clark, 19-year-old brother of the more illustrious Earl Clark, signed a contract with the Washington Club preparatory to going to the training camp at Biloxi, Miss., next month.

The entrance of Tom Clark into the big leagues marks the third respect in which he has followed the footsteps of the more famous Earl, who is now the regular center fielder of the Boston Braves.

Tom Clark is also an outfielder and a right handed hitter, 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighing 170 pounds. He started his professional career in 1927 at the tender age of 16, when fresh from his first-year studies at Tech High School he joined the Richmond Club of the now defunct Virginia league which sent Earl Clark to the majors with a price tag of $15,000, the highest figure a Virginia Leaguer ever brought.

Follows Brother Earl To Providence.

With the disbandment of the Virginia League in 1928, Tom Clark idled for a year, during which he was stricken with pneumonia, but last season he gained another milestone on the journey that Earl Clark had taken to the majors by signing with the Providence Club of the Eastern League, with which Brother Earl had starred after being farmed by the Braves in 1928.

The Eastern League disbanded early last summer and Tom was shunted to the Portland Club of the New England League, which also failed to survive the season. Thereupon Tom returned to Washington to play with the District Repair Shop, champions of the Departmental League, boasting an average of .500 for the season.

He had been scouted last summer in the league games by President Griffith, and so bright a baseball future did Griffith paint for the youngster at a conference yesterday that the youth speedily signed the conventional contract.

GAMES TUESDAY.

Western vs. Central.
Eastern vs. Business.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

SOME day Tech is going to lose a close basket ball game, if it doesn't watch out. The law of averages is going to step in some afternoon and lambast these wearers of the Gray, who yesterday reenacted a trick that is rapidly becoming legendary about them—that of winning a basket ball game after trailing until the last few frenzied moments of play. Western was the victim by a 28-24 score.

The situations were, briefly stated, these: The score stood 23-18, in favor of Western. There were three minutes and several stray seconds to play. George Beach grasped a ball off his backboard and sank it; score, 23-20. Then Everett Russell "potted" one in great and cool fashion to bring Tech within reaching distance of Western for the first time since the game started. Then Wheeler broke loose from Taylor, Western's sterling guard, and put in the shot that sent Tech ahead. Everett Buscher had two foul shots, both of which he missed, but Yowell, amid a maniacal uproar, sank a foul for Western to tie the score. All this time the mechanism of Mr. Haight's stop watch was propelling the game away.

Willison Collects 3 Points.

Left Guard Willison, standing under his basket, took one of Beach's long shots off the rim and twisted to the side to make the basket. He also cashed the free toss Referee Joe Mitchell gave him for his pains of being clawed by several zealous Western guards. "Little Knocky" Thomas had time to put in a foul shot before the game ended—just time.

Western played the uniformly better game throughout, her guards outplaying the guards of Tech, and her great forward, Anthony Latona, putting her colors in front at the start and keeping them there until the final minutes.

One Western play, doped to beat Tech's zone defense, did that very trick with great regularity, with Latona and Buscher deep in the throes of the zone, Yowell set for a block play on the free toss stripe and Summers and Taylor monotonously tossing the ball back and forth safely protected from intervention by the refusal of Tech to move out past a certain imaginary mark.

Western's Play Beats Zone Defense.

Like lightning, occasionally, Summers or Taylor would feint a throw and hurl the ball to one of the Western sharpshooters within the zone. It was the most mechanically perfect play the series has seen to date.

The first half of the game was taken up mostly by passing, with little shooting to speak of and ended, 12 to 8, in Western's favor. The Red led, too, at the three-quarter mark, 18 to 15. It was as tough a game as Western will ever lose, and as narrow a victory as Tech will ever score.

Like champagne after ginger ale was this second game. The first game of the afternoon, Central vs. Business, while close enough at stages, was marked by ragged passing on the part of each team. Central, the winner by 39 to 20—the largest score rung up in the series to date—offended almost as much in freak passing as did Business. But Central had the basket markamen to pull it out of such holes. Gene Swift being especially effective throughout the first half and sharing honors with Hank Broadbent in the other section.

Proselyting Athletes Strongly Approved by Dean of Vanderbilt U.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Madison Sarratt, dean of men at Vanderbilt University, said today that proselyting of athletes by a university or college is "natural, and sometimes, in a form, even commendable."

"It is only natural for an alumnus to invite a promising boy to his alma mater," he said. "There is absolutely nothing wrong with the practice of persuading promising students to attend a college or university, provided rigid entrance requirements are enforced.

"If a man thinks well of his college," Dean Sarratt continued, "it is to be expected that he will want to urge promising boys whom he knows to go to it, whether it is his motive to bolster the football team, the school of engineering, or the elocution society.

"More men send boys to college to join fraternities than to play football. As far as the college is concerned, it must remain immaterial what they come for. People can continue asking boys to come to Vanderbilt as long as they like."

LOYOLA WINS, 44-27, OVER CATHOLIC

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 16.—Reaching full speed about the middle of the second period, Loyola College dribblers paraded to an easy victory over its intercity rival, Catholic University, of Washington, at the Evergreen Gymnasium tonight, 44 to 27.

The well-rounded Loyola squad took things in its own hands near the end of the first half and never was threatened seriously. Only the remarkable side-court shots of Sheary kept the Catholic University quintet in the running. This sharpshooting slipped five brilliant shots through the cords and all were from difficult angles and at opportune moments.

Bombard Basket By Fast Attack.

But the visitors' defense could not check the fast-breaking Loyola attack which time after time quickly carried the play down the court and bombarded the basket. The Greyhound defense repeatedly broke up the Catholic University offensive, regaining the ball after the Washingtonians had a chance for only a single shot each dash down the floor.

Bill Liston threw terror into the visiting ranks as he also looped five field goals and added seven out of his eight penalty shots.

Gonzaga High Beats Landon Five, 58-28

Continuing the high scoring spree which has marked their last two games, Coach Orrel Mitchell's Gonzaga High School cagers swamped Landon yesterday afternoon in the Gonzaga Gym, by a 58-to-28 score. The Purple led throughout, possessing a 28-to-12 advantage at half time.

DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY'S Basket Ball Team sent Georgetown down to defeat last night at Tech High, 32 to 28, in a doggedly contested game which ran the gamut of thrills in its closing moments. After the first five minutes of the game, not more than 4 points separated the teams as they struggled in a rough and tumble fashion for possession of the ball.

It was Johnny Wilder's long potshot, with but 2 minutes left of the game, which smashed a 28-to-28 tie, gained by Capt. Walter Morris by dint of a similar shot from the middle of the court. Wilder, who replaced the spunky Brud Stephens, captain of the visitors, placed the ball clean through the rim to be greeted by great drafts of silence from the stands.

Duquesne Leads, 18-15 at Half.

Duquesne's game, confident in the extreme despite the loss to Catholic University Thursday night, was consistently a mite better than Georgetown's. The score at the half said 18-15 in favor of the invaders. Its hard-passing, guarding and blocking was topped off, when seemingly the occasion demanded, by exhibitions of perfect pot-shooting on the part of Benedict, whose all-around play stamped him as the best of the visitors. The shooting of Capt. Morris was the bright light of Georgetown's game. That and the ball-hawking of Emile Bozek.

Georgetown gained the lead twice, once in the first period at 13-11 on Shea's long shot, and once in the middle of the second half when Dillon's beautiful running shot put the Hilltoppers in the van by the margin of 24-23.

Chase Wins Over Day, 15-Year-Old Golf Ace

The youngster, who snatched the crown of the Miami midwinter amateur from Chase after 40 holes of golf a week ago encountered difficulty all along the fairway in today's second round, eighteen-hole play.

Jack Ryerson, crack Cooperstown (N. Y.) amateur, was 3 up on Joe Roach, Miami, at the turn, as other pairs in the championship flight followed behind in the two matches.

G. U. Battles Generals, Maryland vs. Loyola

The crack Generals of Washington and Lee march into town tonight for a game with Georgetown University's somewhat ill-starred basket ball team to be played at Tech High Gym beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Coming after a trek which has seen it smother all but two of its adversaries in the last two seasons Washington and Lee looms as one of the toughest notches on the Hilltoppers tough schedule and the hard-playing quintet of Georgetowners will have gained a many-colored and unlooked for feather in their collective cap if it manages to defeat the visitors.

Four college games are to be played here tonight. Maryland's mighty makeshift combination will show its wares again tonight, for the first time since its defeat of Duke, entertaining Loyola, of Baltimore, at 8:15 o'clock.

IN FREAK BOUT

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

To the amazement of 8,000 spectators, Heeney was counted out on the stroke of "eight" when he climbed back into the ring after being pushed through the ropes in the third round. Forgetting for the moment that he had toiled "two" while the ancient mariner was outside the boundaries, knockdown timekeeper Arthur Donovan toiled "eight" while Heeney rested on one hand and one knee. Then Donovan suddenly discovered that 8 plus 2 made 10, and immediately waved Heeney from the inclosure, victim of one of the strangest knockouts ever recorded in this arena of strange happenings.

Referee Dempsey Is Helpless.

It just so happened that Jack Dempsey, the old man-mauler himself, was in the center of the ring as referee, just as he was the night of another famous fiasco—the occasion Otto Von Porat sent Phil Scott into a foul swoon with a tap on the hip. But tonight Dempsey was taken by surprise as completely as all the other inhabitants of the ring, including old Thomas himself, and could do nothing to save the situation.

The finish was scarcely more surprising than the battle Heeney waged through the first two rounds against the big, powerful youth from the West Coast. Thomas easily outcuffed the cocky youngster, mussing him up handily without inflicting a great deal of punishment. He forced the smile from Baer's disdainful features, with his aggressive, two-fisted attack, and forced Max to take the situation seriously.

Almost the minute Baer settled down to work in the third, the bout came to its amazing climax.

Teeters on Ropes, Slips Backward.

Tom came up with a cut on his lip and sailed into the sneering youngster. Baer sailed back at him and they wrestled to the ropes along the side of the ring. The momentum, plus a few punches of little consequence, carried Tom into the ropes. He teetered there for a second and then slipped backward into the press seats.

While the ringsiders were chuckling at Ould Tom's plight, the veteran climbed back self-consciously and prepared to take the rest of the time allotted to him although he appeared unhurt. Dempsey took his post above the resting gladiator and tolled off the numerals. When the count reached "eight" there was a slight commotion from the seat of the official timekeeper.

He had been keeping his toll all together and his watch showed 10 seconds out of action for Heeney as Donovan banged eight with his gavel on the canvas and Dempsey echoed the number in the ring. Donovan apparently did some quick figuring, added the 2 seconds Heeney had consumed outside the battleground to the 8 he had rested within, discovered it totaled 10, and decreed the Hard-rock blasted once more.

Dempsey Checks Time, Leads Heeney Out.

Dempsey, caught unawares and believing that Heeney still had 2 more seconds of grace, came over and checked the situation with Donovan and then led Thomas protesting to his corner. Heeney was quite upset by the situation, insisting that he should have been informed of the speed with which time was fleeting.

The crowd, a particularly small gathering considering the presence of the great magnet, Dempsey, gathered about the ringside for several minutes after the ending trying to find out what happened.

They booed lustily, had a hearty laugh, and departed. They paid about $25,000 for their entertainment.

GALLAGHER FIGHTS TO DRAW

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Fighters from the Nation's Capital gained a draw and suffered a one-round knockout in preliminary bouts on the Heeney-Baer card tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Marty Gallagher, youthful Washington heavyweight, weighing 208 pounds, battled Paul Swiderski, 184½ pounds, ten rounds to a draw in the semifinal bout while "Baker Boy Billy" Schwartz, 174-pounder, from Washington, was stopped in the first round of the opening bout that was scheduled for four rounds, by Arthur Huttick, of New York, weighing 181.

Gallagher did not seem as impressive in this bout as he has shown heretofore in this vicinity. He was forced to do much clinching to get away from Swiderski's hooks which were being rained on his head and face. Gallagher used a short left to the body and a right uppercut when they were in close quarters.

Marty Uses Weight In Clinches.

Marty did a great deal of "bulling," throwing his weight on Swiderski in the clinches. Swiderski drew blood from Gallagher's nose early in the third round. Gallagher slowed up a bit in the seventh and continued to clinch. They mixed it in the ninth Swiderski sending powerful lefts to the body and head.

Schwartz was knocked out in one minute, 20 seconds when Huttick sent a right and left to Schwartz's jaw.

Schwartz began by jabbing three light lefts to the face. They went into a clinch and both fell to the floor with Schwartz on the underside. Huttick arose immediately but Schwartz took a count of six before arising. Huttick then sent two lefts to the face and followed them by two rights to the jaw and Schwartz dropped slowly to the floor, rolled over on his back and was counted out.

Maryland Cub Five Defeats C. U. Yearlings

Exhibiting a powerful zone defense which limited their guests to a trio of field goals, Coach Jack Faber's giant Maryland University Freshman team passed its way to a 35-to-14 triumph over a game with Catholic University quintet yesterday afternoon in Ritchie Gymnasium before 300 spectators, for its third consecutive triumph of the week.

The Terrapin Yearlings got the jump on their opponents from the opening whistle and largely through the basket sniping of Vincent and Chase ran up a 13-to-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Rufus Vincent, lanky Old Line center, dropped in six field goals and two fouls to capture high scoring honors. The all-around play of Wright and Chase also featured for the winners.

Special to The Washington Post.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 16.—George Washington University cagers continued their victorious swing through Old Dominion territory by tossing Medical College of Virginia into submission tonight on the "Y" court by a score of 44 to 27.

Shooting into the lead at the very outset, the fast moving Hatchetites displayed a speedy passing attack, an airtight defense and an unerring eye for the basket to keep in front of the home forces by a comfortable margin throughout the hostilities.

With Zahn, Burgess and Conner hitting the hoops with telling effect from all angles of the court, George Washington led at half time, 17 to 10.

G. W. Shows Top Form.

Returning from intermission, the visitors settled down to business and the Medicos never had a look in. In the last ten minutes of play, the National Capital cagers handled the ball with such remarkable swiftness and cleverness that the Sawbones were unable to keep pace with them.

Zahn, forward, was the big gun in the visitors' attack, bombarding the basket for 13 points. Forest Burgess, the former Central High star, following with 11, and Conner contributing 10 markers. Banks and Isawson starred for the losers.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 16.—Robert Stead, jr., of the Chevy Chase Club, was elected vice president in charge of the Washington district at the annual meeting of the Maryland State Golf Association tonight at the Rolling Road Golf Club. Twenty-one of the twenty-five affiliated clubs were represented. Robert McLean, jr., Baltimore Country Club, was reelected president.

Two new members were admitted to the Woodmont Country Club, represented by A. E. Steinem, and the Beaver Dam Country Club.

Representatives of Washington clubs at the meeting were Robert Stead, jr., Chevy Chase Club; Al Gardiner, Columbia Country Club; Page Hufty, Congressional Country Club, and J. V. Brownell, Indian Spring Golf Club.

GALLAUDET BEATEN BY ST. JOHN'S

Blues Put Up Plucky Battle Before Bowing, 27-23.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 16.—In a stubbornly contested game here tonight, St. John's College five defeated Gallaudet, 27 to 23. The Johnnies won through greater accuracy from field, while the Blues profited to a large extent from charity flips awarded by two referees.

The Orange and Black loopers flashed a bit too fast cutting attack, especially in the first period when the victors attained a 17-to-12 margin. The second half was practically even with the visitors, though outscored in double-deckers, holding a 1-point margin through ten foul tosses.

Featuring the play of the Annapolitans was the work of the guards Ferd Fader and Larry Carpenter, who were costars in every respect although in the late minutes Wurdman of the Blues proved a continual threat and three minutes from the finish he placed his mates only one goal behind the Johnnies.

Jones and Director Discuss Golf Films

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones and George E. Marshall, who is to direct the educational golf pictures of the international champion, conferred here today on plans for making the sound movies in California.

Marshall, a golfer with a reputation on the Pacific Coast, told he and Jones would prepare the script outline during the next two weeks. Jones is to go to California February 24 and Marshall said the actual taking of the pictures would require perhaps three months. Jones had hoped to complete the pictures in six weeks.

C. U. Meet to Attract Prominent Schools

Virginia, Navy, Lafayette, Delaware, Wake Forest and Johns Hopkins are some of the schools who have signified their intentions of sending representatives to the second annual Catholic University indoor track meet, which will be held Saturday, March 7, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dorsey Griffiths, C. U. track coach, who is in charge of the affair. Many other Eastern and Southern universities also are expected to be represented in the meet.

A special invitation 1,000-yard run will be a feature of this year's meet, according to Griffiths, who stated that efforts are being made to secure the entries of several national and international middle-distance stars.

Coast Clubs Indicate Acceptance of Draft

Los Angeles, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—A possible forerunner of acceptance by the Pacific Coast Baseball League of the universal draft as proposed by the major leagues appeared today in the form of requests from club owners to President Harry A. Williams for a telegraphic vote on the proposition.

Since the American Association already has accepted the draft proposal without reservation, it was expected the Pacific Coast loop would withdraw its reservations and accept the terms.

Refusal of major leagues to consider the reservations suggested by the Coast league has been strongly indicated.

BEN FRANKLIN QUINTET HOLDS CONFERENCE LEAD

Southeastern Five Bows By 21-20

Strayer's Takes First Victory as Bliss Loses, 43-19.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN UNIVERSITY retained its lead in the Washington Collegiate Conference basket ball series last night after being extended to the limit by Southeastern University's five, before gaining a 21-to-20 decision at the Y. M. C. A. It was the Bennies' second consecutive victory in the league.

A second conference game last night found Strayer's scoring its first victory, a 43-to-19 defeat of Bliss Electrical College, 43 to 12, at the Silver Spring Armory.

Bennies Trailing
By 20 to 19.

The Bennies got the scare of their lives when Southeastern assumed a lead of 20 to 19, with the end of the game two minutes away. But Benjamin Franlin had an ace up its sleeve in the person of Understein, former Central High boy, who found the cords for a sensationally delivered shot just before the game closed down.

Played at the Y. M. C. A., the game attracted a capacity crowd. Southeastern, under dogs before the start of the game by reason of the splendid showing of the Bennies to date, improved their status but little when they trailed, 11 to 4, at the half. Akers and Loose, forwards for Southeastern, went wild in the last half, overhauling the Bennies and going a point ahead before succumbing.

Bliss Quintet
Outclassed.

The Bliss Electrical School tossers were unable to cope with the play of Strayer's.

The Electricians flashed their best basket ball in the second quarter, outscoring Strayers in this session, 9 to 8, but finishing on the short end of a 22 to 13 count at the half. The Businessmen held the Bliss attack almost in complete check the second half, meanwhile finding the cords for over three times as many points as their opponents.

Roame, Strayer center, led both teams in scoring. He tossed six field goals and two fouls. Loving, Miller and Sperlman were other integral factors in the Strayer play, while Parkinson and Zirkle were outstanding for the losing quintet.

Boots and Saddles

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Miami Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

SEVEN races are carded today at Miami, which will be continued daily through the meeting instead of six. The Bay Shore Handicap, at a mile and 70 yards, features the program—fifth race.

The Brookmeade Stable RACCOON, making his first start since the close of the Maryland season last fall, in which he ran in the best form of his career, was beaten a length by Starpatic and Colossus in his last Bowie race in November, and that race was good enough to win this. The Greentree Stable's STARS AND BARS, a stake winner at Chicago, is rated next, and SILVERDALE, very fast when in form, should hold the others safe. His last racing was in Maryland.

FIRST RACE—WOODGAIN seems best in the first, a dash of 6 furlongs for 3-year-olds and up. He has been in the money in recent starts at New Orleans, and in his last race there was barely nosed out by Broker. DECORATION DAY has been showing good form in Florida, having won at St. Johns Park recently. WOODGAIN is a front runner, suggesting that he would have a better chance in a sprint race, for he was leading Broker more than a length at the 6 furlongs in the race referred to. HAZEL GUMBERTS should hold the others safe.

SECOND RACE—The second race marks the first running at this track of 2-year-olds this season. A dozen have been listed to start, and most of them are of excellent breeding. SUNTICA, a bay filly, by Sun Briar—Simpatica, has been working well, and word comes from Miami that she is very speedy. She is picked to win with the Belair Stud's CHOLLA, by Chatterton — Exterminate, the contender. She also has worked well. CHILDONA, by Chilhowie—Yvonda, should figure in the race.

THIRD RACE—The third, at a mile, has the possibility of a close race with PLAYFELLOW DREAM having a shade the best of it on her past performances. RAHWAY is rounding to form, as was shown by his last race at New Orleans, finishing third to Elizabeth Sullivan. SCARLET BRIGADE, a St. Johns winner, should hold the show money.

FIFTH RACE—The Miami Horse Purse at six furlongs, looks like a good spot for G. D. Widener's SCATTER which on New York form is the best of the field of four. SCATTER beat Boline and Little Nap under a pull at Jamaica by three lengths. GUN ROYAL will be the favorite and looks dangerous, but he has not shown to advantage. SKIBO and CROSSBONES are the other starters, and it would not be surprising to see any one of the four come home in front, for SKIBO is the only one that has won recently.

SIXTH RACE—DEA looks best in the sixth race at a mile and 70 yards. DEA was beaten a half length in the sixth race on opening day by Directly and June Moon at this distance after being badly blocked at the furlong pole by Rose Volt. Clear of the interference, he finished fastest of all. RELIC was favorite in the same race, but finished last, and may wake up in this to become a dangerous contender. Both were St. Johns winners. BY AN INCH should be no worse than third.

SEVENTH RACE—UPSET LAD will have FAIR ALBERT to beat in the seventh race. Both are recent winners. The result will be likely to hinge on track conditions, UPSET LAD being best on a heavy track, and the conditions now seem to be doubtful. FAIR ALBERT is more consistent than his adversary. HERB ASHBY has a chance also, and on Christmas Day beat the fast Sorrento at Jefferson Park.

IMPISH WINS BY NOSE AT $40.20

The victory of Impish was due in a great measure to the powerful ride and finish put up by Carroll. The Greentree Stable's Blue Law was second and Austerlitz third.

The start was poor with Grace Darling breaking sidewise. Austerlitz was rushed to the front, and allowed to rate at a moderate pace. Running Girl was second and Impish third. Around the turn Carroll called on Impish. The colt responded gamely and slipped through on the inside to draw out but in the final sixteenth Blue Law, closed with a rush, and after a gruelling stretch drive Impish was first across the wire by a nose in 1:40 2-5 to return $40.20 for $2.

Dr. Parrish Weakens,
Perkins Winning.

Dr. Parrish was the medium of a heavy plunge at the last moment. He broke on top, led the field to the stretch and appeared a sure winner at the sixteenth pole, but J. Mann, who had the mount, let Perkins run in the stretch and he was up to win going away by half a length in 1:13. The winner paid $9.70.

Jockey Sonny Workman had his first mount of the meeting and scored an easy victory when he piloted Cabellsdale home in the final event. Cabellsdale won by one and a half lengths over Aurica with My Scoop third and paid $6.60.

BONDS VARY LITTLE AS VOLUME DROPS

Utilities Fairly Steady and Trend of Prime Rails Moves Ahead.

SUGAR ISSUES DECLINE

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—The price level in the bond market remained virtually unchanged today. The investment list displayed a strong undertone but advances in some issues were matched by declines in others. The slackening in new offerings at the end of the week proved a stabilizing influence but the prospect of further large issues next week put a damper on bidding. The volume of business declined.

Some wide movements occurred in industrial liens and stock privilege bonds, while investment bonds held within fractional limits. Richfield Oil of California convertible 6s recovered 8¼ points of the 11½ drop yesterday that followed the receivership. Sugar bonds showed some wide gyrations. Sugar Estate Oriente 7s dipped 14 points to 16 on a few sales and Vertientes Sugar 7s declined 2. Warner Sugar 7s advanced 2½. Armour Co. issues were weak. The 5½s sold off 1¾ and the real estate 4½s dipped 2. General Theaters 6s were buoyant and rallied 3 to 66¼, compared with a 1930 low of 50. Pathe 7s climbed 4.

The general trend of prime railroad bonds was toward higher levels, with the principal recessions among such second grade issues as St. Paul 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 4s and Erie 5s. There was a strong demand for Southern Railway general 4s. Atchison adjustment 4s reached a new high at 98¾, advancing 1¾ on the day. Long Island general 4s were a feature, rising 4¼.

Utilities were fairly steady. American Telephone bonds were under accumulation and the debenture 5s and sinking fund debentures both showed good advances. International Telephone debenture 5s rallied a point but other issues in the I. T. & T. group moved lower. New England Telephone 4½s surpassed the 1930 high, touching 108, up 1¾ net.

United States Government issues were again a strong feature of the market. Liberty first 4¼s reached a new high, and Liberty fourth 4¼s touched 104, a price exceeded only by the 1927 figure of 104¾.

German and Italian loans were active features of the foreign group. Italian 7s advanced half a point in a large turnover, and the Public Utility 7s rose 2¾. Rome and Milan municipal issues joined the advance. German 5½s advanced three-eighths but were matched by a similar loss in the Dawes 7s.

BEN FRANKLIN QUINTET HOLDS CONFERENCE LEAD

Southeastern Five Bows By 21-20

Strayer's Takes First Victory as Bliss Loses, 43-19.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN UNIVERSITY retained its lead in the Washington Collegiate Conference basket ball series last night after being extended to the limit by Southeastern University's five, before gaining a 21-to-20 decision at the Y. M. C. A. It was the Bennies' second consecutive victory in the league.

A second conference game last night found Strayer's scoring its first victory, a 43-to-19 defeat of Bliss Electrical College, 43 to 12, at the Silver Spring Armory.

Bennies Trailing By 20 to 19.

The Bennies got the scare of their lives when Southeastern assumed a lead of 20 to 19, with the end of the game two minutes away. But Benjamin Franlin had an ace up its sleeve in the person of Understein, former Central High boy, who found the cords for a sensationally delivered shot just before the game closed down.

Played at the Y. M. C. A., the game attracted a capacity crowd. Southeastern, under dogs before the start of the game by reason of the splendid showing of the Bennies to date, improved their status but little when they trailed, 11 to 4, at the half. Akers and Loose, forwards for Southeastern, went wild in the last half, overhauling the Bennies and going a point ahead before succumbing.

Bliss Quintet Outclassed.

The Bliss Electrical School tossers were unable to cope with the play of Strayer's.

The Electricians flashed their best basket ball in the second quarter, outscoring Strayers in this session, 9 to 8, but finishing on the short end of a 22 to 13 count at the half. The Businessmen held the Bliss attack almost in complete check the second half, meanwhile finding the cords for over three times as many points as their opponents.

Roame, Strayer center, led both teams in scoring. He tossed six field goals and two fouls. Loving, Miller and Sperlman were other integral factors in the Strayer play, while Parkinson and Zirkle were outstanding for the losing quintet.

—Miami Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

SEVEN races are carded today at Miami, which will be continued daily through the meeting instead of six. The Bay Shore Handicap, at a mile and 70 yards, features the program—fifth race.

The Brookmeade Stable RACCOON, making his first start since the close of the Maryland season last fall, in which he ran in the best form of his career, was beaten a length by Starpatic and Colossus in his last Bowie race in November, and that race was good enough to win this. The Greentree Stable's STARS AND BARS, a stake winner at Chicago, is rated next, and SILVERDALE, very fast when in form, should hold the others safe. His last racing was in Maryland.

FIRST RACE — WOODGAIN seems best in the first, a dash of 6 furlongs for 3-year-olds and up. He has been in the money in recent starts at New Orleans, and in his last race there was barely nosed out by Broker. DECORATION DAY has been showing good form in Florida, having won at St. Johns Park recently. WOODGAIN is a front runner, suggesting that he would have a better chance in a sprint race, for he was leading Broker more than a length at the 6 furlongs in the race referred to. HAZEL GUMBERTS should hold the others safe.

SECOND RACE—The second race marks the first running at this track of 2-year-olds this season. A dozen have been listed to start, and most of them are of excellent breeding. SUNTICA, a bay filly, by Sun Briar—Simpatica, has been working well, and word comes from Miami that she is very speedy. She is picked to win with the Belair Stud's CHOLLA, by Chatterton — Exterminate, the contender. She also has worked well. CHILDONA, by Chilhowie—Yvonda, should figure in the race.

THIRD RACE—The third, at a mile, has the possibility of a close race with PLAYFELLOW DREAM having a shade the best of it on her past performances. RAHWAY is rounding to form, as was shown by his last race at New Orleans, finishing third to Elizabeth Sullivan. SCARLET BRIGADE, a St. Johns winner, should hold the show money.

FIFTH RACE—The Miami Horse Purse at six furlongs, looks like a good spot for G. D. Widener's SCATTER which on New York form is the best of the field of four. SCATTER beat Boline and Little Nap under a pull at Jamaica by three lengths. GUN ROYAL will be the favorite and looks dangerous, but he has not shown to advantage. SKIBO and CROSSBONES are the other starters, and it would not be surprising to see any one of the four come home in front, for SKIBO is the only one that has won recently.

SIXTH RACE—DEA looks best in the sixth race at a mile and 70 yards. DEA was beaten a half length in the sixth race on opening day by Directly and June Moon at this distance after being badly blocked at the furlong pole by Rose Volt. Clear of the interference, he finished fastest of all. RELIC was favorite in the same race, but finished last, and may wake up in this to become a dangerous contender. Both were St. Johns winners. BY AN INCH should be no worse than third.

SEVENTH RACE—UPSET LAD will have FAIR ALBERT to beat in the seventh race. Both are recent winners. The result will be likely to hinge on track conditions, UPSET LAD being best on a heavy track, and the conditions now seem to be doubtful. FAIR ALBERT is more consistent than his adversary. HERB ASHBY has a chance also, and on Christmas Day beat the fast Sorrento at Jefferson Park.

IMPISH WINS BY NOSE AT $40.20

The victory of Impish was due in a great measure to the powerful ride and finish put up by Carroll. The Greentree Stable's Blue Law was second and Austerlitz third.

The start was poor with Grace Darling breaking sidewise. Austerlitz was rushed to the front, and allowed to rate at a moderate pace. Running Girl was second and Impish third. Around the turn Carroll called on Impish. The colt responded gamely and slipped through on the inside to draw out but in the final sixteenth Blue Law, closed with a rush, and after a gruelling stretch drive Impish was first across the wire by a nose in 1:40 2-5 to return $40.20 for $2.

Dr. Parrish Weakens, Perkins Winning.

Dr. Parrish was the medium of a heavy plunge at the last moment. He broke on top, led the field to the stretch and appeared a sure winner at the sixteenth pole, but J. Mann, who had the mount, let Perkins run in the stretch and he was up to win going away by half a length in 1:13. The winner paid $9.70.

Jockey Sonny Workman had his first mount of the meeting and scored an easy victory when he piloted Cabellsdale home in the final event. Cabellsdale won by one and a half lengths over Aurica with My Scoop third and paid $6.60.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE 16,000 minute dishes carved by Oswaldus Norhingerus were carried to Rome by Johannes Shad, of Mitelbrach, who showed them to Pope Paul V. The Pope was so impressed that he donned a suitable pair of spectacles and counted the whole number. Although perfect and complete in every part, the tiny dishes were almost invisible to the eye.

SUGAR ISSUES DECLINE

New York, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—The price level in the bond market remained virtually unchanged today. The investment list displayed a strong undertone but advances in some issues were matched by declines in others. The slackening in new offerings at the end of the week proved a stabilizing influence but the prospect of further large issues next week put a damper on bidding. The volume of business declined.

Some wide movements occurred in industrial liens and stock privilege bonds, while investment bonds held within fractional limits. Richfield Oil of California convertible 6s recovered 8¼ points of the 11½ drop yesterday that followed the receivership. Sugar bonds showed some wide gyrations. Sugar Estate Oriente 7s dipped 14 points to 16 on a few sales and Vertientes Sugar 7s declined 2. Warner Sugar 7s advanced 2½. Armour Co. issues were weak. The 5½s sold off 1¾ and the real estate 4½s dipped 2. General Theaters 6s were buoyant and rallied 3 to 66¼, compared with a 1930 low of 50. Pathe 7s climbed 4.

The general trend of prime railroad bonds was toward higher levels, with the principal recessions among such second grade issues as St. Paul 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 4s and Erie 5s. There was a strong demand for Southern Railway general 4s. Atchison adjustment 4s reached a new high at 96¾, advancing 1¾ on the day. Long Island general 4s were a feature, rising 4½.

Utilities were fairly steady. American Telephone bonds were under accumulation and the debenture 5s and sinking fund debentures both showed good advances. International Telephone debenture 5s rallied a point but other issues in the I. T. & T. group moved lower. New England Telephone 4½s surpassed the 1930 high, touching 108, up 1¾ net.

United States Government issues were again a strong feature of the market. Liberty first 4¼s reached a new high, and Liberty fourth 4¼s touched 104, a price exceeded only by the 1927 figure of 104¾.

German and Italian loans were active features of the foreign group. Italian 7s advanced half a point in a large turnover, and the Public Utility 7s rose 2⅞. Rome and Milan municipal issues joined the advance. German 5½s advanced three-eighths but were matched by a similar loss in the Dawes 7s.

STOCKS ON CLOSING REGISTER ADVANCES

MANY GAINS OF 1 TO 2

New York, Jan. 16 (A. P.)—Backtracking by professional bears who found themselves unable to dislodge any volume of selling orders gave stock prices a firmer tone today.

Net gains of 1 to 2 points in industrial and utility leaders were exceeded by a few thinly traded specialties, while the rails moved up slowly. Trading contracted to 1,321,240 shares, not much larger than Wednesday's turnover.

Such active trading units as U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone and General Electric sagged to new lows for the movement during the first hour, which was the market's softest period. When offerings became scant the shorts, satisfied with available profits, covered quietly and the market closed at the best prices of the day.

Western Union Gains 3.

The stocks mentioned above, together with Du Pont, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Eastman Kodak, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific, Paramount, General Theaters, North American, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Electric Power & Light, Case and Foster Wheeler were up 1 to 2½ at the close. Worthington Pump, Western Union and Auburn Auto gained 3 net and Allied Chemical 2¾.

Weakness of Bethlehem Steel was the individual feature. Reports that the preferred dividend had been earned with little to spare in the last quarter of 1930 made the stock vulnerable and it dropped 2 points to 47¾, later reducing its loss by half. Sears Roebuck also had to absorb considerable selling, said to have been based on reports of further retail price reductions, which were later denied. California Packing lost more than 2.

Coppers were strengthened by nominal increases in quotations on metal for March and April delivery. It was explained that the upward revisions were made in order to give the custom smelters an opportunity to dispose of their current receipts by selling the nearer months. Present business is mostly with foreign consumers.

Reviews Cite Optimism.

The Weekly Review of Trade and Industry said sentiment continued to mend, especially in the steel and automobile lines. Bradstreet's noted increasing firmness in coal, textiles, leather, dry goods and jewelry, among other lines. The rise in employment, Dun's pointed out, was constructive.

The Farm Board was reported to have disposed of some wheat, but there were also offerings from other sources and July sold as much as 4 cents a bushel under the Thursday high while the old May delivery went to within a cent of the pegged price. Fractional rallies from the day's minimums resulted in net losses of 1 to 1¾. Larger receipts and good weather prompted moderate reactions in corn which closed ¼ to ⅝ lower. Cotton was up 2 to 7 points here.

British and French exchanges rates moved in opposite directions, to the slight advantage of the former. Business in all currencies, however, was unusually dull. Bar silver's decline to the recent low unsettled the Far Eastern moderately.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 16 (A.P.).—Wheat underwent a maximum setback of 4½ cents a bushel today, compared with yesterday's best level. Selling ascribed to Farm Board allies accompanied the break, which was also influenced by a fresh decline in Liverpool quotations bringing Liverpool market down to near its recent low record unparalleled in 350 years. Enlarged shipments from Southern Hemisphere countries and rains over many parts of India were additional bearish factors.

Wheat closed unsettled ¾ to 1¾ cents down, corn ¼ to ⅝ off, oats at ⅛ decline to ¼ advance, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents up.

Indications that Argentina and Australia were capturing the lion's share of export business in wheat as export sales from the United States was at an absolute standstill was much commented upon. Besides, the United States wheat visible supply has been increased instead of decreasing as usual at this time of year. Primary receipts were 1,006,000 bushels, an amount greater than last week and more than double what was a year ago. Stop-loss selling from general sources preceded the fall of wheat to the day's bottom figures, 65¾ cents for the July delivery representing a new 1931 crop. The selling orders that first tumbled wheat meadown, however, were apparently placed to anticipate expected active buying. Instead, demand proved passive and the market collapsed. It was asserted that big traders who recently were short of wheat had evened up their accounts, and had left the market devoid of buying support. Moderate rallies toward the last were marked mostly to profit taking and to export sales of 1,000,000 bushels from Canada.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat. Corn was also affected by word that corn in Argentina had dropped to below 30 cents a bushel.

PLEAS PRESENTED FOR EXTRA FUNDS IN BUDGET OF CITY

Various Citizens Heard as Hearings on Appropriation Bill Near End.

TAKOMA PARK WANTS MORE SCHOOL MONEY

Same Appeals Are Made for Other Communities; Also for Tuberculosis.

Hearings on the annual District appropriation bill are expected to be concluded today with various items and subjects to be considered in a final clearing up.

Representatives of various civic and other organizations devoted to the advocacy of some special thing were heard yesterday.

Those heard included Julius I. Peyser, on behalf of appropriations for community center work; Mrs. Cora Grant, Dr. F. C. Smith, assistant surgeon general of the Public Health Service, and Walter S. Pratt, who urged increased appropriations for the fight against tuberculosis among children.

For Tuberculosis School.

They urged increased appropriations for development of the tuberculosis school for District children to be built 15 miles out in Maryland on the Defense highway, as well as more money for the Tuberculosis Hospital in the District.

Ernest H. Pullman, of the Manor Park Citizens Association, urged the committee to provide funds for the Whittier School, building of a Northern High School, additional moneys for the Paul Junior High School, for the Takoma Park-Manor Park recreational center and for various street improvements in his territory.

Seek Money for Other Schools.

Mrs. Effie M. Rittue wanted more money for the Francis Scott Key School and S. E. Blassingham spoke for the Takoma Park Citizens Association in requesting more money for schools in that section.

Like appeals were made by Mrs. L. W. Patch and others for the Tenley-Janney School, and Mrs. J. Rose for the Kalmia School; Mrs. M. Rowe for the Civic Dental Clinic, Mrs. O. G. Hankins, of the Woodridge Parent-Teacher Association, and Thomas J. Llewellyn for the schools of Woodridge.

$50,000 Damage Suit In Alleged Crash Fails

James R. Garner, driver of a delivery wagon for the Merchant's Transfer & Storage Co., yesterday lost his suit for $50,000 damages, which he sought from the Black & White Taxicab Co. before Justice Frederick L. Siddons in District Supreme Court.

Garner, through Attorney T. Morris Wampler, claimed that he was seriously injured on December 25, 1927, at Fifteenth and K streets northwest when his automobile was in collision with a taxicab belonging to the defendant. Attorney Wampler announced he would seek a new trial. Attorneys Whiteford, Marshall & Hart and Michael F. Mangan appeared for the cab company.

Corespondent Named In Action for Divorce

Naming a corespondent, Mrs. Eileen L. Keyworth, of Tenth street southwest near C street, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce from Howard Q. Keyworth, of Girard street northwest near Fourteenth street.

Through Attorneys Hawken & Havell, Mrs. Keyworth states they were married August 12, 1912, and lived together until January 27, 1928, when, she says, she was forced to leave her husband because of his misconduct with the corespondent. The wife states she has a suit for limited divorce, filed January 30, 1928, still pending in the court.

Annulment Decree Granted by Court

Woman Who Fainted After Testifying Gets Interlocutory Award.

Mrs. Eva Zambuni Savas, of Park road northwest, near Fifteenth street, who fainted Monday in District Supreme Court just as she left the witness stand, was awarded an interlocutory decree of annulment from Theodore Savas, of Whitestone, Long Island, N. Y., yesterday, by Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat.

Mrs. Savas in her testimony recounted cruel treatment to which she said she was subjected by her husband. She said she was forced to leave him a week after their marriage on July 9, 1928.

Savas, although he had filed an answer to his wife's petition, did not appear to contest her testimony. Mrs. Savas was represented by Attorney Arthur N. Presmont.

Two Homes and Office Ransacked by Prowler

Two homes and a doctor's office, all on Logan Circle, were broken into yesterday and ransacked, but nothing was stolen. The same sneak thief was blamed for all three intrusions and, according to police, also may have been the one who took $16 in clothing from the home nearby of Roy Crawford, on N street near the circle.

The other depredations occurred at the office of Dr. A. B. Penn, home of Sam Turner and home of Mrs. Ada Byrne.

BAIL DENIED BROKER CONVICTED BY JURY

CASE INVOLVES $975.44

Frederick W. Berlin, a real estate broker, was remanded to jail last night by Justice Peyton Gordon in District Supreme Court following conviction on a charge of embezzlement growing out of the sale of a bakery.

Berlin, through his attorney, Mark P. Friedlander, sought to obtain bail but Justice Gordon was adamant, declaring "when this jury convicted him, he was automatically remanded."

Berlin, who claimed to be 69 years old, was convicted specifically of embezzling $975.44 from Herbert H. Schosnig, of Eleventh street near N street northwest, and William Heller. The two men operated a bakery at 218 Ninth street southeast.

The defendant, according to testimony, received $5,150 for the sale of the Heller-Schosnig Bakery, and was supposed to deduct his commission, pay off all outstanding debts and turn the balance over to the partners. There was a balance, after certain creditors had been satisfied and the commission deducted which the man refused to surrender. The partners charged that Berlin had converted the sum to his own use.

Pitts Sets Up Plea Of Civil Immunity

Asks Quashing of Service in Suit; Claims Florida as Residence.

Declaring he is immune from service of subpenas as long as he remains in the District of Columbia or in the District Jail, G. Bryan Pitts, former chairman of the board of the F. H. Smith Co., recently convicted on charges of conspiracy to embezzle funds of the company, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to quash service made on him in a civil suit.

Pitts tells the court that he is a resident of Palm Beach, Fla., and that he is temporarily residing in the District, because he is in jail.

He points out that service of the suit was made on him in the jail and that the service was illegal. Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert, R. H. Yeatman and Dozier A. DeVane appear for Pitts.

Woman Sues Husband; Says He Married Again

Seeking an absolute divorce, Mrs. Ella M. Collins, of B street southwest near Sixth street, yesterday told the District Supreme Court in her suit that her husband, Ramon E. Collins, deserted her and is living with another woman with whom he has gone through a marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Collins, in her suit, said she married Collins on April 3, 1929, and that he deserted her February 22, 1930. He married Naomi M. Gooch on January 6 last, in Alexandria, she charges. Collins and his new wife are now residing on New York avenue northwest near Ninth street, according to the wife. Attorneys Charles E. Morganston and Ethelbert B. Frey appear for the petitioner.

Motorist Is Arrested In Crash With Taxicab

A motorist was arrested after a collision last night at Eighth and D streets southeast, between the auto he was driving and a taxicab. Cut and bruised when the cab overturned, its driver was treated at Providence Hospital and then sent home.

William A. Shaw, 37 years old, of Stafford Courthouse, Va., was taken to the Fifth Precinct Station and charged with reckless driving. The hackman who required hospital treatment is Raymond Jackson, 27, of P street near Seventeenth street northwest.

Man Dies on Way to Hospital.

Suddenly taken ill, Bill Ktenas, 37 years old, was taken to Emergency Hospital from his home, Pennsylvania avenue northwest near Twenty-third street, and was dead when he reached the hospital. Coroner Nevitt issued a certificate of death from natural causes.

REALTY MAN ASKS $50,000 DAMAGES ON FRAUD CHARGE

TWO SUITS ARE FILED OVER $450,000 DEAL

Taylor - Korman Concern, Texas Company and Individuals Are Named.

Claiming he had been defrauded out of his full commission in the sale of the Taylor-Korman Co.'s filling station properties, R. Owen Edmonston, jr., a real estate broker of 1024 Vermont avenue northwest, yesterday filed two suits, in which he seeks to collect a total of $50,000 damages.

In each suit he seeks damages of $25,000. In one he names the Taylor-Korman Co., Inc., and the Texas Co. as defendants. In the other he names Harry G. Taylor, John A. Korman and M. K. Robertson as principals. Robertson is alleged to have been employed by the Texas Co.

Edmonston claims he negotiated the sale of the Taylor-Korman properties to the Texas Co., and asserts that there was a conspiracy to defraud him out of his commission, which was 5 per cent on the first $5,000 and 3 per cent on all additional sums. He claims that the Taylor-Korman interest were sold for $450,000 and that his commission should have been more than $13,000. Instead, he says, he was told that unless he received a reduced commission the sale would not be consummated. This representation, he states, was made even after the properties were sold.

Bond of $5,000 Fixed In Smoke Screen Case

Joseph Parham, Negro, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a charge of transporting liquor and possessing a smoke screen and was ordered held for grand jury action under $5,000 bond.

Parham is alleged to have escaped from a wrecked automobile Wednesday night at Riggs road and Quinn street northwest. Harry W. Wilson, Negro, was injured in the crash and is now at Emergency Hospital.

New Pulaski Stamps Presented to Envoy

Poland and the United States joined yesterday in paying tribute to Gen. Casimir Pulaski, Polish patriot, who fought for the colonies during the Revolutionary War, when the 2-cent commemorative postage stamp in honor of the hero was issued.

A sheet of 100 of the stamps was presented to Tytus Filipowicz, Poland's Ambassador to the United States, at a ceremony at the Post-office Department. The sheet had been autographed by President Hoover and Postmaster General Brown.

Work on Hybla Valley To Be Revealed Today

Progress toward preparing Hybla Valley for a dirigible port will be revealed at a luncheon meeting of the aviation committee of the Washington Board of Trade Monday at Washington Airport.

The committee will also discuss the Washington Airport situation. It has taken the lead in boosting Hybla Valley for the airship station since Capt. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, first evinced interest in the location. Lawrence Williams, chairman of the committee, will preside.

Conductor's Wife Seeking Divorce

Son Declares His Father Had Struck Sister and Mother.

Horace E. Schwier, of Bladensburg road northeast, a street car conductor, was sued yesterday in District Supreme Court by his wife, Mrs. Ethel E. Schwier, of Fourteenth street northeast near C street, who seeks a limited divorce, custody of two children and adequate alimony.

The suit is featured by an affidavit of Earl LeRoy Schwier, 18 years old, a son, who declares he has seen his father strike his mother and his 13-year-old sister. The Schwiers were married July 6, 1912.

Mrs. Schwier charges her husband with cruelty and asserts that on November 23, 1930, when she and the girl returned home they found the door locked, and they were compelled to find refuge with friends. She also charges that on December 29 last the husband removed all furniture from the house.

HURT IN FALL

Helen Anne Debutts, 8 years old, of 2328 Thirty-third street southeast, received serious injuries when she fell from her bicycle yesterday. Physicians at Casualty Hospital said she had a fractured skull in addition to numerous lacerations. Her father, Samuel Debutts, is an electrical engineer at the Federal-American National Bank.

REVOKING PROBATION DRAWS COURT WRIT

ACTION IS HELD ILLEGAL

Justice Oscar R. Luhring in District Supreme Court yesterday took cognizance of a Police Court case in which probation had been revoked, when he issued a writ of habeas corpus requiring Lieut. Col. William Peake, superintendent of the District Jail, to bring Ida Weitzman into court forthwith and show cause why she should not be released.

As a result Judge Isaac R. Hitt, of Police Court, who committed the woman, and the Police Court's probation officers and other attaches, probably will be forced to give testimony.

Petition Filed by Attorney.

The justice's order was on a petition for habeas corpus filed by Michael J Lane, personally, and as the woman's attorney. The case is said to be the first of the nature ever filed in the District.

Attorney Lane charges that Judge Hitt's action in denying the woman a trial was illegal.

The lawyer points out that his client was arrested on a liquor charge and placed on probation last April 12 for one year. He asserts that she has conformed to all conditions of probation. Thursday, however, the petitioner relates, the woman was again arrested on a similar charge, and when brought before Judge Hitt yesterday morning was denied a hearing. Judge Hitt revoked probation without a hearing, despite Attorney Lane's protest, the petition sets out.

Meant 180 Day Sentence.

Judge Hitt's revocation of probation ordinarily would have meant that Mrs. Weitzman would have to serve the 180-day sentence under which she had been released on probation.

The woman is alleged to have been placed on probation on a charge growing out of alleged possession of hard cider. Police said that in the last raid she had been found to be in possession of 100 gallons of hard cider.

Col. Peake, after receiving service of the writ, personally escorted the woman to the District Supreme Courthouse where, with P. F. O'Connor, bondsmen, as surety, she was released on $1,500 bail. Hearing was not set.

Five Years Given Man In Manslaughter Case

Henry Butler, Negro, was sentenced by Justice Oscar R. Luhring in District Supreme Court yesterday to serve five years in jail on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Theodore Gaither, Negro.

Butler, through his attorneys, James A. O'Shea and John H. Burnett, claimed that he killed the other man in self-defense, and the court permitted him to plead guilty to manslaughter instead of standing trial on an indictment charging first-degree murder. The slaying occurred September 25 last.

Catholic Official to Arrive.

Miss Mazie Scanlan, national director of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America, will arrive in Washington today from Atlantic City to confer with local officers of the C. D. A. at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The meeting will be held at the group's Capital offices, 601 E street northwest.

REPORT TO DISCLOSE W.R.& E.CO. PROFITS FOR LAST SIX YEARS

FIGURES TO BE MADE PUBLIC IN FEW DAYS

Data Prepared at Request of People's Counsel, Who Seeks Rate Cut.

The Public Utilities Commission and Richmond B. Keech, the people's counsel, will release today or the first of next week figures showing the profits of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. during the last six years from the resale of power generated in the Benning plant of the Potomac Electric Co. to other traction companies.

John M. Nicholson, expert accountant in Mr. Keech's office, and B. M. Bachman, chief accountant of the utilities body, have been preparing data for the last ten days following a request for such information by the people's counsel.

This profit is understood to have averaged well over $200,000 for each of the six years, and, although the expenses of the Benning plant are charged to the power company, this gain has been going into the coffers of the parent traction company, it is charged.

Attention was first called to this situation at the public hearing on electric rates on December 30. At that time it was ruled out by the commission as testimony. It is the contention of Mr. Keech that the electricity consumers of the District are being deprived of this money indirectly as it would aid in lowering electric rates if it were credited to the power company.

Larger Pensions Given Policemen, Firemen

Seven firemen and three policemen were granted increases in pensions yesterday by the District Commissioners in conformance with a recent act giving increased pay to active police and firemen.

Those who were awarded the increases are Angele Schneider, H. W. Lee, G. L. Hogan, L. O. Turner, H. Gaskins, J. H. Swann and L. N. Trower, all former firemen, and R. C. Watson, C. H. Willingham and Leslie Ellsworth, policemen.

Inquest Over Long To Be Held Today

Death of Capitol Employe by Plunge Will Be Inquired Into.

An inquest into the death of Samuel J. R. Long, 58-year-old Capitol folding room employe, who was said by police to have either fallen or been thrown down a flight of steps in a house on C street near First street southwest, will be held at 11:30 this morning at the District Morgue.

Five persons, all colored, are being held by police pending the coroner's hearing. They are William Moore, 57, of C street southwest; Fannie Poole, 23, and George Higgons, 32, both of Canal road southwest; John Blackwell, of Weltons court southwest, and Arthur Mitchell, of C street southwest.

Long was picked up on the street at Delaware avenue and Third street southwest about midnight January 4. He died at Gallinger Hospital, where he was taken, and was unidentified for several days, until his sister, Miss Mattie Long, of First street near C street northeast, visited the Morgue in search for her missing brother.

Man Who Attempted Attack on Girl Sought

Washington police last night asked authorities of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania to aid in capturing the man who attempted to attack Catherine Taylor, 13 years old, in her parents' home, Irving street and Thirteenth street northwest, Thursday afternoon.

The girl told police that the man was in the apartment when she returned from school. He tried to strangle her and jumped from a window when she screamed.

Trade Board Committee To Hear Fish Address

Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., chairman of the congressional committee on communistic activities, will address the public order committee of the Washington Board of Trade at luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock Monday at the Raleigh Hotel.

District and Federal officials will be guests at the luncheon, and several matters, pertaining to the Police Department, will be discussed. Odell Smith, chairman of the committee, will preside.

$1,375 in Diamonds Lost.

Mrs. Ulnah Rush Offenbacher, of Military road northwest near Thirty-sixth street, told police yesterday that she lost a purse containing three diamond rings worth $1,375 while walking near the Union Station.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

BUY A COW WEEK.

"A good cow or milk goat is one of the best investments a family can make to insure a satisfactory food supply. Milk contains the greatest assortment of nutrients of any single food materials and is the foundation upon which an adequate diet can be built."—From a bulletin from the United States Department of Agriculture.

* * * *

TOO much emphasis can not be placed on the importance of the cow or milk goat in the American home. Every family should have one cow, and if possible, two. In the matter of milk goats there is really no limit. This season, however, the cow is considered smarter and the most fastidious families are indeed avoiding the milk goat completely.

* * * *

If the architect has not made allowance for a cow or two in the apartment, a spare bathroom or large closet can be used, provided it has a window. All the cow expects, after all, is plenty of sunlight and air. A room on a court is, however, not desirable since there are certain phases of life about which any cow should be kept in ignorance. Still, cows have been known to live on a court with only minor indications of unhappiness.

* * * *

The trouble with a cow kept in a room overlooking a court or areaway is that it will want to go out and play on the fire escape. Its clumsiness imposes a certain strain on the fire escape as well as on the cow.

* * * *

And then, too, the fire department rules have required that fire escapes within the city limits be kept clear of all cattle ever since a recent fire, when firemen working in thick smoke rushed up to the fourth floor to rescue four tenants and inadvertently carried down three milk cows and an eland before realizing their mistake.

* * * *

HOW to get grass to a cow in a tenement affords a serious problem, particularly to dwellers above the third story. No grass will grow that high, although the Bureau of Fibrous Plants of the Department of Agriculture is now experimenting with a type of grass known as No. 2 Haywire, which has been known to attain a height of two floors without visible exhaustion.

* * * *

The better class apartment houses prohibit tenants carrying grass or hay up to a cow in the regular elevators, but this can be done if the stuff is packed in a suit case or laundry bag. It is possible to grow grass in some apartments, but no names will be mentioned as the janitors have promised to clean the halls within the next two weeks.

* * * *

Then there is the matter of exercise for the family cow. It is folly to expect a cow to keep in condition through the exercise it will get indoors. It should be taken for a walk in the park at least three time a day. Water should be kept in a dish under the sink for it at all times. The diet should be carefully watched and no cakes, candies or other sweets given the animal except perhaps on its birthday and Christmas.

* * * *

If you lack the comfort and joy of a little cow in your home, arrange to get one at once. You will not only, as Washington says, have one of the best investments a family can have, but you will never have to worry about Vitamin A. Moo-oo-ooo!

Taxes on All Property Within District Urged

Public Buildings Would Be Included Under Engineer's Plan; "War Council" to End Depression Is Advocated.

Taxation on all property in the District of Columbia, public as well as private, was urged last night by C. E. Grunsky, president of the American Engineering Council, at the annual banquet and meeting of that organization at the Mayflower Hotel.

Pointing to what he said were further inequalities of taxation, Mr. Grunsky called attention to certain tax-exempt securities, tax exemptions of veterans' property and other exemptions. These he termed "indirect bonuses" and urged that if bonuses are to be given they should be paid in cash.

The council adopted a report, prepared by a committee headed by Ralph E. Flanders, of Springfield, Vt., calling for the organization of a general staff, or war board, to prepare for war on misery and depression. This board would be organized to balance, as far as possible, the forces of consumption, production and distribution in order that the Nation's economic life may ultimately be controlled.

In discussing the report, William McClellan, of New York City, described the engineers as "the magnificent creators of unemployment."

Machinery, he declared, for which engineers were primarily responsible, is cutting down the number of men required to do the work of the world, and engineers should apply their minds and energies to solution of the problem they have had a share in creating.

Dr. George Otis Smith, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, pointed out that the engineer is always most careful in his search for facts before putting his beliefs in words. The engineer, he added, is careful always to leave a factor of safety, while political fact-finding provides no such safety factor.

Alluding to investigations, he stated that the Bureau of Sandards has appropriations for 44 investigations this year, while the Bureau of Mines is provided with funds for 28. Investigations, he thus concluded, are in progress elsewhere than in senatorial committee rooms.

Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, pointed out the necessity for executive ability in engineering practice. He denied that engineering training kills executive ability, but said that the latter is an inherent quality often improved by the training of the scientist.

Extension of Road Asked by Citizens

North Woodside Association Favors Completion of Boulevard Plan.

Completion of the Columbia boulevard as originally planned in 1923 was urged in a resolution adopted last night by the North Woodside Citizens Association at a meeting in Grace Episcopal Hall, Woodside, Md.

The association has a petition containing the names of 250 citizens asking for the extension, which would hook up with Sixteenth street at the north portal.

Elimination of signboards in the metropolitan area was urged in another resolution and rate discrimination by the telephone company was deplored in another. The association wants the subscribers in the metropolitan area classed as Washington subscribers and given the same rates.

The association voted to make a further study of the need for a county juvenile court before going on record in favor of such an institution. It was decided that a survey should be made to determine whether or not there is enough juvenile delinquency in the county to warrant such a move. The association voted to hold a dance before Lent.

Benefit Card Party Held.

Daughters of Isabella Circle, No. 178, held a card party last night at 2146 Georgia avenue for the benefit of the convalescent children's bed fund. Miss Elizabeth Dolan was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Hospital Patient Seeking Freedom

John J. Fisher, who is said to have confessed in 1928 to police that he set fire to a grain elevator and a lumber yard, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to release him from St. Elizabeths Hospital and permit him to stand trial on arson charges.

Fisher's alleged act came on January 17, 1928, following the fire at the Woolworth store on Pennsylvania avenue. Fisher first pleaded guilty, but later withdrew the plea and was adjudged insane and committed to St. Elizabeths.

In his petition for habeas corpus, filed personally, he declares he is now sane and asks that the court permit him to face the arson charges.

Debts Total $26,412, Housewife's Plea Says

AID IS GIVEN CHEST AS BUSINESS MEN CHOOSE CHAIRMEN

Bills of Benefit to District Also Indorsed by Merchant Group.

ANNUAL BOOSTER TRIP TO BE MADE IN SPRING

Plan to Install Machinery to Freeze Lincoln Memorial Pool Favored.

Meeting for the first time this year, the board of governors of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association elected new trade section chairmen yesterday afternoon and indorsed several proposed measures designed to benefit the District and the Nation. Mark Lansburgh, president of the association, presided.

Indorsement was given a plan proposed by Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, to install freezing machinery in the Lincoln Memorial Pool so that skating will be possible throughout the winter.

A vote was taken favoring the Dyer bill to promote travel in and to the United States, through the medium of a branch in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce.

Pledge to Aid Chest.

Cooperation was pledged with the Community Chest. Edward D. Shaw, secretary of the association, and Mr. Lansburgh, are unit chairmen of the Chest in the downtown section. Indorsement was given the Zihlman bill, which authorizes the District Commissioners to settle claims up to $500 against the District.

Decision was reached to resume the annual booster trip of the association this year. The trip was omitted last year for the first time in twenty years. The trip this year will probably be set for early June.

Mr. Shaw will represent the association at the convention of the National Association of Retail Secretaries, February 2 to 5, at New York. This convention is held in connection with the National Retail Dry Goods convention. Mr. Shaw will speak on "Automobile Parking as It Affects Retail Business."

Chairmen Elected.

The new section chairmen elected were Mr. Lansburgh, department store section; James E. Colliflower, coal and fuel oil groups; Bert L. Olmstead, restaurant section; Claud Owen, plumbing supplies; John H. Hanna, passenger traffic; Charles H. Frame, express traffic; D. M. Fisher, freight traffic; Ford Young, ice cream manufacturers; Arthur J. Sundlan, jewelry section; Charles German, photolithographers; Thomas R. Fitzgerald, caterers, and Peter M. Dorsch, bakers.

Several more section chairmen are to be chosen. These section chairmen constitute the board of governors. They will meet February 13 to elect new officers.

The board of governors drew up resolutions of regret over the death of James C. Parker. Mr. Parker, who died recently, was the first member of the board of governors to be removed by death. He was vice president of Foster-Reynolds Co.

McCarl Will Rule On Per Diem Pay

Compensation for Holidays Under Executive Order Is at Issue.

Comptroller General McCarl informed the District Commissioners yesterday that he will be prepared within ten days to rule on whether approximately 3,000 per diem employes of the District government are entitled to pay or compensation for the holiday before Christmas, which they were compelled to take by executive order.

Decision to ask the Comptroller General for an opinion was reached just before Christmas, but the letter was delayed until yesterday. As a result the employes were not paid Friday at the regular pay day.

"In view of the fact that per diem employes of the Navy Yard were granted leave of absence with pay, it is believed that the same privilege should extend to per diem employes of the District of Columbia for December 24, 1930," the letter stated, "and for such other days as may be declared holidays by executive order."

Thomas P. Littlepage New Chamber Officer

Thomas P. Littlepage, Washington lawyer, now in California, was notified by telegram yesterday that he has been elected second vice president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of George A. G. Wood to first vice president and the shift of Harry King to president to take the place of Rudolph Joee, resigned.

Mr. Littlepage was elected at a special meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

Features in Tomorrow's Post

American diplomacy, its progress, its cost, and a number of other interesting items in connection with it, are described by David Rankin Barbee in a special article which will surprise a great many readers who thought they were well informed on Governmental activities. How many embassies does the United States maintain? How many legations? How many new embassies are planned? These and other important questions are answered in Mr. Barbee's story.

"Will Raskob foreclose on the Democrats?" Here's a story of politics, decidedly Democratic in nature, which will intrigue the reader, no matter what his party. It will be found in the tabloid magazine.

At 93, William Henry Harrison Smith, a famous publicist of the salty days of the Republic, finds time to poke some fun at death and its signboards in the cemeteries. "Quaint Epitaphs of Famous Persons" is the title of this yarn in the magazine.

Much interest is being shown in Edith Johnson's series of discussions of everyday problems. Miss Johnson will gladly answer your question and keep it confidential. Another of her talks will be found in the magazine.

All the regular features for which Post readers have come to look each week, new ones which will prove just as popular, news and features, both local and foreign, sports of all sorts, excellent pictures in the rotogravure, and a comic section of eight pages to go to make up tomorrow's Washington Post, a paper for every reader.

African Explorer Outlines Mystic Mountains of Moon

Mountains that were on the maps a generation ago, then were regarded as mythical until Stanley reported them in 1889, only to have his reports doubted in Europe until the Duke of Abruzzi climbed them in 1906, are the so-called Mountains of the Moon, in Africa, described to a National Geographic Society audience last evening at the Washington Auditorium by Carveth Wells.

One reason for the elusive quality of the mountains, the speaker explained, is the fact that they are constantly shielded by the clouds that hang about them. Their snow-covered heights are guarded from frequent access by this same veil of constant dampness, by the difficulty of getting a food supply and by the surrounding areas, infested with the tsetse fly.

When Mr. Wells, with two other white men and 50 natives to transport food, climbed the peaks he found on one of them the personal card of the Duke of Abruzzi, distinguished but little known explorer, in a cairn.

Dry House Member Calls Prohibition No Drinking Ban

Prohibition is not a violation of personal liberty, because it controls traffic in liquor only, without reference to drinking, Representative Grant M. Hudson, of Michigan, told the District of Columbia W. C. T. U. yesterday at a business meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel. The meeting was followed by a luncheon.

Mr. Hudson added that prohibition became necessary when public opinion revolted at the "immorality to the Nation" in operating Government with revenues from the liquor traffic. Every other method of restraint, he said, had been tried, and high license had only added to the evil of sharing liquor revenues for public purposes.

"I would like, on this anniversary day of the adoption of the eighteenth amendment," he said, "to call attention to some confusion that has been created in the mind of the American public in the use of certain names by the press of the country. Men are termed 'bone dry,' 'dry,' 'wet,' 'moist,' 'damp.' Some are designated as 'personally dry, but politically wet;' others, 'personally wet, but politically dry.' As far as the eighteenth amendment is concerned, there can be but two terms: One is either dry or he is wet."
